

Credit Valley Authority Owns 1979 Acres in Conservation Plan

NEW MEMBERS
Mr. McMillan welcomed five new members to the Credit Valley Conservation Authority at its recent inaugural meeting. Frank Webb and T. J. Dale from Toronto Township; Edward Black from Caledon Township; Aldo Ferri from Chinguacousy Township; William Weber from Erin Village. After roll call it was noted that there was 101 per cent attendance with both old and new members present from one municipality.

A year-end report stated that with the purchase of an extra 80 acres during the year, the total holdings of the Authority now are 1,979 acres. These are divided as follows: multiple use conservation area, developed, 330 acres, undeveloped, 400 acres; forest and wildlife conservation area, 718 acres; water reservoir site, 531 acres.

FLOOD CONTROL

Work is progressing, or has been completed in Glen Williams, Orangeville, Fletcher's Creek in Brampton and Meadowdale. Floodline mapping has been completed from Lake Ontario to Credit Falls. The information contained on these maps will be of utmost importance in the formulation of fill regulations along the river. The dam at the Orangeville-Money Conservation Area was completed early in December. This will be filled in the spring and the water storage reservoir will contribute to recreation in the Orangeville area.

In cooperation with the Ontario Water Resources Commission, the Authority has carried out a water quality survey along the Credit River. Samples were taken twice monthly in 6 points and chemical analysis reports are sent to the Authority. The channel relocation at Glen Williams to prevent bank erosion by the Glen Williams Cemetery has been completed and the two upstream weirs at Erinville have been repaired. These weirs were damaged last spring during the flood. Repairs to the Huttonville dam are almost completed.

During the spring 450,000 trees were planted on privately owned land in the watershed. Authority staff and machines planted 248,250 of these and the others were planted by owners with a subsidy paid by the CVCA.

WILDLIFE

The ponds at Terra Cotta Conservation Area were stocked with speckled trout during the trout season with the co-operation of the Dept. of Lands and Forests.

During the summer a fish survey was carried out on portions of the river, in co-operation with the Dept. of Zoology of the University of Toronto. The field work was done by Miss D. A. Roberts, a graduate student and an undergraduate assistant. The Authority supplied a vehicle, driver, assistant and a portion of the expenses for the accommodation of the party. When the report of this survey is compiled it should provide interesting information concerning the distribution of fish species and environmental conditions in the river and tributaries.

Some Words of Praise For Works Department

51 Hewson Cres.,
Georgetown
January 31, 1968

Every winter season, especially after a heavy snowfall, you start pushing the family car, shovelling the driveway and complaining, to anyone who will listen, about the snow plow that has just plowed in the entrance to the driveway for the second or third time!

Father can't get in the driveway when he arrives home from work, that is, unless Junior did not tarry on the way home from school and if he did (or there is no Junior at your home) then live the paper, couldn't get his little sister to climb over the snowbank at entrance to driveway. Father is really miffed now, and will be further tested when Junior requests assistance to clear the local skating rink, which the town plow failed to clear because they were too busy going around selecting driveways to fill in.

Neighbour living across the street, who doesn't like you anyway, rubs his hands in glee when the plow on its first pass fills in your driveway, and then blames you for having yours cleared when his is filled in on the return trip of the plow. A resident eleven doors away calls to say she has your garbage pail, do you have hers? as if a fair exchange is to be made or else you can't have it! The man next door put his garbage pail in a safe place, nine feet up in the air on top of the pile of snow at the end of his driveway. He will need a team of huskies to retrieve it at least he will think so. After the collector of an aerial ladder, he deposited it in the vast wastes of Antarctica under the living room window, obscured because you didn't put away your window box (the one full of dead petunias and the geraniums that you were going to slip for next year), also breaking the two remaining Christmas tree lights - one which was burnt out and the other that flickers because you didn't "buy Canadian" - which were missed by those who borrowed all the other bulbs.

To shovel your snow, take in the windowbox and Christmas lights (less bulbs), put out your garbage, and hope for the best. After last week's snowfall Georgetown streets were cleared completely one and a half days before Brampton and three days before Metro, AND the garbage was collected on time brought about by round-the-clock efforts on the part of the

Build Credit Dams Despite Federal Government Turndown

"Just a year ago we were told that we could not expect financial help from the Federal Government on our Flood Control Plan, but with the help of the Ontario Government we have gone ahead anyway," Chairman R. K. McMillan said at the inaugural meeting of the Credit Valley Conservation Authority. "If we can't build six big dams, we'll build 12 small ones on the Credit and its tributaries. We are well on the way at Orangeville, Glen Williams and have a start at Meadowdale; we are in an excellent position financially and can meet any charges without further stress to the municipalities," he continued.

The members of the CVCA approved the budget for '68 and set the municipal levy at 90 cents per capita, the same as it has been for the past four years.

Eric M. White, Mono Township, was elected vice chairman, a position he has held for four years. J. W. Pawley, Brampton, was returned as Chairman of Parks and Recreation Advisory Board; R. R. Parker, Acton, Chairman of Flood Control and Pollution; R. F. Hardy, Hornby, Chairman of Historical Records; A. M. Greenaway, Port Credit, Chairman of Public Relations; Jack Bailey, Streetsville, Chairman of Recreation, Land Use and Wildlife; Vice chairmen of these advisory boards are T. J. Dale, Toronto Township; G. A. Blackwell, Georgetown; Clarence King, East Garafraxa Township; B. C. Smith, Port Credit and Charles Bryan, Amaranth Township, in that order.

W. G. Magill, Erin, member of the Authority since 1960, joined Alex MacLaren of Georgetown as an honorary member. He has been replaced on the Authority by William Weber, a member of Erin Council. "Mr. Magill has worked hard during his years with the CVCA," Chairman McMillan said. "I want him to know his work has been appreciated and he will always be welcome here."

LET'S PLAY BRIDGE

BY BILL COATS

When you are in a difficult contract, you must use every means at your disposal to help you get a 701 result in looking over last week's action at the Acton Bridge Club, I came across this hand which was played by my mother, Mrs. Katherine Coats.

Dealer - East.
East - West vulnerable.

North

H-A-8-4

South

The bidding:
East South West North
1 D 1 H Pass Pass
3 D 3 H Pass Pass
3 S Pass 4 S Pass
Pass 5 H Pass Pass

Dble. All Pass
I was sitting in the East position and felt that my hand just wasn't quite up to a two demand bid. I opened with one diamond and competed up to the three level. My partner found enough in his hand to four spades after I showed spades at the three level.

South being not vulnerable, persisted to five hearts as a sacrifice. This was a good move since either four spades or five diamonds is an easy contract for East-West to make.

West led the diamond seven and played the five when East continued diamonds. When I led the third round of diamonds declarer made the excellent play of discarding the spade jack. This loser on loser play is not used very much. It is often useful in this type of situation. South must lose a spade sooner or later, so why not now?

East now tried to cash a spade, but he was too late. South ruffed and extracted trump. Now declarer paused to think about East's hand. East had shown six diamonds and four spades in the bidding. He had one heart when declarer took out trump. So at the most, East had two clubs. Surely from the bidding, one of these must be the king.

Declarer led a club to the ace and ruffed a spade to get back to her hand. Now a low club was led and when West played low, declarer ducked.

Thus South lost only three diamonds and one club for an excellent result. Down two doubled and not vulnerable is 300. Letting the opponents make four spades vulnerable would have cost 620 points.

Monday's results: Game called off because of the stormy weather.

BRIDGE CLUB

Snow and cold weather can hamper some activities but not where bridge is concerned.

Despite heavy snow and a zero evening, there was a normal quota of eight tables of players at the Legion auditorium last Tuesday, for the weekly meeting of Georgetown duplicate bridge club.

Again two sets of winners were chosen with Campbell Sinclair and George Soltz best for North-South and brothers Jim and Doug Sargent for East-West.

Others in the win column, North-South, 2nd Lloyd Keir and Dick Frust; 3rd, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Biehn; 4th, Mrs. Floria Nodwell and Mrs. Wellington Wilson. East-West, 2nd Del Wallace and Bob Heimington; 3rd, Ernie Dawson and Wayne Wolfe; 4th, Olive Logan and Mrs. Joe Gibbons.

Take Second Place In Woodstock Bridge

A team of Georgetown bridge players came within half a point of first place in a regional duplicate tournament at Woodstock on Sunday.

Competing with players from a wide area, including Buffalo, Toronto and Hamilton, the foursome made an excellent showing. Wellington (Duke) Wilson was paired with Bob Ramington, Acton and Mike Lorusso with Lou Bertasson, Milton, in the competition.

The Expo symbol was designed by Julien Hebert, a Montreal graphic artist.
