

Owners, Council Blast Bank For Upping Mortgage Payments

Action by the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, in raising the mortgage payments to cover earlier payments of taxes, not only raised the payments for homeowners but raised their ire. In turn, telephones of all members of the council started ringing. The matter came up for discussion at Monday's council meeting.

"I imagine the rest of you got as many calls as I did," began Coun. W. Smith, "the thing that riled the people was they knew the taxes had not gone up." He explained that by the town's moving up the tax billing date from May to March this year, the Bank of Commerce had only ten months advance taxes instead of twelve.

Coun. Smith then read the notice he had received from the bank as follows:

"Your local tax office issued their tax bills this year payable on or before the 28th day March

Dads Prove Superior Take Lads in Hockey

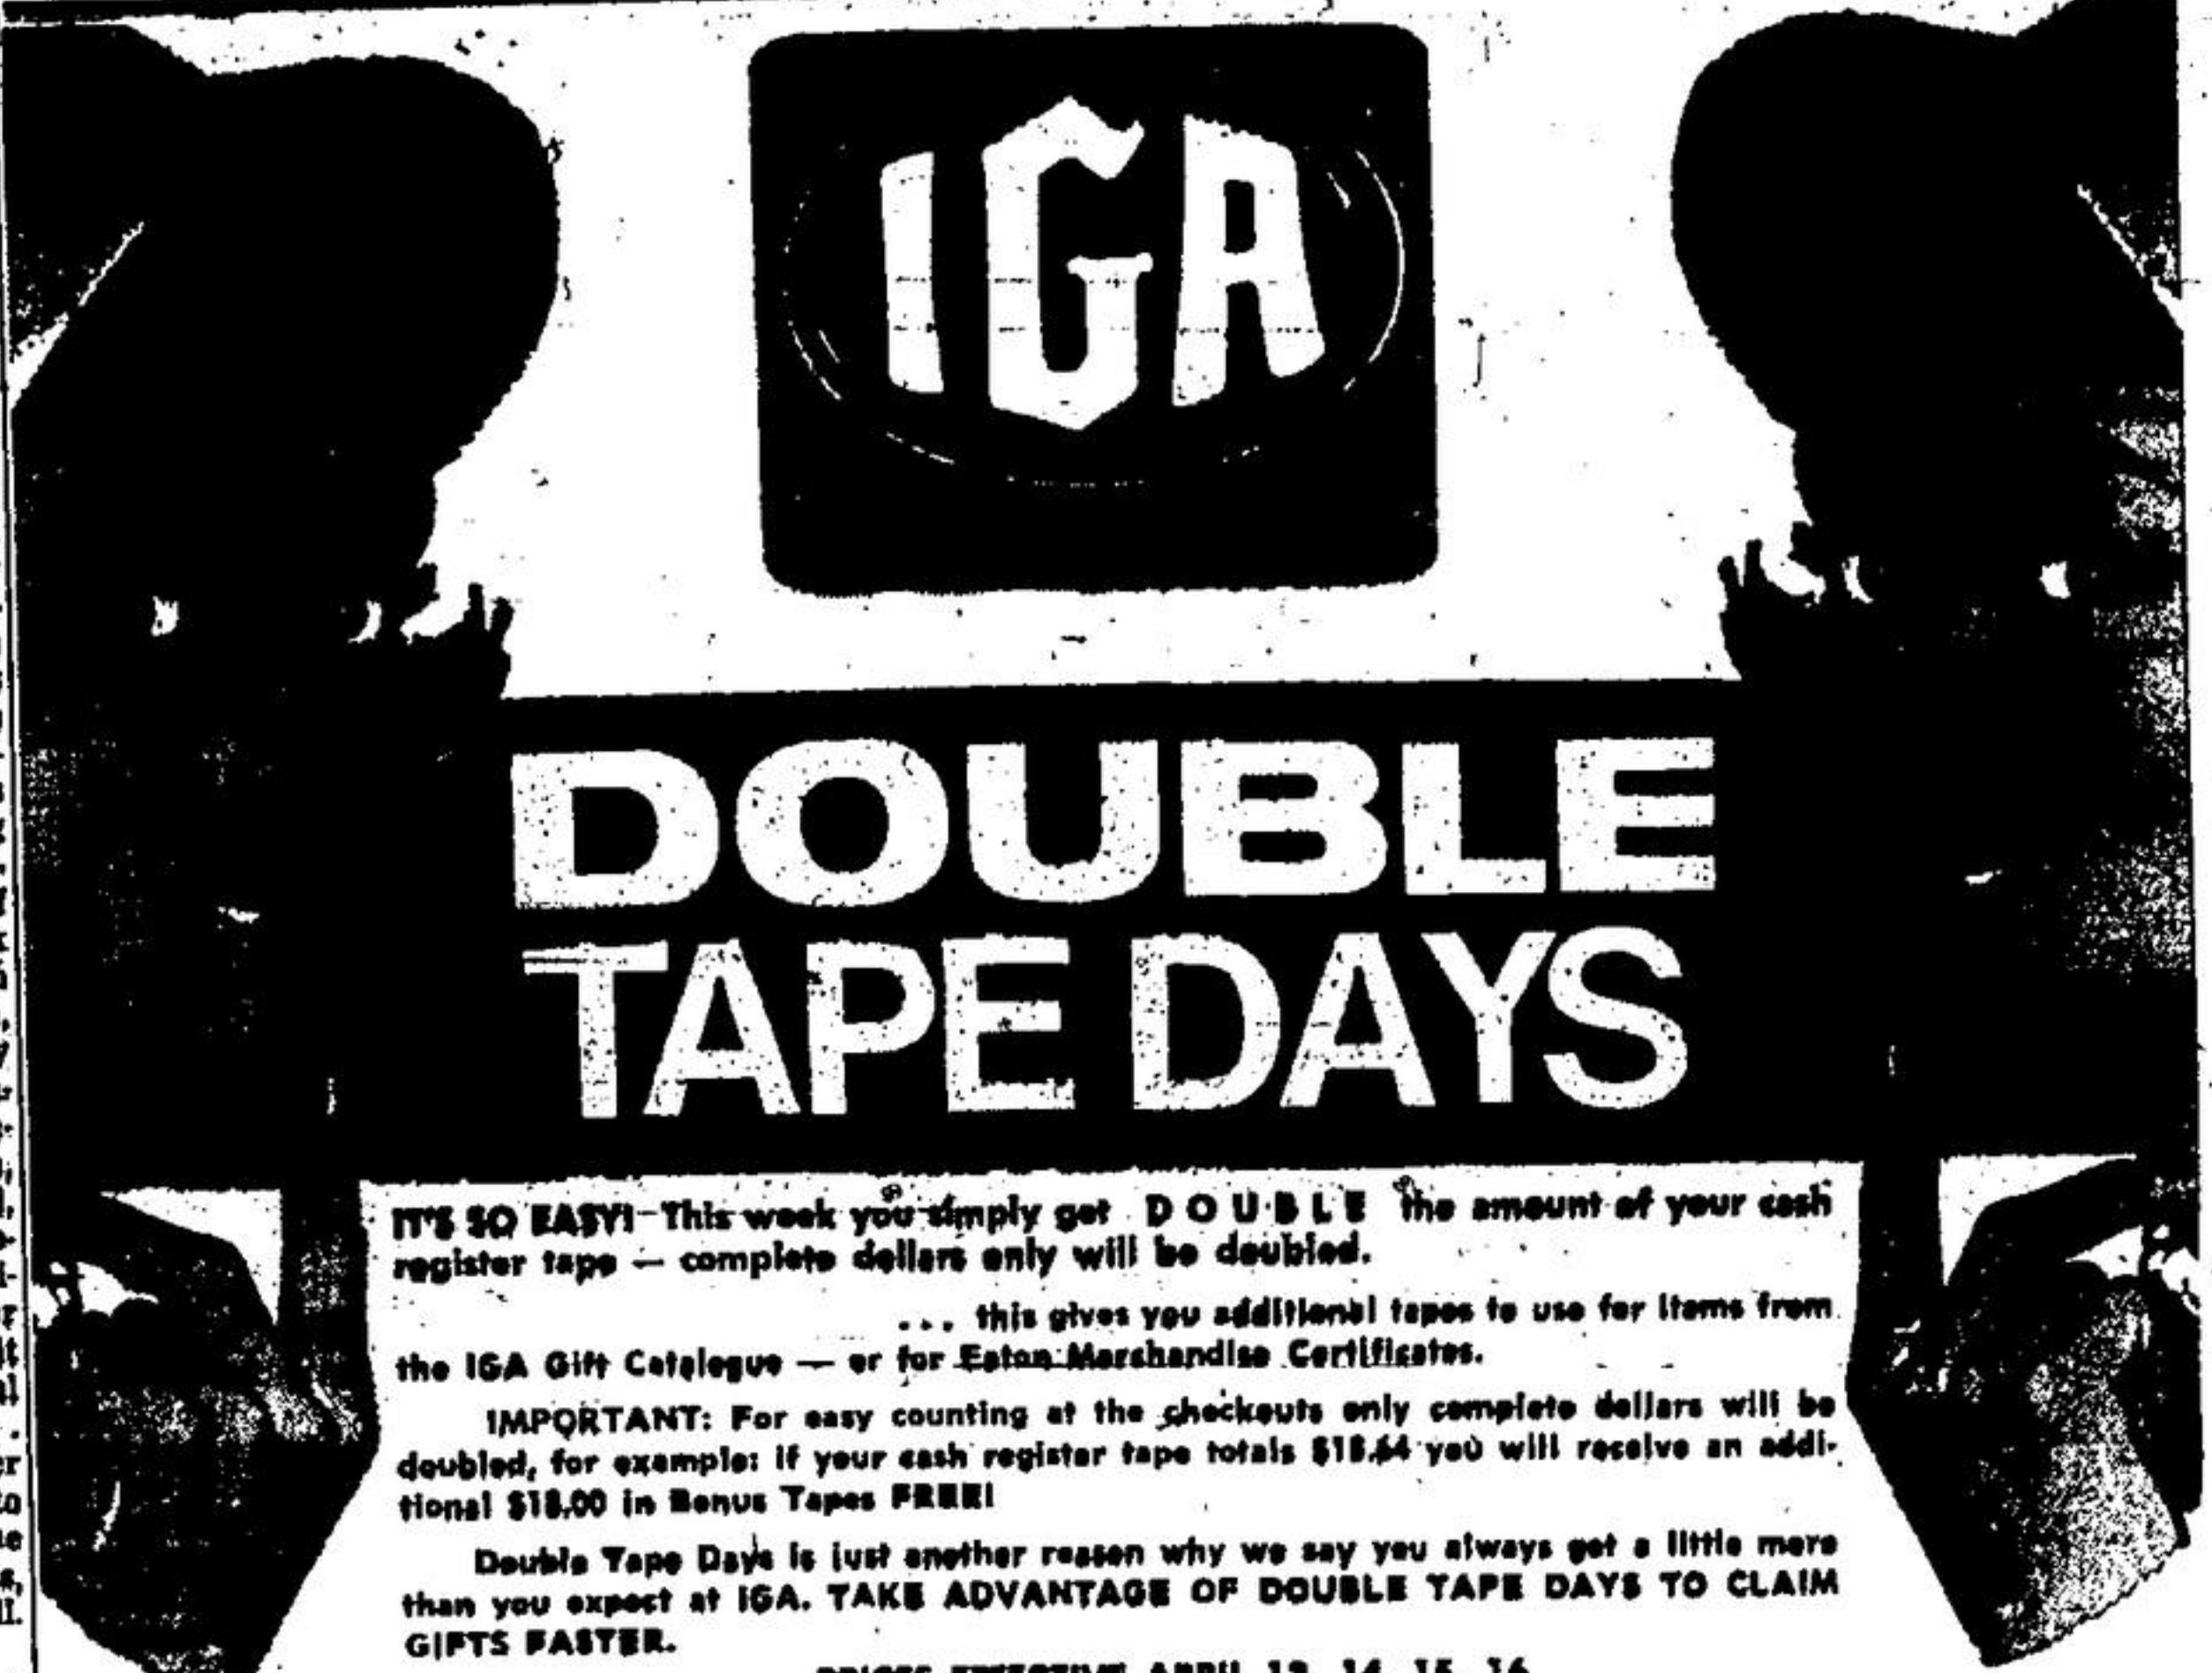

On Wednesday evening of last week the Aston arena was the scene of a hockey game which was far away from Stanley Cup category of hockey but provided a lot of fun for both players and spectators. Some of the former Ballinafad team of a few years ago got together to challenge the present generation of hockey "hopefuls" to a game. Dupean McDougall was the coach of the youngsters and Lloyd Marshall for the oldersters. The line-ups were as follows: Don Brown, Reg French, Gord Fricker, Dave McEnery, Eddie Melody, Cliff Neilson, Don McArthur, Dick Shortill, Floyd Shortill, Sam Snow and the second team, George Bates, Bill Black, Garry Brown, Allan and Murray Jamieson, Clare Snow, Brian Sinclair, Bill Smith, Ross McLean, Danny Shortill, Margie Shortill, Brian Wood, David Swindlehurst and Jim Sanderson. Neither team had been together for too many practices but it was a lot of fun and the final score was... well, anyway... the 'Dads' won — 7-2. Better luck next time, boys. Prior to the game the Scouts had the rink for an hour of ice sports, including a game of broomball.

The Ballinafad Charming Chicks met at the home of Pam and Nancy Snow on March 26. They discussed different party ideas, formal and informal invitations and proper introductions. Mrs. Jamieson showed different types of table centres. The group also held a meeting on April 2nd at the home of Cathy French. They discussed party refreshments and menus. Cup cakes were made and they were shown how to decorate them.

Mrs. James Tarwell of Ferguson visited over Easter week-end with her father Mr. Tom Mack and Mr. Ern Rogers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bates Sr. of London visited on Easter Sunday with the family at the manse.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith and family who are spending the Easter holiday week with relatives in the Orangeville district, visited with former friends in the community and attended service of worship on Sunday morning. Mr. Smith dropped in at the close of Sunday School where he was the superintendent before moving to the Sudbury district just before Christmas.

Transport Upsets, Dump Eighteen Tons Of Paper

Eighteen tons of paper was dumped when a transport upset at the corner of the 7th Line of Eggington and No. 7 Hwy. Monday night (McCullough's corner.)

The paper, raw stock from the Domtar Mill at St. Catharines was bound for processing at the Georgetown Domtar Mill.

The driver, Ronald Herbert Durre of Virgil, Ontario, was treated in Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital for minor injuries.

An estimated $6,000 damage was done to the vehicle owned by Gibson Carriage of St. Catharines. Damage was also done to trees and lawn, the property of Elmer Fendley, R. R. 1, Georgetown.

Georgetown firefighters stood by in case the scattered stock ignited. The truck's battery caught fire and was extinguished by police before firemen arrived.

The driver was unfamiliar with the run from St. Catharines and was coming to Georgetown via Acton instead of the normal route.

The paper was returned to the St. Catharines mill for salvage.

Three Injured as Car Plunges Embankment

Three Georgetown men were treated for cuts and scrapes, Thursday night after the car they were riding in plunged off the bank of a steep embankment near the old Georgetown dynamo into a tangle of trees.

Police said the 1930 Pontiac driven by Donatien Doiron, 80 Raylawn Cres., was travelling north on Sinclair. Seventy-two feet of skid marks crossed Armstrong Ave. and ended at the brink of the sixty foot bluff. Trees cradled the car 25 feet from the top.

Doiron was treated for a lacerated forehead, scrapes and bruises to his body; Jacques Lebreton, 80 Raylawn Cres., for lacerations and concussion; Andre Larocque, 118 Raylawn Cres. for injuries to his back and right leg.

An estimated $1,000 damage was done to the car.

The accident happened at 8 p.m.

Highway Chase, Fine Brampton Youth $125

People in County Court Thursday heard how a Georgetown police cruiser was almost forced off the road in a 70 m.p.h. chase on Guelph St. February 24.

Georgetown Constable Harry Liberty said during the chase the other car involved was crossing the centre line back and forth in front of him. He said "at one point he was driving east on the westbound lane."

As a result a Brampton youth was accused of driving while impaired. He pleaded not guilty.

Constable Liberty told the court that the accused had almost forced the cruiser off the road.

He said later the accused staggered as he walked and his breath smelled strongly of alcohol. "He said to me he had too much to drink," he added.

Georgetown Deputy Police Chief Robert Wilson said while in the police office the accused repeated he had too much to drink.

The accused told the court that his car was incapable of reaching 70 m.p.h. He admitted he had said he had too much to drink and added, "but I don't feel that my ability was impaired."

Magistrate James Black fined him $125 or 30 days.

Driving Charges Bring Fines for 3 in Court

A Glen Williams man was fined $50 plus $18 costs, or twelve days in jail after he pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge in court last week.

He was charged with careless driving after an accident in Georgetown December 30.

He agreed that his car hit a stop sign, a checkerboard road sign and a hydro pole before coming to rest.

Defense counsel Douglas Lattimer said the accused fell asleep at the wheel of his car as he was going into a sharp corner. It was his first motoring offense.

At the same court, two youths charged with racing their cars on a Georgetown street March 12, were each fined $50 with $3 costs or ten days in jail.

Magistrate James Black told the youths, "you are not going to do it on the highway — that's why we have a lot of people in the courts."

Both youths, one from Georgetown and one from Downsview, both pleaded not guilty.

Response Was Generous To Unitarian Appeal

From a brief four paragraph story in The Herald telling of Mrs. Bruce Harding's allowing her home to be used as a depot for used clothing for the Unitarian Service Committee, a front porch and a basement full of clothing resulted.

Evidently readers have been touched by the plight of the starving and freezing children all over the world, and have dug into the back of their closets, even to the extent of a fur coat.

Thursday, April 21st, Mrs. Carl Kaufman, chairman of the Kitchener - Waterloo Unitarian Service Committee, will explain the work of the Committee, and show films of conditions in countries all over the world, where starvation, disease and death prevail, to local guests at Mrs. Harding's home 70 Main St. South.

With the first batch of clothing on its way for distribution, the empty basement awaits more kind donors.

Town Would Exchange Property with Domtar

An old town owned road, Matthews Street, which runs through the Domtar Mill property may be traded for 66 feet of Domtar property on Mountainview Road, if a deal suggested by council is accepted by the mill.

The mill has asked to have the old road officially closed, and decided to them. In exchange the town has requested the 66' on Mountainview, which Reeve W. Hunter stated the town would need if a new bridge was going to be built.

A copy of the motion will be sent to the mill.

1500 Trees Will Be Part Of Halton's Centennial

Halton County council is spending $4,000 on young trees that it will make available to rural farm people at a nominal charge as part of the county's centennial project.

The county's committee on agriculture Thursday agreed to order about 1,500 trees — red maple, sugar maple and ash. The trees will be from six to eight feet high.

"They will cost the county about $3.50 each, but the county will make them available to rural Halton residents for 50 cents apiece.

"If we charge something for them, the people are more inclined to take care of them," stated Reeve William Hunter, chairman of the agricultural committee.

LIMIT TREES

The trees are limited to 25 to a family. Application forms will appear in the county news-papers this week. People will have ten days in which to turn in their requests.

Trees will have to be planted 40 feet apart on the front parts of the properties. The restrictions are placed to prevent people from making hedges out of the trees or planting them in obscure places on farms.

Arsenic and Old Lace Next Theatre Production

The Georgetown Little Theatre's closing production for this season, "Arsenic and Old Lace" begins its three night run April 21st, 22nd, and 23rd, in the High School Auditorium.

The well known murder comedy, which has appeared on stages in most cities of the world, movies and the late show uses most of the acting members of the local theatre group, plus some new faces.

With this production Betty Fisher makes her debut as a director, while the cast features Mary Goebel, Des Nichol, Wright Smith, Ron Hill, Pat Barkhouse, Eric Ming Gord Hunt, Chris Fisher, Ed Burman, Freda Grittani, Jim Rundie, Vera Macdonald, Ron Hunt.

It is hoped that the President of the Western Ontario Drama League, Nora Winter, will be in the audience for the Saturday night performance.

The Georgetown Little Theatre are considering holding a summer school during May and June, consisting of weekly lectures and films, covering all phases of stage work. Anyone interested should contact Ron Hill, at 22 Dalrex Blvd. North.

Purchase Offer For Princess Anne Lot

An offer from W. Barratt to purchase a lot on Princess Anne Drive was turned over to the property Committee by council Monday.

A price of one thousand dollars was offered for the land consisting all of lot 7 and part of lot 6.

"There was quite a lot of discussion of this land last year," said the Mayor, "and council felt a price should be set and land advertised."

Reeve W. Hunter agreed saying it was decided the land should be cleaned up to make the property more desirable, before advertising.

The property Committee will consider the offer.

Carr Resigns Post As Georgetown's Engineer

The resignation of W.H. Carr as town engineer was accepted with regret by Council Monday night. Mr. Carr wished to terminate his employment on the present retainer basis, but explained he would prefer to work for the town on a consulting basis, the same as any other firm of engineers.

In his letter Mr. Carr stated that the issuing of permits, submission of monthly reports to the Department of Highways, and enquiries could be handled by the front office, or by the general foreman. Any special periodic reports he was still willing to handle upon being so authorized by council.

He requested a change of terms of present employment permitting him to do consulting work for other firms, "without any appearance of conflict of interest, which I feel can be inferred under present existing terms on a retainer basis," the letter concluded.
