

REPAIRING SWIMMING POOL LEAK — OPENING SET BACK

JOHN KNIGHT OF THE ARENA STAFF and Pete Carney work on repairing a leak discovered in the Georgetown Community Swimming Pool this week which has set the opening day back a few days. It is the second leak to be discovered in the filtration return line in two weeks. An earlier split was patched up and swimming was enjoyed Saturday and Sunday by about 400, but since then the pool has been closed up to deal with the second problem. The pool deck had to be broken open to make a permanent repair to the line which runs around the outside of the pool returning filtered water to the pool through thirty-six 2" pipes. It's hoped the pool will reopen this Saturday at two o'clock.

Cuboree Takes Over 200 District Boys To Elora Park

by Darlene Barrager
District Cub Master

The annual Georgetown District Cuboree took place on Saturday, June 4th, 1966, in the form of a bus trip to Elora Gorge Park.

Two hundred and twenty-seven boys plus leaders and visitors boarded four buses and set out for the Park.

Upon arrival the mosquitoes started biting and we had to keep moving to come home in one piece. The opening Grand Howl was first on the agenda and the exploration of the park. One of our leaders found out 'it isn't so easy rolling down hill when it is all rock.'

After lunch and a rest we tried to wear the boys out with a few activities.

There were three legged races, sack races, bean and straw relays and of course tug-o-war. Ribbons were given out to the winners.

A few minutes rest and time to clean up the sites and then they walked to the pavilion for a treat. Have you ever seen 227 boys lined up and only two ladies to wait on them? The ladies were exhausted and their supplies near gone when they were finished.

We then had the closing Grand Howl and the boys boarded the buses for home.

It was funny at first when we had people standing that weren't standing coming up. I thought we had picked up a few stray boys along the trail. It was soon sorted out and the buses were on their way.

One bus tried to take a short cut, but found it was under construction and the ride was a little bumpy. They arrived home in good time anyway. Other than a few upset stomachs and many, many bites the trip was without problems.

The packs taking part in the day were: Aeton, Ballinacraig, Hornby, Glen Williams, Norval, 1st Georgetown, 3rd Georgetown, 4th Georgetown A, 5th Georgetown B and 8th Georgetown along with a few boys from 2nd Georgetown. Bus drivers are made of something special. They can stand considerable amount of hooting and hollering as well as very loud, and not always in tune, singing. Their patience to stop the bus for one little boy who is not feeling well, even though it is near supper, and they are in a hurry to get home is part of their job. I am sure all the other leaders involved with the trip will join me in saying it was a job well done.

Will Examine Mystery Chemical Sprayed by UFO

A mystery chemical substance found on a car after its owner saw an unidentified flying object over Georgetown is to be analyzed by chemists.

The latest sighting comes after more than a month's inactivity by the unexplained objects. It happened Friday morning at 12:30 a.m.

The late model car was being driven from Georgetown to Brampton by a Brampton housewife who has asked to remain anonymous.

As she passed through the outskirts of Georgetown on Hwy. 7 she said she saw a bright round object flying in front of her car.

"It was a clear night and the stars were bright, but this was such a dazzling shining silver colour that it made the stars look like pin-points," she said.

"It came from my right and went across to my left. I watched it for about three seconds." There was a long tail behind it of a lighter colour, and it looked so huge," she commented.

"I stopped my car," and another car in front of me — I think a late model; blue sedan — stopped as well."

"The experience frightened me dreadfully. The object didn't have any lights and didn't seem to have any windows in it. I have no idea how far away the thing was."

The woman continued on her way home and left the car outside her home. When she and her husband looked at the car in the sunlight Friday they found the entire front part of the top of the car blemished by tiny hard transparent drops of chemical.

The chemical was set rock-hard in thousands of tiny pin-prick-like bubbles over the fenders, grill and hood. On contact with water it smears and leaves a rough mark on the paint.

Now the car's strange coating is to be analyzed in a Toronto laboratory.

"Both my husband and myself are curious to know what it is," the woman said.

"I wash the car every week and the marks definitely weren't there before Thursday."

Patient Has High Praise For Hospital Personnel

Terra Cotta, Ont.
June 16th, 1966.

Dear Sir:

I have been a patient in your Georgetown & District Memorial Hospital for the past several weeks and have been critically ill during most of that time, which is the reason for this letter.

Before I became a patient, I did not really pay any attention to whether or not the hospital was good, bad or indifferent, but am now in a position to combat any criticism I may hear on the outside at any future date.

First of all, I would like to express my high regard for the Nursing Staff, who have given me the very best possible care and attention, and especially to Mrs. Kennedy, the Head Nurse on my ward, without whose capacity for understanding and encouragement I am very doubtful if I would be nearly as far on the road to recovery as I find myself at present. Words do not really express the many kindnesses and the intangible feeling that the nursing staff as a whole are pulling with you at the times when you feel you are at the lowest point in your illness. There is something about the friendly feeling and the congenial atmosphere here when the supervisors, dietitian, cleaning staff and nurses call you by name and give you almost individual attention, that helps to keep your spirits up, and makes you realize they think of you as a person, and not merely a statistic.

Also I would like to commend the persons responsible for the absolute cleanliness of everything in my room and in any area with which I have come in contact.

I must confess I was surprised to find that the hospital was so clean, modern and well-equipped. I am, at present, on a bland diet, but find the food I am allowed to have is excellently prepared, plentiful, and I do enjoy the wonderful custards that are served.

I am happy to pass on these feelings to the Board and to congratulate them on being responsible for this efficiently run, well-equipped and well-administrated institution.

Sincerely,
—A. Taylor.

WHY YOU MAY HAVE TO PAY MORE FOR DAIRY FOODS

Each year, Canada's dairy farmers get a smaller return for their investment and efforts. Increasing costs of operation, equipment and virtually everything a farm needs, plus a very serious shortage of farm labour, are putting dairy farmers out of business at the rate of about 10,000 each year.

Returns to the dairy farmer have not kept pace with increased costs of farm operation.

From May 1954 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase to the dairy farmer was only 2 cents per quart for standard homo milk.

Consumer prices of dairy foods have not increased as much as most other food products.

From May 1954 to the beginning of 1966, in most Canadian markets, the aggregate increase in home delivered milk (standard homo) was only 5 cents a quart.

Canada's dairy industry is vital to our economic and nutritional health. If dairy foods cost a little more than they used to, they'll still be your best food buy.

Denies Chemical Animal Feed Threat To People

Henry Stanley, Halton agricultural representative, said this week that chemicals fed to animals pose no threat to people.

"We've been eating meat for years and we're still living," Mr. Stanley said. "I'm not very much concerned."

The agricultural representative was commenting on a recent news story which pointed out that the hormone stilbestrol which is fed to cattle for fattening purposes could have some serious effects for humans.

Products Studied

"These products were studied for years before they were put on the market," Mr. Stanley said. "They would not have been released if there was any suspicion that they were harmful."

Also Dr. Harry Harley, MP for Halton, has come out with a statement that there is little danger to Canadians from the hormone.

The use of stilbestrol in poultry feed is prohibited by law and it may only be used in cattle, Dr. Harley pointed out.

In a House of Commons committee meeting on agriculture, MP Percy Noble caimed his valuable mink herd was decimated through the careless inclusion of the stilbestrol in feed which he purchased for his mink.

Banned

Stilbestrol is prohibited in some countries. Portions of stilbestrol-fed Canadian steers are banned from importation into some countries.

The story on the hormone written by Ottawa correspondent Patrick Nicholson asked: "Should Canadians be permitted to eat stilbestrol-fed carcasses?"

Mr. Nicholson suggested that the hormone should be studied more closely to determine the effects it may have on humans.
