

SACRE COEUR PARISH PRIEST

FATHER FRANCOIS GERMAIN STANDS AT the entrance to Sacre Coeur Roman Catholic Church on Guelph St., which became his charge recently. The former Lewis, Quebec, priest conducted the first of the all-French masses in the former Holy Cross Church on June 19th. He is residing in the parish rectory adjoining the church.

Early August 1967 Is Date Set for Visit of Caravan

Georgetown will be visited by a "Confederation Caravan" Thursday, Friday and Saturday August 3, 4 and 5 of next year it was disclosed this week by the National News Bureau.

The Confederation Caravan making the three day stop here is one of eight such units that will bring historical exhibits to about 700 cities, towns and villages across the Dominion during Centennial Year.

The first caravan, with its full complement of eight 73-foot mammoth tractor-trailers, went through five days of rigorous highway maneuvering and on-site positioning in eastern Ontario and Quebec recently.

The trailers were empty and officials and technicians experimented with some of the exterior pieces of equipment—ramps, bridges, stage platforms and triodetic structures.

"Some minor adjustments will have to be made, mainly as a result of maintenance problems we encountered on the trial run," according to Leslie J. Malden, chief of Confederation Train and Confederation Caravans for the Centennial Commission. "But, all in all, the trial run was very successful. We are pleased with the performance of the equipment."

The caravan that was just tested came off the assembly line in April. It has now been taken to Toronto where the exhibits are being installed by the Canadian Display & Exhibit Co. Ltd. It is also being painted with Centennial colors. The other seven caravans are to be delivered between now and February 1, 1967.

In 1967, during Centennial Year, the caravans will tour the country, taking the story of Canada to communities not served by the Confederation Train. The exhibits in both the train and caravans will be authentic material relating to Canada's historical background, its varied cultural and technical achievements. The tour will start May 1 and continue until mid-November.

Each caravan will be self-sufficient with its own power plant (to illuminate the displays, run the air conditioning units, etc.), its own first aid station, manager's office, work shop and storage facilities. In fact, the caravan on site will be like a small fair. In many communities it is expected the visit of the caravan will be the major Centennial event around which the local Centennial planning will develop.

The tractor-trailers are unique in Canada with respect to design and capacity. They're the largest vehicles to travel on North American roads. Each trailer is 50' long, 10 feet broad and 12 1/2 feet high and is hauled by a 23-foot truck. In length alone, this makes each vehicle about twice the length of a city bus and six times the length of a compact car.

Total exhibition area to be covered by a full caravan, when in quadrangle position on a given site, will be about 40,000 sq. feet. This will permit the public to pass through the exhibit trailers in sequence. The centre quad will contain regional exhibits and a small platform in the entrance area will permit the staging of local performances.

Oil Painting Gift From Glen Williams Graduating Class

The Grade 8 held their graduation banquet on Monday evening, June 27th in the United Church basement with the church ladies providing a buffet supper. All the class were dressed in their best and wearing a corsage or boutonniere. At the head table were Principal and Mrs. R. McKeown, Rev. and Mrs. H. Llewellyn, Rev. and Mrs. Walter Ridley, Father Rye, Mr. and Mrs. J. Snoddy, Mr. and Mrs. G. Kidney, Mrs. A. Presswood, Miss Doris Duff, Mr. Early of the school board and Donna Llewellyn who was master of ceremonies.

After all had eaten, they went over to the school auditorium where the programme took place. Chris Sargent, on behalf of the class, presented an oil painting to the school, which will hang in the principal's office. Mr. Early, on behalf of the school board, accepted it and thanked them.

Father Rye was the guest speaker — stressing the need for them to further their education. He was thanked by Bill Burlington. Diplomas were presented to Honor students: Donna Llewellyn, Don Beaumont and Chris Sargent; Linda Ford, Gerry Nash, Pam Norton, Steven Keir, Henry Miedzinski, Gary McGowan, Dave Guest, Bill Burlington, Phil Gallant, Jim Ashley, Janet Gallant, Jack Kemshead, Donna McKeown, Margie Luenberger, Vicky Shepherd.

For all interested in playing ball, the tournament held here on Saturday was very exciting. Our own team is to be congratulated making it to the finals but Meadowvale won out.

It was sponsored by our men's team with girls' teams playing. They were: Oakville, Georgetown, Acton, Dixie, Hornby, Milton, Meadowvale and the Glen.

There was a good crowd, a good refreshment booth looked after by the ladies and everyone enjoyed themselves.

Hamilton Family Reunion at Elora Gorge on Sunday

The annual Hamilton reunion was held on Sunday, July 10th, at the Elora Gorge Park with Mr. and Mrs. John Newell as host and hostess. A picnic lunch was enjoyed by the 45 guests attending.

Following lunch a business meeting was held with Floyd Hamilton in charge in place of the president, Albert Marchment, who was absent. A vote of thanks was extended to the host and hostess for looking after the family gathering for this year.

Harold Treanor of Meadowvale, was elected as president for next year and Mrs. John Newell as the secretary-treasurer. It was decided the next reunion would be held on Saturday, July 9th, 1967, with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Penney as host and hostess.

Following the business a game of baseball was enjoyed by the men and races were held for all ages. The oldest member attending was William Hamilton of Milton and the youngest was Trevor Pocaluyko of Elora. The couple with the largest family was Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton of Wrentham.

NORVAL

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. J.A. McDonald and family of Terra Cotta and to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lyons, Norval, on the death of Mrs. McDonald's mother and sister of Harold Lyons, Mrs. James A. McKane of Georgetown.

Mrs. W.J. Stewart of Carleton Place, aunt of Mrs. Ed. McLean, visited for a week with the McLean family. Also visiting with them on the holiday week end were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roetschen and their daughter and son-in-law of Wrightstown, Penn. Mr. Roetschen is the secretary of the Eastern Jacobin Pigeon Association.

Mrs. Keith Howard of Montreal and Mrs. R. Warren of Toronto who are vacationing at the McGillis cottage at Terra Cotta visited with Mrs. Harold Inglis on Monday.

We extend congratulations to Wayne Norton and Mary Demchuk who were married in St. Albag's Church on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Con Farr and children of Sepulveda, California, are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wagstaffe and will attend on Saturday the wedding of her brother, David Diggins to Janet Nuis in Brampton.

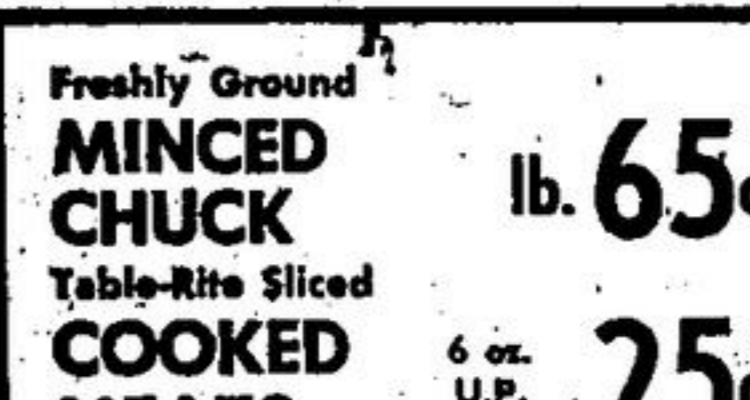

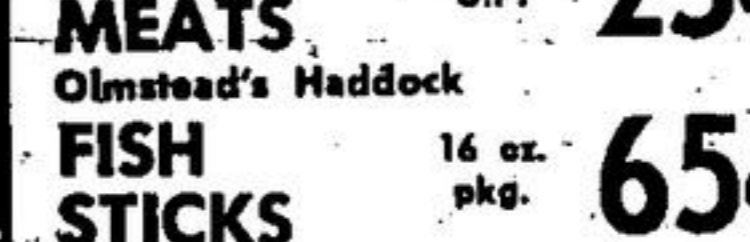

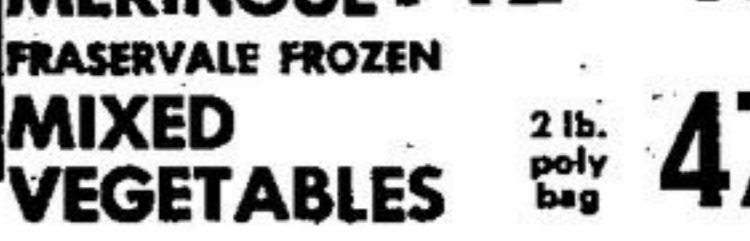

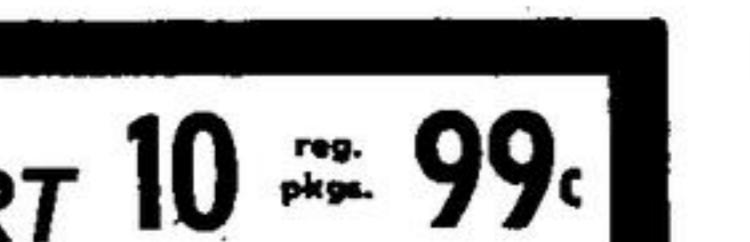

Word was received last week by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Luenberger of the tragic death of their nephew, Hans Peter Muleman, in Interlocken, Switzerland. He and three young friends were mountain climbing in the Alps when a heavy snowfall overtook them. They were missing for a week. Finally with the aid of helicopters their bodies were located, having slipped from a mountain ledge and crashed thousands of feet below. We extend our sympathy to the Luenbergers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Corbett of Canton, Ohio, arrived by plane Monday evening to visit Mr. and Mrs. John Wagstaffe.

Mrs. John Wagstaffe has just returned from a trip west. She went by train to Sudbury and motored with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Middleton, to Portage La Prairie then by bus to Weyburn, Sask. to visit her son Dan, who is at the radio station there. She attended the Weyburn fair where he was doing the broadcasting. She returned home last week by plane. Dan has just this week accepted a position in Regina and will be moving to the radio station there on July 18th.
