Employment Service Aids Prisoners After Release

Over the past few years, the National Employment Service has played an increasingly important role in providing assistance to persons who have been released from penal institutions. Mr. J.W. Temple, Ontario Regional Director, says that some of these men and women may find it difficult to adjust to the demands of the world of work, many are now gainfully employed and are contributing in no small measure to the prosperity and progress of the community.

The successful placement of the ex-prisoner depends to a large extent on his ability and readiness to enter a highly competitive labour market. Since his skills are also of prime importance, the training he receives in prison is most valuable and increases his chances of finding work upon his release. Many ex-prisoners have been placed by the NES on the basis of trade learned in prison. Others have been hired because of their determination to start afresh in a modest capacity where they can earn recognition and gain self confidence.

Specialized staff are available to assist the ex-prisoner when he visits the National Employment Office following release. Through employment counselling the Special Services Officer determines a suitable occupation or occupational field, and together with the applicant develops a realistic vocational plan. He is then referred to a permanent or casual job, depending on his skills and capabilities. If these are insufficient, the Special Services Officer may recommend a government sponsored course of training to upgrade the individual's education and skills. Upon completion of this training, further assistance is given by the National Employment Service in finding suitable employment in keeping with the vocational plan. It is perhaps significant that in the past two years, more than 6,000 selective placements of applicants with personal problems were made by Special Services Officers in Ontario.

The hiring of these workers not only assists in their rehabilitation, but can also add appreciably to our labour force resources.

Taxpayer Critical About Hydrant Charge Write-Offs

The write-off of water hydrant charges to three local firms brought another irate taxpayer, Bert Haddock, 11 Elizabeth Street, to council Monday night.

Hyde, "as long as a hydrant is available within four or five hundred feet the rates would not vary."

Mr. Hyde claimed that any hydrant installed on private property in error should be moved. "This has been passed by council with only one member opposing," he continued, "and should be finished with, but the mayor has chosen this method of keeping it alive."

Claiming that the speaker before him had spoken twice, Mr. Haddock then demanded the same right. "It was only in answer to a direct question from council that the speaker spoke twice," the mayor pointed out, but allowed him to speak.

"You still haven't told me how much they saved," repeated Mr. Haddock.

"I said the rate would be the same whether the hydrant was on their property or in front of their property on the street allowance," retorted Cr. Hyde, "so they would pay the same rate, and not save a penny." He then repeated his statement that the issue should be closed since the council had ruled on it.

"It may be closed to council" was the mayor's rejoinder, "but any citizen who wants to, can come here, and discuss it."

"How much did those firms save in insurance costs by having a fire hydrant on their property?" he asked councillor E. Hyde.

"The rates would be the same whether the hydrant was on the street allowance or their own front lawn," replied Cr. E. Hyde.

Glen Ladies Have Shower For Bride Sally Hunsdale

Mr. and Mrs. John Wagstaffe, Mr. and Mrs. G. Corbett and Bonnie Moore to Sudbury last week to visit Mr. and Mrs. Ted Middleton and family. Bonnie stayed there for a holiday.

We extend our sincere sympathy to Mrs. Oscar Amos and family in the sudden death of Mr. Amos.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Presswood have returned from their annual vacation trip. This year they motored to Cape Cod, visited historic sites in Boston, then up the coast and took the boat from Bar Harbour, Maine to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. They followed the coast, crossed to Prince Edward Island which is a favourite spot of theirs. The main attraction in Charlottetown is, of course, the new Confederation Building which consists of art gallery, museum and theatre. There they saw the play — "Anne of Green Gables" with Barbara Hamilton playing in it. They followed the trans-Canada highway home from Fredericton across northern New Brunswick and the eastern townships of Quebec, along the south shore of the St. Lawrence to Valleyfield where they crossed and followed the north shore to Cornwall where they had considerable rain and were hoping we had it back home — which we didn't. Altogether they enjoyed the complete trip.

We extend our best wishes for a long and happy married life to Sally Hunsdale and Tom Leslie who will be married in the Glen United church on Saturday evening.

The United Church services resume on Sunday, August 7th at 9 a.m. with newly appointed minister in charge — Rev. Walter Ridley who has recently returned from Korea where he was a missionary. For the month of July, members have been attending the Union church service and enjoying the services conducted by Rev. Patterson of Glasgow, Scotland who is visiting Canada while Rev. Duncanson is vacationing and taking his services in the homeland.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Allen left Saturday on a motor trip west with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Warnes to Edmonton, Alberta to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McMenemy and Wayne are on a camping trip through the States.

On Saturday evening the Glen ladies softball team motored by bus along with the Oakville ladies team to Peterboro for a double header. The Glen ladies played the Peterboro Junior Farmers team who are second in their league and won by a score of 15 to 4. The Oakville ladies played Peterboro ladies of the Merchants league and lost by a score of 9 - 3. It was played at the Bowl Park.

Rev. H. Llewellyn of St. Alban's Church will be on holidays for the month of August.
