

Limehouse Church Scene of Henry-Patterson Wedding

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM HENRY

Limehouse Presbyterian white stephanotis. Church was decorated with standards of yellow and white chrysanthemums and pink larkspur for the double ring ceremony on July 16 which united Joy Irene Patterson and William John Henry in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.C. Patterson of Limehouse and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Henry of Acton.

Rev. Norman Young officiated at the afternoon ceremony. Mrs. John Roughley was organist and Mr. Alan Graham of Weston, cousin of the bride, sang The Wedding Prayer and My World.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a floor length gown of Palona crepe featuring a soft A-line skirt, the bodice having Puritan sleeves trimmed with Swiss guipure lace. This was repeated at the empire waistline and on the detachable cardinal train, which flowed from the shoulder length veil of silk illusion. The bridal bouquet was red sweetheart roses with Mrs. Melvyn Hicken of Georgetown, cousin of the bride, was matron of honour and Mrs. Jeff Agnew of Cooksville was bridesmaid. The attendants wore floor length sheath gowns of shrimp pink organza over taffeta with empire waistline and lace train falling from the shoulder. Their flower headpiece matched the gowns and they carried bouquets of white carnations with white stephanotis.

Terry Masales, Acton, was best man and Ronald Henry, brother of the groom, and Leslie Hutchinson, Weston, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

Mrs. Patterson received for her daughter at the reception in the church hall, wearing a turquoise brocade ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and stephanotis. The groom's mother assisted, wearing a teal blue lace ensemble, flower headpiece and matching accessories with a corsage of pink roses.

New Coat of Paint, New Life For an Ancient Yellow Monster

A yellow metal monster sits in a yard at the Hornby home of Gordon Bridgen. It's a big one. Old, too. It's been around Halton County since 1831.

For six years it has sat at the edge of a field, inactive, decaying apparently abandoned.

It's an odd-looking contraption and it's big. A massive dull blade eight feet across is pinned near the lower front end of the four-wheeled machine.

A clumsy-looking heavy sort of cog wheel is set horizontally across the thick blade and is connected to chains leading over the back of the monster into a high-roofed yellow cabin.

It's not just a road grader — it pioneered the job in Halton

County in '31 and did its share of the work before compulsory "retirement." Quite a fine specimen for the Steam Era Show this year.

Within 24 hours of Mr. Bridgen getting to work on that corroded, stiffened body, it shook loose from slumber, shuddered as though with pleasure, and took off across the yard.

The new coat of paint shone in the bright sunlight. Mr. Bridgen's eyes shone, too. Both seemed proud to be all in Canada's centennial year rolls around.

It is due to meet up with a lot of other cumbersome relics of the past which were hard at work decades ago and are about to have their sixth "get-together" in Milton next month.

The road grader is a prize possession of Mr. Bridgen who hardly left it during his 24-hour work stint on it to spruce it up and get it running again.

Mr. Bridgen really cares for old machines. He is treasurer of the Ontario Steam and Antique Preservers' Association.

Passing Out Parade Ends Summer Training

Georgetown part-time soldiers will be among the 48 first year militia men marching in a passing out parade in Brampton tonight. The parade concludes six weeks of basic soldiering undergone by the Lorne Scots Regiment's rookie recruits from Halton, Peel and Dufferin Counties.

During the month and a half received the first year Lorne Scots received instruction in rifle drill, weapon handling, tactics and first aid and rescue work.

Major A. V. Goodman was in charge of the unit, and Lt. E. Graham was the instructing officer.

A 3-day bivouac near Caledon this week concluded the instruction. Most of the training went on in Brampton fair ground, or in bad weather days, in Brampton armory.

The regiment's O/C, Lt. Col. R. Hardie will be the reviewing officer at tonight's ceremony.

both asleep. Her husband was at work and their children were sleeping in a tent in the backyard. Mr. Coffey rescued them.

Furniture and clothing were damaged by fire and smoke as well as the house itself before firemen quelled the blaze.

Three other fires during the week were of a minor nature. Grass fires on River Dr., Norval, and a fire in a pile of lumber from a dismantled barn on Main St. N., at the home of Walter Hyde, called firemen. The latter burned a Bell Telephone pole and cut off phone service to the north portion of town for a time.

Centennial Name Popular, Brampton Chooses It Also

Georgetown's new senior public school may be one of several bearing the name when Canada's centennial year rolls around.

The new school was tagged Centennial Public School at the last meeting of the public school board after much deliberation. Last week the Brampton board of education concluded drawn out discussions on the name of their new public school when they dubbed it Centennial Public School.

At the same meeting another Brampton school was named Sir Wilfrid Laurier Public School. The name of Canada's second prime minister was also proposed by one of the Georgetown school trustees, Gudni Sigurdson, for the new local school.
