

Glen United Ceremony For Sally Hunsdale, Thomas Leslie

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS LESLIE

Sally Hunsdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hunsdale, Georgetown, became the bride of Thomas Lee Leslie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Leslie, R. 4, Georgetown, on Saturday, July 30th in Glen Williams United church at seven o'clock in the evening. Rev. Lloyd Freeland officiated at the double ring ceremony with Mrs. Harold Inglis at the organ and Mrs. John Hutton soloist. She sang "Where 'Ere You Walk" and "The Lord's My Shepherd" to the St. James Air.

The bride wore a classic white lace gown with lily point sleeves with redingote of nylon net and organza, trimmed with matching lace, an heirloom headpiece with bouffant shoulder length veil, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids, miniature carnations, stephanotis and trailing ivy. Mr. Hunsdale gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Linda Puckering, maid of honour wore a floor length gown of mauve chiffon, bridesmaids Miss Karen Bishop, turquoise chiffon, Miss Joan Harris, green chiffon, Miss Patricia Bligh, blue chiffon, all floor length. These attendants all wore wedding ring headbands to match their gowns and carried summer bouquets of sweet peas, roses and daisies. The flower girl, Miss Cheryl Spence wore a floor length gown of pink chiffon and carried an attractive basket trimmed with pink rose buds.

Richard Koe, friend of the groom, R. R. 3, Streetsville, was groomsman and ushers were Keith Leslie, brother of the groom, R. R. 4, Georgetown and William Robinson, Thornhill and Paul Graham, Weston, friends of the groom.

The wedding reception was held at the North Halton Golf and Country Club where Mrs. Hunsdale received for her daughter wearing a pastel green ensemble with champagne beige accessories and a corsage of cream roses. Mrs. Leslie assisted wearing an ensemble of powder blue lace with white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Toastmaster for the evening was John Cooper of Don Mills. Mr. Cooper has been a friend of the bride's family for many years.

For travelling on their honeymoon the bride chose a beige and white suit with honey beige accessories and white gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie will live on the groom's farm at R. R. 4, Georgetown. He is a graduate of O.A.C. Guelph and she a recent graduate of Georgetown High School and plans to continue studying music.

One hundred and forty guests attended the wedding from all parts of Ontario. Amongst those attending were Brigadier and Mrs. F. C. Wallace of Glen Williams, the bride's father having served with the Royal Artillery under the command of Brigadier Wallace at Dunkirk.

Second Language Was Handy—Helped Sales Resistance

"You don't get anything for free these days, what's the gimmick?" That was Lou Pankenin's warty greeting for a smiling caller at his motel room at Indian Rock Beach, near Clearwater, Florida. The early morning door knocker was offering the Georgetown visitor to the Sunshine State and his family, an all expense paid tour of some of Florida's most picturesque countryside plus their meals.

Unable to discover any hidden strings, Mr. Pankenin consented to be ready when a taxi called at their motel the following day. He, his wife and their two girls, Barb and Reni, joined other families from outside the state at a nearby airport and they took to the air for a bird's eye look at America's appendix. Their flight took them to Fort Myers and from there they were ushered onto a bus and whisked to Cape Coral, a development area.

The punch line came near the end of the whirlwind tour when a platoon of smooth line salesmen pushing real estate revealed the purpose of the celebrity treatment and turned the pressure on.

"It was a wonderful day, but it took great sales resistance to keep from becoming a Florida land-owner," Mr. Pankenin told the Herald after he returned from his two week vacation.

By speaking only his native tongue, German, to the land salesmen he earned the distinction of being the only tourist in the group to return to the departure point uncommitted.

"There was only one trouble with giving the salesmen such a hard time," Mrs. Pankenin said. "Nobody spoke to us on the flight back."

Mr. Pankenin said he passed the story along to the Herald so that other Georgetown travellers planning a Florida vacation would pack their sales resistance along with bathing suits and tooth brushes.

Each group of Centennial Travellers is composed of 24 students and two specially selected escorts; my group being taken in tow by Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Mumby of London.

The two week trip consisted of a three day train trip there and back with a week spent in the home of a local family. Excursions were planned to local industries and points of interest during the day and parties in the evenings.

I was surprised at what a great deal was accomplished in seven days. We passed through the Okanagan Valley famous for its orchards and paid a visit to the scenic Kootenay Valley, where we saw the Sugar Loaf Mt.; viewed some of the most beautiful mountain scenery in the area, toured an old ferry, now converted into a museum, and went swimming in the ice-cold Kootenay Lakes fed by the melting snows of the Kookanee Glacier.

Another day we toured the Arrow Dam, being built to harness the Columbia River. The extra power will be used to further develop B.C.'s forest and mineral resources we saw being used by the Cominco smelter and its affiliated Fertilizer Plant and the Celgar Saw Mill and Pulp and Paper Mill at Castlegar.

However, it was not all tours for we climbed Red Mountain Ski Club and Record Ridge in 'grizzly bear country'. We had a swimming party at Sunningdale Pool and a roller skating party at the Trail Memorial Centre.

On our last evening we were hosted at a dinner and dance at Kinnaird. Among those at the head table were our guides to the industries and natural beauties. After dinner we were presented with maple leaf pins to remind us of our trip but I am sure I will never forget the wonderful 'experiences in learning' that was mine on the wonderful hospitality of beautiful British Columbia.

Whether you are approaching the bus from the front or overtaking it from the rear, the flashing red lights mean you must stop. You must stay stopped as long as the red lights are flashing.

For some time now, motorists have been required to stop BEHIND the school bus when it is stopped on the highway with red signal lights flashing on the back. A new law, effective September 1st, requires motorists approaching from the front to stop as well.

The law applies to all motorists except those approaching from the front on a highway with separate roadways.

"The purpose of this new law, stopping traffic in both directions, is to allow children time to get off the bus," said Hon. Irwin Haskett, Ontario's Minister of Transport. "I urge all parents and teachers to instruct children to act with caution when getting on or off a school bus. The law says motorists must stop, but children should still make doubly sure they have done so before crossing the road."

"Drivers who fail to stop when required to do so are liable to fines of up to $50 for the first offence, $100 for second offence and $200 for a third offence. There is also a penalty of four demerit points for each offence."

Centennial Trip to B.C. For Alma College Student

1967 is the year of Canada's 100th birthday and the Centennial Commission has planned a Federal-Provincial Youth Travel and Exchange Program is commemoration. The program is to afford young Canadians a greater understanding of the diversity and meaning of Canada.

This summer over 4,000 students took part in the interprovincial exchange to develop a greater knowledge of Canadians living and working in regions different than their own.

I was pleased to represent my school in an exchange from London, Ont., to Trail, B.C., in July.

5. Obey all traffic regulations and rules of the road; while these regulations may sometimes seem overly conservative, they are generally accurate and helpful.

The Federation, which represents most of Canada's automobile insurance companies, recommends these driving hints which may help you to come home alive.

1. Slow down, excessive speed is contributing factor in many accidents and particularly fatal accidents.

2. Be sure your car is in good mechanical condition.

3. Avoid driving when over-tired and make frequent coffee stops during long trips.
