

County Council Discussion Solves No Nurses' Problems

Following Tuesday afternoon's Halton County Council meeting, settlement with the Halton County Public Health Nurses looked no closer than before the meeting.

Deputy Reeve Charles Meney, acting chairman of the special Warden's Committee set up to deal with the dispute stated he had received no requests for a meeting with the nurses so had no alternative but to advertise for replacements.

"We've had no notification of the nurses wishes or of any intent to meet. We shouldn't deal under threats," he continued "but we are willing to meet with the nurses anytime they so request," he stressed.

"Maybe we should swallow our pride and negotiate," advocated Deputy Reeve R. Day of Oakville. "After all associations are not to be feared, the nurses have as much right to an association as teachers."

Twelve of the nurses who identified themselves as "the ex-public Health Nurses of Halton County," who had been in the gallery left the meeting.

They were immediately surrounded by reporters in the hall. The nurses, through spokesman Mrs. J. T. Hesson stated they had repeatedly asked for meetings. "We asked for meetings three times before our resignations took effect," said Mrs. Hesson, "and we even offered to talk without our representative Mr. Lloyd Sharpe, to whom some councillors seemed to object," she added.

"We called Deputy Reeve Parker (chairman of the Board of Health), Sunday night before we resigned, asking for a meeting and he said he could not arrange a meeting then," said Mrs. Hesson.

"When everybody claimed the big objection was that we were not certified, we said we would talk on any terms," concluded Mrs. Hesson.

When the council meeting resumed Deputy Reeve Day moved that the nurses be allowed to come in again and be heard by Council. The motion passed, but the nurses had left the building at least fifteen minutes earlier.

Deputy Reeve J. Young of Georgetown stated, "Most of us are in a spot, we don't know what is happening. Certain allegations have been made today, and we don't know what's what."

Deputy Reeve Day pressed for an immediate meeting with nurses since, "they missed their chance today."

Deputy Reeve Meney of Milton repeated that he would call a meeting any time the nurses so requested.

Reeve W. Coulter of Nassagaweya explained that the nurses claimed they had asked Deputy Reeve Parker for a meeting on the week-end, not knowing a special committee had been set up to deal with it. "Mr. Parker is supposed to have said he couldn't arrange a meeting," so it would be in good faith to call a meeting."

The matter ended there for the present.

In Canada, women have a life expectancy of 74.2 years, men 68.4 years.

Picnic Luncheon Follows Harvest Church Service

Mrs. Clayton Allen is a patient in Georgetown Hospital. We hope she'll soon be well and home again.

The September meeting of the United Church Women was held at the home of Mrs. Cecil Barth last Monday evening. The president, Mrs. A. Hunsdale, opened the meeting with a reading on the "Harvest" theme followed by singing — "O Worship the King". The roll call was answered by a verse on praise. The devotion was taken by Mrs. J. Wagstaffe on the story from the scriptures of the prodigal son followed by prayer. The hymn "Guide me, O Thou Great Jehovah" was sung.

Several items of business were dealt with. Everyone was reminded to be saving articles for the coming church auction sale also the fall rummage sale Oct. 15th. All the ladies were asked for any used Christmas cards and hand them to Mrs. Alf Spence soon in order that she have time to work on them for the bazaar of Nov. 19th. The meeting closed with prayer by the president and a lunch of peach shortcake with whipped cream and tea was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Paul Wagstaffe.

Some of the older residents will remember Mrs. Hearder who often visited her sister, the late Mrs. Lindley Beasumont. She passed away last week at the age of 97 at Orangeville Hospital.

The annual Harvest Home Service was held Sunday morning in the United Church with a large congregation attending. The junior choir sang a Thanksgiving Hymn. Rev. Ridley's sermon was entitled "Seed of Thanksgiving". The church was decorated with all the fruit, vegetables, flowers and grain. On the communion table was placed grain, bread and grapes — the symbol of the bread and the wine. At noon the same day all the congregation re-assembled on the church lawn for the annual luncheon and picnic. The weather was ideal and everyone brought food and sat down to enjoy a pot luck luncheon at long tables laden with a great variety of good things. The children took part in games and everyone enjoyed the fun and fellowship and meeting. Rev. and Mrs. Walter Ridley and girls.

Next Sunday, Sept. 25 is Rally Day and for any who have not started back to Sunday School, special invitation is extended for 9 a.m. The children will take part in the service and promotions will be made and special awards for attendance.

We wondered how many little NHL Americans recognized themselves in the Herald picture? With the exception of possibly two — they all have settled not too far from home. The two being George Blyth at Waterloo and Jack Crawford in Orangeville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Garvin entertained friends and relatives at a corn and Weiner roast on Saturday night to celebrate their 29th wedding anniversary.

and a further course may be arranged in the early spring. Miss Brown is a drama teacher at University of Toronto and casting director for the Red Barn Theatre at Jackson's Point.

Brian Foley, who has had principal dancing roles in Gypsy and Guys and Dolls at the Royal Alex and who has choreographed a number of CBC-TV shows will conduct dancing classes in modern jazz. He has performed on many well known CBC productions.

Meet Today to Discuss Mill Odour Complaints

Another King St. resident added his voice to complaints about waste odour from Dony's tar paper mill Monday.

In a letter, John Vincent said he gave unanimous approval to objections made recently by a delegation.

Council accepted an invitation by mill manager Jack Crichton to a meeting this afternoon to discuss the complaints.

A letter from county M.O.H. Dr. Archie Bull said there is no health hazard from the odour or the waste lagoon and no action is contemplated by his department in the matter. Council decided to contact the Ontario Water Resources Commission for an opinion.

Seek Governors' Names For Halton-Peel College

The Halton-Peel area slated for a community college to be established by 1987 is "not behind the eight-ball," even though names for the college's board of governors are not in-

D.B. Sutherland, executive secretary for the Council of Regents for community colleges, said that the Halton-Peel area has been slow in submitting names for the regional board of governors.

He said that these names come from many sources in the community. Halton MPP George Kerr of Burlington has submitted one list.

The Council of Regents will probably meet again in October and could then discuss a board of governors for the area, Mr. Sutherland said.
