

Teaching Grads Are Wed Now On Toronto Staff

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gudgeon, Jr.

Two 1966 graduates of Lake shore Teachers College, and now members of the Toronto Township staff, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Peter Gudgeon were married in August in Knox Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Harris, RR 2 and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gudgeon, 9 Normandy Blvd.

For her marriage, the bride chose a floor length, sleeveless gown of pink satin-back crepe with a lace jacket with elbow length bell sleeves. A floor length lace veil and a lace trimmed headpiece which matched her gown completed her ensemble. She carried a bouquet of miniature orchids and green ivy.

Rev. Norman Young performed the ceremony, Kenneth R. Harrison was organist and Miss Lois Elliott sang Wedding Prayer before the ceremony.

Maid of honour Miss Gail McDonald wore a floor length gown of pink satin-back crepe. Bridesmaids Mrs. David Mackenzie, the groom's sister, and Miss Susan Trott wore pink brocade with silver metallic backing. They carried bouquets of white carnations and moss green velvet leaves. They wore white carnation headpieces. The bride's niece, Connie Bates was flower girl, wearing a similar gown to the maid of honour with a crown of flowers in her hair. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Mr. Harris gave his daughter in marriage. Jim Atkinson was groomsmen and the bride's brother Jim Harris and David Mackenzie were ushers.

At a reception in the Odd Fellows Hall, the bride's mother wore a 3-piece turquoise crepe suit and a corsage of pale yellow mums. The groom's mother also received, wearing an olive green crepe dress and corsage of pale pink carnations. A dance followed the reception.

Wedding guests included the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Edith Smith and Mr. and Mrs. R. Gudgeon, grandparents of the groom. Guests came from Sudbury, St. Catharines, Markham, Brampton, Stoney Creek, Dundas, Hamilton and Greenfield, Connecticut.

Mr. and Mrs. Gudgeon, who are living at 126 Mill St. S., Brampton, honeymooned in New York State, at Lake Placid and Lake George. The bride wore for travelling a mint green linen suit and pale yellow lily orchid corsage.

Pakistan's Culture Subject of St Andrew's UCW Meeting

St. Andrew's United Church Women enjoyed an interesting evening October 12, when they had as their guest speaker

Miss R. Ghose a recent arrival from Pakistan. She spoke to the members on the culture of her country and demonstrated how to do a sari.

Miss Ghose's mother also attended the meeting and brought with her some articles from her homeland.

Mrs. Kelvin Johnston, on behalf of the members of the St. Andrew's UCW warmly welcomed the guests. At the close, Mrs. F. Baker thanked them. Mrs. C. Wodhams was in charge of the devotional.

The evening was ended with the serving of refreshments by Mrs. Sue Mackey and Mrs. Sadie Hamilton.

NOT EVEN HOME

A new storm added another ten inches of snow to what we already had. One refugee of the storm sent this telegram to his office. "Will not be at work today — not home yesterday yet."

LET'S PLAY BRIDGE

BY BILL COATS

It's always nice to make a grand slam, especially if you have bid it. It's even nicer to make the opponents throw away tricks in order to make your contract. This was a hand played by my wife and myself this summer. It contains several interesting points.

Dealer — South.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 C	Pass
1 S	Pass	4 S	Pass
4NT	Pass	5 C	Pass
7 S	All Pass

North's bid of four spades shows support for spades and a hand worth at least 20 points in order to raise South's one spade to four, it must be strong since South may have as little as six points.

In answer to the Blackwood bid of four no trump, North bids five clubs. To South, this shows none or four aces. Since South has no aces and since North must have at least 20 points this must show all the aces.

Not wishing to give anything away, West leads a trump. Declarer counted his tricks and made a plan. There are 12 tricks of the top. The 13th trick should come from a squeeze play.

There is a most spectacular squeeze play involved here. It involves setting up a trick for the opponents and then squeezing them out of it. It's called the Vienna Coup.

Declarer drew trump in two rounds and led a club to his singleton king. Now a heart is led to the ace. This gives both East and West a natural heart trick, if they can get it. The ace and queen of clubs are cashed, South discarding two diamonds (not the heart 10).

Trump are led to declarer's hand and trumps are continued. Fortunately for declarer, West does not realize the value of the heart jack. West discards in order to protect diamonds and clubs.

The position just before South leads the last trump is as follows:

H—
D—A 4 3
C—A

S—
H—K
D—J 9 6
C—

S—2
H—10
D—K 10

When the spade deuce is led, it's up to West to play. West must keep the club, hence a diamond is discarded. Declarer discards the club four from dummy and now it's up to East

Denies Lawyer's Charge Says RNAO Not a Union

Flora Hesson, leader of the 22 public health nurses who quit the Halton County Health Unit after an unsuccessful bid for collective bargaining rights, hit back at a Toronto lawyer who said the nurses wanted the rights of trade unionists without the responsibilities.

She said the lawyer, Bradshaw Paulin, is in error in stating that the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario is a trade union in the meaning of the Labour Relations Act.

She declared: "At this time the RNAO is not certifiable in Ontario. Further, the RNAO is on only advisory relation with the local autonomous association of nurses in Halton County."

Mrs. Hesson, of Barrington Drive, said the primary purpose of recognition as far as the nurses are concerned is its effectiveness.

She said that the Board of Health is sometimes composed of people who only have a vague concept of its function.

She declared: "It is necessary in some cases to apply shock treatment to achieve an efficient administration when gentler methods are ignored."

Mrs. Hesson said one way to handle the dispute would be simply to sit down and discuss the matter with the board "acknowledging the rights of the nurses of Halton County to be represented by their professional organization in such discussion."

She went on: "So far this simple and probably effective means has been avoided by the Board of Health."

The nurses walked out on September 12 after their requests for collective bargaining rights were refused by the Board of Health which told them that they should first become certified under the Labour Relations Act. The nurses don't want this. They point out that they tried to be certified last year but this was blocked by county council.

Since the mass resignations the preventive health program in the county has come to a halt.

GLEN WILLIAMS

Partridge Plunges Through Picture Window In Glen

Here is one for Ripley's Believe-it-or-not. While the W. McGowans were having breakfast last Monday morning a terrific crash of glass came from the living room. Mr. McGowan ran to see what had happened and found the floor covered with broken glass and a dead partridge. It had banged the picture window and came through a double pane and was lying there with a broken neck. It must have been going at a great speed to go through a thermo pane window. It was a beautiful bird and the McGowans may have it stuffed.

At St. Alban's Church supper last Sunday, Rev. and Mrs. Llewellyn were unable to attend as they were visiting with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Price of Stoney Creek who had been in an automobile accident on Saturday night near St. Catharines. They had been taken to hospital but were released.

Everyone who attended the supper appreciated the fine organ music provided by Mrs. Reg Williams, Andrew Dewhurst and Robbie Heston.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Starret and family visited on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Whitson and family at Alvinston.

A number of the ladies of United Church attended the Thankoffering Service last Thursday evening in Norval church.

Next Monday evening when the children are making their rounds many will be carrying UNICEF boxes. Any amount dropped in these help the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund which help in so many ways — food, education, medicine, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Barth visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Barth and family in Ingersoll.

Don't forget to put your clocks back one hour this Saturday night back to Standard Time.

The St. Alban's young people held a record hop last Saturday night in the Parish Hall. They report a good time and hope to have it a monthly affair. The chaperones were Mrs. Tom Haines and Mrs. Aubrey Gray.

Mrs. Herb Preston Jr. was confined to the house for a week but is feeling better and able to be at the Apple Products show again.
