Groom's Sister Soloist at Sproule - Greig Wedding

MR. AND MRS. RON SPROULE

St. John's United Church, Georgetown, was the scene on October 1 of the marriage of Mabel Dorothy Greig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greig, R. R. 3, Georgetown, and Ronald Gary Sproule, son of Mrs. Grant Sproule, 47 Ryman St., Georgetown and the late Mr. Sproule.

Standards of red gladioli and colorful fall decorations made the setting for the ceremony at which Rev. Ian Fleming officiated. Mrs. Sandra Greig, Georgetown sang The Lord's Prayer and You'll Never Walk Alone, accompanied by Mrs. J. Evans of Georgetown.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of guipure lace. The bodice had long sleeves, scooped neckline and a V-neckline at the back and an organza over tulle bodice. A train of organza at the back was attached under the bow.

The bride's headpiece was a single organza over tulle rose with rib-of-the-valley, and it held in place a three-tiered silk tulle shoulder-length veil. Her bouquet was red cascading laccars roses with some Scottish heather and English ivy interspersed.

Miss Betty Greig, Georgetown was the maid of honour and the bridesmaids were Miss Janet Neeldman, Toronto and Miss Judy Sproule, Georgetown.

Their floor-length gowns had empire waists and elbow-length sleeves. The brides of the dresses were of forest green velvet and the bridesmaids wore pale green organza over tulle. A gown velvet low decorated the empire waistlines.

The attendants carried bouquets of red gladioli and were white wrist-length gloves. Their hairpieces were forest green velvet bows and pale green net.

The best man was Wayne Sproule, Brampton, and the usher was Gordon Greig, Brampton and Terry Norton,

Winter Coming, Warn Danger of Thin Ice

The ice is starting to form on puddles, streams and ponds. Children love to 'test' the ice to see if it is ready to slide and skate on. PARENTS, it's up to YOU to warn them. Take a little time to sit with them and really explain what would happen if they went on thin ice. Just think a minute, of the wee ones playing by the river-edge, falling in, the boots filling with the icy water, the snow suits weighing them down.

Heavy Equipment School Implements Road Building

The Hon. William G. Davis, Minister of Education officially opened Ontario's Heavy Equipment School at Georgetown on Wednesday October 19.

The school, an adjunct of the Provincial Institute of Trades and Occupations, was established in June this year to answer to the needs of the Province's road building industry.

The million dollar education project is situated equidistant from Georgetown, Acton and Milton on 200 acres of land provided by the Ontario Road Builders Association. The association also donated 12 new machines (graders, front loaders, bulldozers, etc.) for practical instruction at the school.

Fourteen students are currently enrolled in the third and final 10-week course being offered this year at the Heavy Equipment School. Classes are limited, so there is one machine per student. Equipment maintenance and on-the-job safety are also taught.

The British Columbia Vocational Schools in Nanaimo and Prince George are the only two other schools in Canada offering a comparable course.

Mr. P. J. McNally, President of the Ontario Road Builders Association, was co-host at Wednesday afternoon's function.

Also in attendance was the Hon. H.L. Rowntree, Minister of Labour, and the Hon. C.S. MacNaughton, Minister of Highways.

Following the official opening of the school, a reception was held at the Halton Country Club.

Lights Out, Find Less Vandalism at School

The popular conception is that vandalism thrives in darkness and wanes in the glare of bright lights — but the reverse is true in at least one Georgetown public school.

School trustees were told by business administrator James F. Evans at a meeting Wednesday, that since illuminating exterior spotlights at George Kennedy public school have been out of commission, vandalism there has dipped by something like 75 per cent.

While the lights were working the school was a consistent target for the vandals, but they fell prey to the destruction-minded a few weeks ago.

The board agreed to not replace the lights.

One bit of maliciousness that left a Kennedy wall decorated with obscene words is still giving the school board a headache.

Even acid have been used in attempting to erase the purple prose — unsuccessfully. Wednesday, trustees considered sandblasting and ruled it out, but settled on taking another try with a motorized grinder.

The obscenities were written on brick with a poster marker type of tool.

Third School Pupil In Expo Exhibit

The name of a third Georgetown public school child whose art work will be on display at Expo '67 in Montreal was omitted from a story in the October 27th issue of The Herald. Peter Stephens, 2 Gray Gate, now in Grade 2 at Harrison Public School, will also be a Georgetown contributor. He was six year old and in Grade 1 when he did the work which was selected for the show.

want to know why?

Because your gas heating system gives you constant, even heat all over the house automatically. You never have to run from room to room adjusting thermostats. The constant circulation from a modern gas heating system never allows air to settle into cold pockets, or stand hot and stuffy. It keeps fresh, filtered air moving through every room, and balances the heat and humidity too. Automatic gas heating keeps the house warm pleasantly, evenly heated throughout the seasons. Gas is the most economical way to heat.
