Marshall-Perkins Wedding Vows in Clarkson Church

St. Bride's Anglican Church, Clarkson, was the scene of a wedding on October 29th when Beverley Ann Perkins, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. C. W. Perkins of Clarkson and John Ross Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Murray Marshall of Norval were united in marriage.

Rev. Rooke officiated. The church was decorated with standards of white and bronze mums for the double ring ceremony.

Mr. Al Roberts was at the organ. Three ladies from the church choir sang the 23rd Psalm just before the bride entered the church, 'Oh Perfect Love' during the ceremony and 'The Lord's Prayer' during the signing of the register.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length portrait gown of white peau-de-se with wrist length, fly-point sleeves and a flowing panel falling from the shoulders to the floor. Bodice and side panels were embroidered. A single rose held her, three tiered, shoulder-length veil of filmy nylon. She carried a cascade of American Beauty roses, stephanotis and ivy trails.

The groom's sister, Mrs. Douglas Burnett of Georgetown was matron-of-honour. The bridesmaids were the bride's sister Miss Patricia Perkins and the bride's cousin, Miss Janis A. Clark of Scarborough. They wore identically gowned in floor-length empire gowns with kelly green bodices and pale green crepe skirts. Their headpieces consisted of a bow of kelly green attached to a pouf of silk net. They carried bouquets of yellow and bronze mums.

Mr. Ronald Fishburn of Norval was best man. The bride's brother, Douglas Perkins and the groom's brother-in-law, Douglas Burnett were the ushers.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom were piped into their car to the strains of the bagpipes, played by Mr. William Baird dressed in Scottish kilts.

A reception and dance was held in the Oak Room of the Union Station. To receive the guests, the bride's mother wore a two-piece dress of pale blue silk shantung with matching hat and accessories. Her corsage was pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother chose an all-wool two-piece dress of jade green, with metallic hat and brown accessories. Her corsage was of talisman roses.

For a honeymoon to Montreal and points east, the bride wore a green and blue tweed suit with matching cap and a corsage of yellow roses.

Guests were from Toronto.

Scarborough, Clarkson, Guelph, Brampton, Montreal, Brantford, New York, Georgetown and Norval.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall are living in Brantford where the groom is a material planner with Massey-Ferguson.

A Sneak Killer

Carbon monoxide gives no warning. It has no odour and cannot be seen. It kills before its victims know that it is near.

With cold months at hand, be sure you keep one car window partly open to protect yourself and your passengers against this additional driving hazard.

Home Baking Sale At Local Council Women Meeting

A sale of home baking and small household articles was the special feature of the November meeting of the Local Council of Women, which was held at the home of Mrs. Floria Nodwell, Edith St., on the afternoon of the 18th. Mrs. Nodwell was in charge of the sale, which was a success, as proven by the fact that practically all of the articles for sale found ready purchasers.

For the business part of the meeting, Mrs. A. Reeve was in the chair, in the absence of the president Mrs. R. T. Paul. After the minutes, and the financial report, Mrs. R. H. Jones presented the various items of correspondence, and these were discussed and dealt with.

Mrs. D. W. Baxter gave the current report from the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Mrs. Zetta Hayes read excerpts from a letter received from the national chairman of immigration, dealing with the White Paper proposing certain changes in legislation, particularly in the areas of sponsorship and discrimination. Some discussion followed.

Discussion also took place on current radio and TV entertainment.

The hostesses were Mrs. J. Kerr, Mrs. R. Jones and Mrs. Nodwell.

Mrs. F. W. Johnson thanked all those who had contributed to the afternoon's programme.
