Rangers Available For Dollar Deeds, Just Call

In England they call it Bob a Job Day — here, Georgetown Air Rangers have coined the phrase Dollar Deed Day. Either way it spells a clever fund raising scheme which can benefit local housewives as well as the Rangers.

It works like this. For one day, Saturday, the Air Rangers girls are offering their services to anyone in the community who would like a job—done. They will do baby sitting while mother shops, light clean-up jobs, ironing or any of dozens of light tasks which their customers feel is worth a dollar or more.

Anyone with a job that can be handled by a 14 to 18 year old girl can get in touch with the Air Rangers by calling any one of the phone numbers in the Air Rangers ad in the Coming Events column.

NOT SO HUGE

The famous Plymouth Rock, where the Pilgrim Fathers landed in America in 1620, is a boulder originally eight feet by six.
