

Yea Good Guy, Boo Bad Guy Nothing Has Really Changed

It's the old fashioned Saturday afternoon matinee, with shouting, cheering, booing and eating (mostly eating) at the children's movie every Saturday afternoon in Holy Cross church basement.

One difference from the days of the cliff-hangers is the preference many children have for sitting on the floor, probably a hangover from television watching.

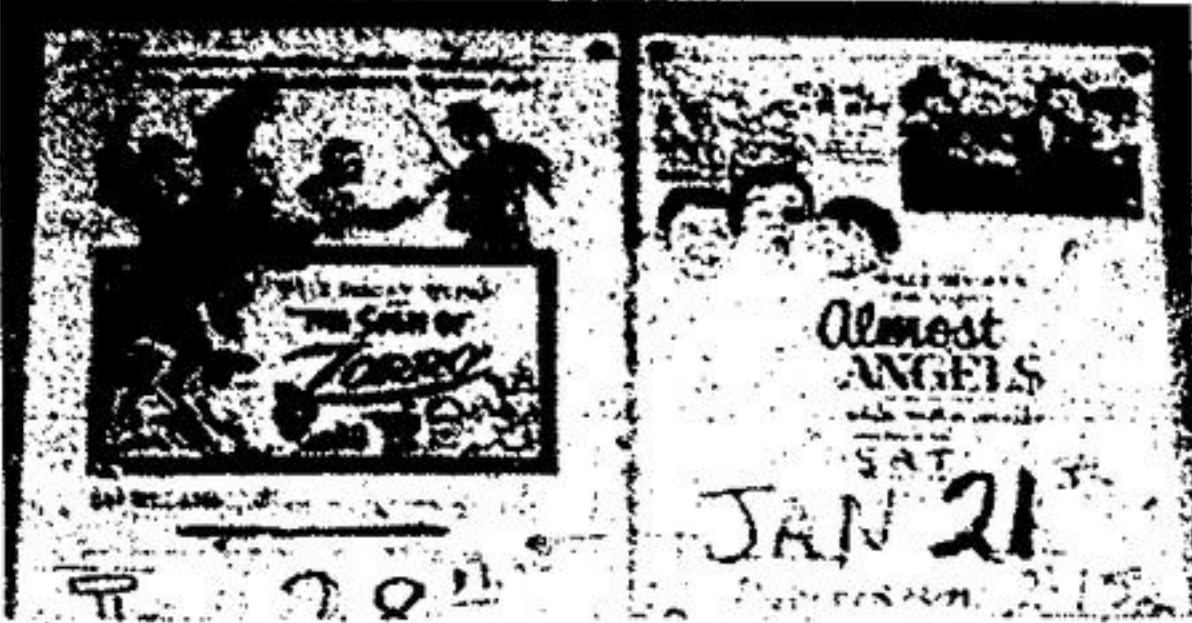

With the attendance ranging from a low of two hundred to a high of five hundred the Holy Cross Social Committee are pleased with the results. All money raised goes to the parish.

The committee in charge of the movies consists of Mr. and Mrs. R. Lobb, Miss Dorothy Crane, and the operator of the projector Mr. K. McAuley.

Coming attractions, as they say in the trailers, are "Adventures of Zorro" and "Almost Angels."

The first venture into adult movies last Friday night with "Dr. Strangelove," did not attract as many as hoped, but will be tried a few more times to see if they catch on. The adult movies are not run by the Holy Cross Social Committee, but by two private individuals of Toronto, who, of course give a share of the money to the church.

Well stocked with something to munch during the film, the matinee audience is ready for the show to start.

Antique Vehicles Will Be Museum Centennial Project

Halton County Museum Board meets next week to reveal the highlights of the county Centennial Project, it was announced Saturday.

Museum Director Major Harold Newman, Georgetown, said the project would come under discussion at the meeting and he would comment later on details of the scheme.

The project entails the preservation of many antique vehicles which will be housed in a new building at the museum.

Among the collection will be antique stage coaches, buggies, sleighs and horse-drawn agricultural implements.

Shared Equally

The $31,857 enterprise will be shared equally by the municipal, provincial and federal governments.

The Museum Board has already launched the construction of the Centennial building at the museum after the sketch plans were drawn up in November.

Permission for the project has been granted from Queen's Park, Halton County Council and the Halton Region Conservation Authority.

The museum, situated in the heart of the county, is snugly nestled beneath the 300-foot Niagara escarpment.

It is located five miles northwest of Milton on the former Glen Eden Farm owned by the Alexander family.

Water Control

It was purchased by the Conservation Authority as a water control measure. It is close to the Kelso Dam which provides facilities for fishing, swimming, picnics and nature hikes.

The old museum buildings already display many relics of Halton's past, including a number of recent donations.

It is the intention of the board to erect other units from time to time.

Botanical Garden

The Centennial building will overlook a large quadrangle south of the main building. A botanical garden, devoted mainly to earlier varieties of flowers and shrubs used by the pioneers, is also planned.

When completed the project will present a good idea of progress in the home and in agriculture over a 100-year period.

Four generations of Alexanders have lived there and worked the land.

Halton East Hopeful Announces Candidacy

William B. Sargent, 22 announced to The Herald, Monday, that he will seek the Progressive - Conservative nomination in the new riding of East Halton for the next Provincial Election.

"I realize I'm a young man," said the first aspirant to the office. "but a young man with ambition who can make a contribution to the area. To follow the late Stanley Hall and George Kerr will be a challenge," he said.

Sargent, who has lived in the former village of Bronte all his life is currently taking a Recreational course at the University of Guelph and will graduate in April.

He attended the Thomas A. Blakelock High School in Oakville where he took part in the work of the student council and many other extra-curricular activities. He has been an active member of the Church of the Epiphany, and while in Guelph has been assistant Scoutmaster.

Indicate Many Interested - New Riding PC Candidates

"A fairly large number of people" have shown interest in being nominated as provincial legislative candidates, said Doug Lalimer, of Georgetown, president of the Halton East Progressive Conservative Association Sunday.

He said the executive of the association met and decided, subject to general approval, to hold a nominating convention in late March.

"Once we have set the convention date," said Lalimer, "the candidates will probably all announce themselves."

Several Others

He did not specify exactly how many but he remarked: "We'll have to see who comes through the woodwork. We've had a large number as already indicated, but there are several others."

"We'll probably set the convention within the next two or three weeks," he ended.

TB Campaign Short of Objective by $3,000

Officials of Halton TB & Health Association are concerned about a drop in donations in the annual Christmas Seal appeal.

To date, the campaign is down $3,150 from a year ago when total receipts were $37,568, according to Mrs. Jessie Lunau of Oakville, executive secretary for the association.

The association is appealing to county residents who have not sent donations to do so — there is still time to have these included in the 1966 campaign.

Last spring a county X-ray clinics revealed 17 new cases of the disease and an added benefit was discovery of 160 other respiratory ailments. An example of the service rendered to the public is the case of two youngsters who had contracted the disease, but whose parents were healthy. A check revealed that their grandfather was the contact, and the disease was arrested before permanent health damage was caused.

Mrs. Gordon Sampson is Georgetown representative for the association.

Elephants vanished from North America about 10,000 years ago. Their bones are sometimes found with the spear or arrow points apparently used by prehistoric hunters to kill them. Some archeologists believe that the prehistoric Americans may have hunted the pachyderms to extinction.
