

Book Three Performances for Little Theatre's "Fancy" Play

A Little of What You Fancy, Georgetown Little Theatre's entry in this year's Centennial Theatre Festival received its preliminary adjudication Tuesday night, the first of four nights at the Georgetown High School.

Regional festivals are held every year and winners are invited to participate in the week long Dominion Drama Festival.

Canada is divided into seven regions and Georgetown Little Theatre is a member of the Western Ontario Region, an area stretching from Sudbury to Georgetown. It includes the giants of the little theatre movement, Hamilton, London and Kitchener where memberships run into the thousands.

Georgetown Little Theatre has been fairly successful in their three previous attempts. They were selected one of the five to appear in the festival one year and captured an award for best visual effect. Last year Vera Macdonald won the Best Actress award for her part in "Oh Dad, Poor Dad".

Betty Fisher is directing "A Little of What You Fancy" which skipped last night but runs again tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Return Margery Mackenzie as Countess of Strathmore Regent

Miss Margery Mackenzie was returned for another term as regent when members of Countess of Strathmore Chapter, IOOE, held their annual meeting on February 13. Misses Jean and Margery Mackenzie were hostesses.

Officers who will serve this year with Miss Mackenzie are: Mrs. Keith Barber, vice regent; Mrs. Stan Wright, 2nd vice regent; Mrs. Esther Smith, secretary; Mrs. Garfield McGilvray, assistant secretary; Mrs. Wm. McDonald, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Ballantine, Services at home and abroad; Mrs. Oliver Hunter, education; Mrs. Denney Charles Echoes; Mrs. Ernest Forgrave, standard bearer.

Mrs. Sam Penrice was chairman for the installation and while presenting the gavel to the regent, she thanked the past executive for their effort and hard work and assured that new officers of the loyalty and cooperation of members.

Conveners appointed are: Mrs. Sam Penrice, public relations; Mrs. Gordon Kidney, world affairs; Mrs. R. Barber, social; Miss Helen Macdonald, miscellaneous fund; Mrs. Robert Jones, membership.

As it was the anniversary of the formation of the IOOE, Miss Jean Mackenzie read an informative account of its beginnings in 1900.

Halton UCW Women Raised $101,350 in 1966 Projects

A skit entitled "Beginnings" by the United Church Women's group from East Plains, traced the history of women's organizations in the church at the annual meeting of Halton Presbyterian in Oakville.

In 1816 at Halifax, a Methodist Benevolent Society was formed and five years later a Female Benevolent Society for home missions. Then in 1825 in Princeton, P.E.I. four women gathered to organize a society for helping others. Fifty years later, Presbyterian, Methodist, and Congregational churches had active mission organizations. And with church men in 1925 the work of the women reached new heights.

Several books were recommended for reading, there was a discussion on television and there was a display of books for sale by a representative from the Ryerson book store.

In an election of officers, Mrs. H. R. Parker, Port Credit, succeeded Mrs. E. Sovereign, Burlington, as president with Mrs. W. D. Stainton, Oakville, as executive vice president. Mrs. Douglas MacLaren, Georgetown, is one of the area presidents. Mrs. Lee King, Waterdown, a former Georgetown resident is treasurer.

In her report, Mrs. King revealed that $101,350 had been raised by the women of Halton Presbyterian last year. A commitment of $27,000 to the unified budget form was met and an additional $2,235 given to other projects. The unified budget was increased by $1,000 for 1967.

In a speech during the morning worship period, Mrs. Martin Johns, vice president of Halton Conference, indicated the conflict between tradition and change. She warned that the church must neither be so tied to tradition that it will cease to be effective nor concentrate so much on change that it will lose touch with yesterday and cease to be a church.

"It could be that the church must lose itself to find itself" was a thought projected by Rev. L. A. Purdy in an afternoon speech. He is associated with the Alcoholism and Drug Addiction Research Foundation.

Change is coming so rapidly that it is almost frightening, he said, with science probing for knowledge in such fields as Cryobiology, the freezing of organs for transplant and Parthenogenesis, test tube babies.

Ministers are being drawn away from the traditional part of the church in to Christian work in other areas. One college is sending out future ministers to work in communities for part of their training instead of taking so much time in college. Ministers are being trained in special fields and it could be that the laity would take on more of the ministry in local churches.

Reception Here Following Wedding in Nova Scotia

A reception was held at Terra Cotta Inn on January 8th for Mr. and Mrs. David Douglas McLeod, whose marriage took place in North Sydney, Nova Scotia the previous week.

The reception was tendered by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Antoni Zamojc, 22 McGillivray Cres., and Mrs. Zamojc wore a powder blue dress with bolero jacket and a corsage of yellow carnations.

The bride and groom entered the Inn to the strains of the Wedding March, played by the groom's grandmother, Mrs. William Beckman, Toronto. Music for the evening was provided by the Blackouts, the groom's twin brothers being members of the band. The groom's uncle, Holly Couch of Bramford, also played numbers on the Hawaiian guitar.

For her marriage in St. John's Anglican Church, the bride, Eileen May Hatcher chose a street length dress of white tulle over satin with lace bolero, shoulder length veil and crown of crystals and pearls.

She wore a small gold locket, belonging to her late grandmother and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Phyllis Nash, wore kelly green velvet, with matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of white mums.

The church had Christmas decorations of holly and ivy with red roses and carnations; the altar, Rev. J. T. Turner officiated and Mrs. Donald Jackson was organist. The bride's brother Frank Hatcher was groomsmen and two other brothers, Wilson and Austin Hatcher were ushers.

At a reception which followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Hatcher wore a three-piece jade green wool suit, white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. McLeod, who are both employed with Northern Electric are living in Georgetown. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hatcher of North Sydney.

Vote Down Pay for High School Trustees

A motion instructing the business administrator to allow for fees to the board members this year when making his preliminary budget forecast was defeated at a meeting of the Georgetown District High School Board Monday night.

The six members attending split three - three causing it to be lost. The motion was tabled by William Carr and seconded by T. H. VanSickler. They found support only in board chairman E. H. Gorth.

E. E. Hall, B. H. Breckenridge and Donald Lawson voted contrary. The seventh member of the board John D. Ord was not at the meeting.

The high school board members have never accepted the payment available to them.

Chairman Gorth said he felt it should be each member's own personal decision as to whether or not he should accept the fee. He said he felt the idea of the motion was only to make it available.

Skids on Hill, Cruiser Hits Police Chief's Car

Police were all over a two-car collision at the bottom of the Park Street hill, Friday.

Cst. Henry Vandersluis was the driver of one of the cars involved, the police cruiser; Chief Constable Roy Haley was the owner of the other car involved, and Cpl. Thomas Oakley was the investigating officer.

Cpl. Oakley reported that the cruiser was eastbound down the hill, skidded on the icy surface, and swung into the back end of Chief Haley's parked car.

Cpl. Oakley placed the property damage at $50 to the police ice cruiser, a 1968 Chevrolet and $250 to Chief Haley's 1959 Pontiac.

There were two motor accidents Saturday. Cars driven by Michael Cummings, 7 Durham St. and James Corbett, collided at the corner of Union and Durham Streets resulting in $125 damage, and vehicles operated by Gil Asher, 99 Prince Charles Dr. and Douglas Lewis, 25 McIntyre Cres., hit at the corner of Campbell Gate and Prince Charles Dr. resulting in $275 damage.

Constables David Bell and Earl Andrew investigated.

Commentary, Slides on Native Wild Flowers

Those attending the regular public meeting of the Georgetown Horticultural Society, held Wednesday, Feb. 15, in Knox Church Hall were treated to an illustrated lecture on wild flowers. Robert Barber, introduced to the audience Kenneth Strasser, a naturalist with the Metro Toronto and Region Conservation Authority who gave a commentary on most of the wild flowers native to Ontario.

The coloured slides used to illustrate each wild flower proved to the audience that Mr. Strasser showed an unusual ability in photography. Two areas in Ontario, Peterborough and the Bruce Peninsula, where extensive bogs persist are his favorite spots for studying nature's wild flowers.

H. J. Herder thanked Mr. Strasser for his entertaining lecture, making special note of the additional pleasure the audience had in his many humorous comments.

The business session of the meeting was conducted by president, J. F. Duffield. It was made known that twenty-five members had taken advantage of the Calvert-Dale flower tour the previous Sunday in Brampton. Discussion followed as to the advisability of taking in the Flower Show, Sunday March 5 at O'Keefe Centre, in the same manner. Tentative plans were made to do this and the members were advised to watch the "Coming Events" column in The Herald of March 2nd issue.

A short report was given by the chairman of the flower show committee, indicating another big show was beginning to take shape and some changes in show classes could be anticipated.

Before the meeting adjourned to the refreshment table the usual door prize draw was held and Miss Olive Ruddell and Mrs. John McEnery were the winners.

Some Councillors For Cutting Esqueusing From Fire Area

What could have been a tempest in a teapot erupted at Georgetown council meeting Tuesday when correspondence was received from Esqueusing Twp. offering a new deal on fire area cost sharing.

The township has been paying a yearly $250 plus $50 per call in excess of 20 calls.

Their by-law calls for 45% of the maintenance costs of Georgetown fire department. And interpretation of the word maintenance was the stumbling block in councillors' minds.

Despite the fact several members said they had talked to Esqueusing members and were certain they meant the total yearly fire budget, a long discussion ensued.

Most members were late that the township expected them to okay any by-law.

At one stage a motion to charge $375 per fire call almost squeaked through, defeated only in a 5-4 split.

And final decision was to wait until a planned survey by the Ontario Fire Marshall's office tells the town the status of its fire services.

Some council members were outspoken in the opinion that Georgetown has reached the stage where it should use its fire department solely locally and not service the township at any price.
