

Reid Snuffs Out Chance, Close Call for Hadfield in Slices of Jr. Action

Raiders Hail Rubber on Tiger Cage Week-End Wins at Home Even Series

Quick Goals by Robinson And Hay Enough for Win

Georgetown Raiders pumped in two goals in the first six minutes of play and then made them stand up as they defeated Aurora Tigers 2-1 in an OHA Suburban Junior C league final series game here Friday night.

The win was Raiders first of the best of seven series and left them just one back of the Tigers.

All the scoring was done in the opening period. Paul Robinson and Terry Hay fired the Georgetown goals, and McLain emma in their eagerness to give the stand-in goalie extra protection. They were perfect screens for Robinson when he threaded the traffic jam in front of the net at 5:03, and when Terry Hay slapped a slower screamer in off Hadfield's pad 56 seconds later.

Robinson's power play with Weir penalized for slashing.

Terry Hay and Bill Dwyer playing in his first game since picking up a wrist fracture a month ago, set up the first goal and Dave McMenemy fed Hay on the second.

That part of the crowd of 943 in the Memorial arena's south end got fifty per cent more value for their entrance fee than the fans in the north end as Raiders carried the play to Tigers in every period.

An official count gave Georgetown a 39 to 23 edge in shots on goal. But another 27 Raider missiles boomed off the boards some of them as far as ten feet off target.

Five of the pucks thrown in Reid's direction were what the hockey zealots call 'good saves' — shots that might have beaten another netminder.

Paul Robinson was one big reason Aurora's attack never got up to potential. The strong winger was Raiders best checker and thrived in his penalty-killing role.

The penalty assessment was even. Each club took 6 minutes.

One of the few Tiger rushes that didn't get dashed on Georgetown's solid defensive wall ended in the game's third score. Dixon sent McLain in with the Aurora marker at 9:36 while Ron Lane sat out an elbowing penalty.

Tiger rearguards may have contributed to Hadfield's dilemma in their eagerness to give the stand-in goalie extra protection. They were perfect screens for Robinson when he threaded the traffic jam in front of the net at 5:03, and when Terry Hay slapped a slower screamer in off Hadfield's pad 56 seconds later.

CURLING CHATTER

from North Halton Golf and Country Club
by 'Bob' MacArthur

This past week saw the front men on the rinks in command. The seconds skipped the rinks and the leads acted as vices. This was an opportunity for the front end of the rinks to find out by practical experience, the joys and sorrows of running a rink. Most of the pro-tem skips had a hard time staying in the house and watching the course of the stones. They would much rather be out there sweeping the rocks home. And the temporary front end of the rinks found that sweeping was hard work when you are not used to it. This practice of changing the rinks around should be continued in future years.

Looking over the teams posted for the MacCormack bonspiel on Sunday, there is only one space left for a last entry, with 32 women signed up and 31 men. This should be a top notch bonspiel.

On Sunday, the High School curlers take over for their annual scramble for the Orange Crush trophy. The quality of the junior curlers play is of high calibre and will be well worth a visit to support the curlers.

The annual meeting of the men's section is slated for March 28th. Officers for the coming year will be elected at this meeting and plans laid then will guide the new officers for the future. And the annual dinner and dance is scheduled for April 15th. So make your plans accordingly.

Outshoot Aurora 45 to 13 Georgetown Flying Sunday

Nobody kept a card on the end power play goal at 9:25. And a goal-mouth scramble climaxed with Rick Maloney's goal from Terry Hay and Ron Stewart 13 seconds later.

The teams were five a side when Rod Presswood fooled Rutherford with a low scorer with the third period a little over eight minutes old.

Phil Lavell counted the fifth Georgetown marker with aid from Maloney at 13:35. With two minutes left Lavell was curled up in pain at centre ice the victim of a spearing attack.

Twenty four sentences were handed out, nine to Georgetown.

He got up and finished the game but was obviously still suffering from the well aimed stick blade as he skated off.

There was one fighting penalty that to Raiders' Kent Robinson who took a two minute roughing penalty out of the same skirmish. McLain, his partner in the scrap was tagged with a two minute roughing minor. That explosion came with forty seconds to go.

KID HOCKEY BRIEFS

Playoffs will be 2-game total goals. To give the teams 2 games there will be games played Tuesdays March 7 and 14. Check with your commissioner for game times on these nights.

On Saturday March 18 the playoffs will start at 1 o'clock instead of 6:45 in the morning to declare champions in each group.

Aurora scored late in the third period but that was their sole success. Georgetown wrestled the lead away before the 0:game was half over with a 3-1 led the third period with a confidence that they could have used when the series was young.

Georgetown registered their tying and winning markers with power play pressure.

Bray (as in mule) was the bad man of the bit. His afternoon's work earned him five minor penalties and pair of goat horns for poor-clearing on three Georgetown goals.

Raiders were about ready to pop in front when Gould picked off a pass and fashioned Tigers' goal. Coty did the leg work and Bellamy put the puck behind Reid at 17:32.

Tigers were two men short when Terry Lane evened from Jim Blair and Don Norton, at 4:10. Ron Lane and Terry Lane and Blair engineered the second power play goal at 9:25. And a goal-mouth scramble climaxed with Rick Maloney's goal from Terry Hay and Ron Stewart 13 seconds later.
