

Secretarial Ability Wins Expo Trip for Jane Bouskill

JANIE BOUSKILL

Interviews and a resume of her education, activities in the community and her appearance all went to decide that Jane Bouskill of Glen Williams, is a secretary most likely to succeed. Jane is taking the secretarial course at Brampton Business College and she has been chosen, because of her qualifications, to spend a week, beginning next Tuesday at Expo in Montreal. She is looking forward to working in an office there during her stay, thus combining business with pleasure and an opportunity to see Expo. Jane is the daughter of Mrs. Catherine Bouskill, Glen Williams.

Prior to her secretarial course, Jane was educated at Glen Williams Public School and at Georgetown District High School. While in public school she was president of the Red Cross for five years; she had competed in music festivals and sang and danced in operettas.

Baseball, volleyball, field hockey, track and field, are high on the list of Jane's interests. In Georgetown High School she was a member of the student council and a member of the French club. In Grade 12, she participated in the model parliament and for two years Jane enjoyed the excitement of being a cheerleader. Her hobbies include tap, ballet and modern jazz, ballroom dancing.

To add more to her talents, Jane has tried her hand at baton-twirling, sewing, collage painting, judo and shell work. Recently she has become an enthusiastic skier.

She has worked as a dance instructor, baby-sitter, assisted in church work and has picked fruits and vegetables. At present she is working as a pruner in a greenhouse on the weekends.

Her aim is to make a career of her secretarial course and she would like to work in a legal office.

Hope Eaton Representative Present For Cairn Unveiling

A centennial cairn with the old Glen Williams school bell will be erected in front of the Glen School, as part of the village's active centennial celebrations.

To the accompaniment of bands and parades, the cairn will be unveiled June 24. A member of the Eaton family has been asked to unveil the cairn but as yet they have received no confirmation. The Centennial committee, however did receive a donation from the family to cover some of the centennial celebrations.

Another successful centennial project is well under way, this one, an essay contest open to all school children in the Glen Williams area. The subject must be "Glen Williams 1867-1967". There are two classes of competition, under twelve, and over twelve.

Rev. Harold Llewellyn, from whom all applications must be obtained, has already received many requests for application forms. The applications will be numbered, and given to each applicant, so no names will appear on the essays. This way the judge, as yet unchosen, will have no way of knowing whose essay they are reading.

Deadline for centennial essay contest is April 30th.

Why Monday Night For Fireworks?

29 Market Street, April 14th, 1967.

Dear Mr. Editor: I have for the past few years wondered why our fireworks display has to be held on Monday night.

If our young children wish to see this lovely display the town and the Legion put on they have to wait till dark, usually around 9:30, to see it. I wonder how many mothers have the same problem I do trying to get their children up for school the next morning. And how about the many teachers who see heads nodding, mouths yawning, and general lack of interest because our children are too tired.

I realize that the 22nd of May is Victoria Day, but how about a little consideration for the children, the mothers and the teachers. Thank you, Mr. Editor, for allowing me the space in your paper to state my view of the 22nd day of May celebration here in Georgetown. Sincerely, —Mrs. J. Costigan
