

Georgetown and District Will be Flocking to Expo

Everybody's going to Expo, or so it seems to Art Scott, operator of Sunline Tours to the big fair. Already the tours are booked to capacity for May and June.

Students galore are going. All of Esquacing schools have a bus booked, with Glen Williams school having two.

Centennial School in town has three bus loads. Erin High school three buses, Brampton and Bramalea High schools four buses, Milton High school three buses, and one each for Peacock and Ovington schools.

Students aren't the only ones going to the big show, forty members of Hillsburgh Women's Institute are also making the trip.

Individuals can also book their way to Expo. Sunline Tours is running two trips a month during July, August, September and October which will be open to anyone.

The students pay forty-five dollars for the three nights at the Mercer Hotel pay a total of eighty dollars. Both the hotels and the students' residences are beside the river, within street bus distance of Expo.

Sunline Tours, together with Charterways, have booked the Mercer Hotel for the whole of Expo, and all their guests will be lodged there.

"You won't see it all in two days," warns Art Scott, who just returned from a tour of Expo, as a member of the Ontario Motor Coach Association.

Prior to the tour the members were shown a movie about Expo, and then taken by bus all over the site. With no stops at all, the bus took two and a half hours to cover the area—an indication of the number of steps that weary feet will take to cover the distance when the fair is thronged with tourists.

It could be a long day, since the grounds open at eight in the morning, and stay open till 2:30 the following morning.

Other statistics contained in the report on the hospital's operation in March.

Adults and children admitted 170 Newborn 25 Deaths 5 Emergency visits 157 Major operations 12 Other operations 66

Figures contained in a report to the hospital board this month indicate the easing off is slight.

Budgeted days of care for the first quarter of 1967 were 4,770, and to the end of March it totalled 4,822. The average percentage of beds occupied is 87.2. When broken down by type of accommodation is as follows:

The month of April to date is showing a slackening off trend, but it would appear that with the future growth of the town being imminent we can expect the medical and surgical floors to be kept fairly full in the future," hospital administrator Fred Whittaker said this week.

The patient volume in the Georgetown and District Memorial Hospital's medical and surgical ward which has consistently overtaxed facilities there since the first of the year is easing off, but it's not likely it will drop back to the predictions of the last budget.

Kinser - Lee Wedding Vows In Holy Cross R.C. Church

In a ceremony in Holy Cross Roman Catholic Church on Wednesday, April 5, Father Zeno de Roo officiated at the marriage of Lynda Hazel Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lee, 24 Victoria Crescent, and Roger William Kinser, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kinser of Rosemount, Montreal.

The groom, who is a member of the Ontario Racing Association, is employed in Batavia, New York. He is a trainer and driver for DeRoo Farms, Montreal. The bride worked as a groom at Mohawk and Greenwood raceways, and before that at Georgetown Animal Clinic.

The bride's brother Gerry Lee and Joey Van Hoekelen were altar boys. Two deep sea tugs, Sudbury and Island Sovereign, towed 4 3,000 tankers from Balboa to Victoria, B.C., a distance of 4,000 miles.

Dr. Vicki Zavitz was matron of honour and the bride's sister Karen was bridesmaid. They wore floor length gowns of mint green delustrated satin featuring a floating back panel from the waist. The gowns were sleeveless and had scoop neck lines and empire waists. They carried circular nosegays of white and green carnations and wore tiaras with green veils to match their gowns.

Mrs. George C. Hewson was organist and played Ave Maria, Crimond and Brother James' Air and Mendelssohn's Wedding March during the service.

At a reception at the home of the bride's parents, her mother received wearing pink brocade, navy accessories and a corsage of blue roses. The groom's mother wore black lace, beige accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Doctor of Chiropractic Was Councillor And Dairyman

A member of Georgetown council in the forties, William Poynter Thompson, 70, died suddenly at his home, 27 George St. on April 12th.

Mr. Thompson was a Doctor of Chiropractic, a graduate of the Palmer School in Davenport, Iowa. Born at Massey, he was the son of William Welsh Thompson and Agnes Lee Scott.

He lived in Blind River as a boy, later moving with his family to Guelph, Toronto, and to Norval, where he farmed. He served overseas with the Canadian army in World War I, became a chiropractor after the war and practiced in northern Ontario for four years.

In 1927 he joined his father and brother Ernest in the Maple Leaf Dairy. They started the first pasteurization plant in Georgetown and the business was operated by the family until it was sold to Fred Steen several years ago.

Mr. Thompson had been a member of the Lions club, served on the county welfare board and when he was in northern Ontario was a Liberal organizer in the Algoma district. He attended First Baptist Church.

He leaves his wife, Marie Whaley, whom he married in Toronto, in 1928, five children, William of Barhead, Alberta, Keith of Georgetown, Dean of Ballinlad, Mrs. H. Graham, (Dona) of Hillsburgh and Mrs. R. Pearce (Barbara) of Edmonton, Alta. and ten grandchildren.

Rev. L. E. Willton conducted the funeral service on Saturday at the Harold C. McClure Funeral Home and interment was in Hillcrest Cemetery, Norval. The pallbearers were Douglas Cole, Douglas Hartley, Watson Winfield, Henry Sienko, Sid Silver, and Gerald Corbett, D.C.

Family Planning Clinic Possibility for Halton

A family planning clinic may become part of the Halton County Health Unit's program of service within a year, according to a report from Toronto.

Ontario Health Minister Matthew Dymond has gone on record as favoring the setting up of clinics by all of the province's health units.

Halton's acting medical officer of health Dr. Stuart said that so far no guidelines for the setting up of such a clinic have been received from the department. "I couldn't say when plans for such a clinic might begin. I would like to see the thing cleared under the law before I make any comment," he said.

Dr. Stuart referred to the fact that the Criminal Code of Canada presently forbids dissemination of birth control information.

Red Cross Campaign Near $3500 Objective With all receipts from Area Captains now received, the Red Cross Campaign Fund is just short of the target of $3,500—the balance stands at $3,465.

HOSPITAL NEWS by Les Clark A Board meeting was held last Thursday evening, with a good turnout. Routine business was dealt with and reports of the administrator and nursing director were heard, as were the various committee reports.

The Hospital, while still over what has been expected, is slightly down from its peak of a couple of months, where it was operating over 100 per cent at one stage.

While the patient load was down a bit, it would seem that we can never expect it to decrease too much from now on, administrator Fred Whittaker said. With the projected growth of the town any adequate estimate of the future needs of the hospital would be very difficult.

A number of donations were acknowledged, including two substantial cheques, from the W.A., and the other from Pauline's Flower Shop of quite a number of beautiful plants for the patients' rooms, at Easter time.

Many comments are heard about the new signs, installed in the corridors. These are most effective.

Propose Garbage Disposal Joint North Halton Effort

A central garbage dump for the North Halton municipalities of Georgetown, Acton and Milton was proposed as the likely answer to dump problems by Milton councillor Brian East at a North Halton Urban Board meeting Wednesday.

"Sooner or later I think we will end up with a central operation," the chairman of the county town's sanitation committee commented during a discussion on garbage.

Georgetown Reeve William Hunter said Georgetown would be all right dump-wise for at least four or five years. There is a considerable sanitary landfill site near the Credit River in the north end of town.

The town dump, a sore spot with councillors, has almost reached its full capacity. "There are only two or three months use left in it," Mayor Les Dube said.

Acton has been discussing the possibility of a new dump site on Esquacing territory. Another suggested method to cope with the problem was the purchase of an incinerator.

Warms Severe Penalties For Teen-Age Drinkers

Magistrate James Black warned in Halton court Wednesday that drinking teens will be dealt with severely and meted out two $100 fines to emphasize his point.

This court has tried for some time to impress upon persons under 21 that they must not break the laws under the liquor control act, the same as any other law," said the magistrate.

"There is no in-between step, no alternative, but to invoke the full penalties that are allowed under the Act — and they can be most severe."

Magistrate Black said he would in future take a much more serious view than in the past regarding teen drinkers.

"It can well be getting to the point where it is necessary to fine the full amount."

Brainerd, Meyn Paintings on Exhibit At House Sol

Two major exhibitions will open on April 29th, at Gallery House Sol, 300 Simcoe St., simultaneously, to continue to May 19th.

One will consist of oil paintings by Charlotte Brainerd, one of Toronto's finest artists and member of Printers '14.

Miss Brainerd has exhibited at House Sol for the last two years and hit the headlines of the Toronto newspapers, when she had a spectacular show last fall at the Pollock Gallery in Toronto.

Rolf Meyn is one of West Germany's foremost graphic artists and illustrators. His intimate etchings are the superlative of a highly refined artist personality.

This is his second show at Gallery House Sol, and consists of two series, one called the 'Gothic,' has as subject the cathedrals of Europe, the other, called the 'Persian' depicts Persia, where the artist lived for a year in the late fifties.
