

Air Pollution, Bankruptcy Targets in Shulman Talk

A large crowd heard ex-corporator and NDP candidate for High Park, Dr. Morton Shulman, attack air pollution, the Atlantic Finance collapse and the Conservative and Liberal parties Wednesday night in the high school.

Launching right into local affairs he stated: "I hear Domtar is smelling up your air". He related how Swifts and Canada Packers had been smelting up west Toronto for 35 years, with nobody doing anything about it. "With two phone calls and one visit to meat packing plants in Chicago, I found they had licked the problem and were amazed we were still putting up with it," he remarked.

He contended nothing had been done here, in Toronto or at International Nickel in Sudbury, simply because nobody had taken the trouble to find out. "It is either callousness or lack of knowledge," he added.

He suggested a local group like the sponsoring Georgetown Civic Group, telephone paper mills in the States, get their remedies then present them to Domtar. "You can tell them these New Democrat radicals might get in and force them to do it, so they'd better do it on their own," he quipped.

He emphasized other wrongs pass or may right themselves, but pollution ruins the natural heritage for years.

He reminded the group of the oil companies' ravage of California fifty years ago, until writer Upton Sinclair started bringing it to the public attention. "It took 25 years to bring the greenery back, but it has been done," said the ex-corporator.

He explained how the collapse of Atlantic Finance had not only cost the taxpayers one hundred million dollars but had ruined Canada's credit in the U.S. where a great deal of the money is borrowed.

In the question and answer period the answers came straight and fast from the NDP candidate. He was in favour of a capital gains tax. In a brief aside he maintained the provincial government bought the lots in Bramalea for $6,000 and sold them for $9,000.

"But if they had sold for less they would have been upsetting the price for the developers and that would never do," he added dryly.

He favoured the taxation of church property if it was not used for religious purposes, but not taxing if used for religious purposes. "Some of our churches own large office buildings and blocks of houses, these should be taxed," he replied.

One man simply wanted to know how to make a million. Dr. Shulman admitted perhaps everyone couldn't make a million but most could do better with their investments than they do. He suggested convertible bonds were the answer.

"Could the New Democratic party stop inflation?" came from the floor. A direct "No" was the answer. "I don't think anybody can stop inflation now."

In reply to another question, the speaker stated the only place for an injunction is where there is a need to control violence.

He advocated the reducing of municipal taxes on real estate, and establishing a capital gains tax and a stock transfer tax. "Instead of making a million I would have made three-quarters of a million," he laughed. "But the Conservative government's outlook is 'what is best for the insurance companies is best for the country.'"

He endorsed the Carter report, and admitted being a millionaire might have an adverse effect on voters. "It's a backlash," he commented.

To another question he answered that Canada could be politically independent but was already owned economically by the States. He urged the States be gradually taxed out of Canadian ownership.

John Bellamy in thanking the speaker stated, "most of us envy Shulman, first because he is a millionaire, and second because he told his boss what he thought of him." In conclusion he hoped Dr. Shulman's visit would arouse more interest in the Georgetown Civic Group.

Joseph Eves, 85, Was Native of England

An employee at the Cheltenham brickyard and Smith & Stone, Ltd. before his retirement, Joseph John Eves, 85, died in Georgetown hospital on September 5th. He came to Canada in 1912 and lived in Brampton, Cheltenham and Terra Cotta for the past 38 years.

Mr. Eves was born in Maldon, England and was a member of the Anglican church. He was a seaman before coming to Canada.

His wife, Edith Best, died in 1954. He leaves four children, Lillian of Terra Cotta, Charles of Detroit, Michigan, John of Brampton and Ida, Mrs. Albert Dawson of Georgetown; 13 grandchildren and 5 great-grandchildren; a brother John Eves of Maldon and sisters Mrs. Ethel Sargent of Maldon and Mrs. Ida Conway, Herts, England.

McClure Funeral Home and interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Georgetown. Pallbearers were Lorne Campbell, Stephen and Joseph Eves, Frank Marshall, Fred Best and Charles McNally.

Quarryman, Farmer David Stamp, 76, Dies

A man who had worked as a coal miner, farmer and stone quarryman, David Newton Stamp, 76, died in Georgetown hospital on September 16.

Mr. Stamp was a native of Lemington, England, where he attended public school. He was a member of the Lemington Workmen's Club and the Peaswood Institute there. He had played soccer in his youth and among his hobbies was pigeon raising.

Since emigrating from England he had been a resident of Glen Williams. He was a member of the United Church.

He leaves his wife, Mary Elizabeth Hunt; six children, Mrs. Roy Puckering (Nellie) of Glen Williams, Mrs. Ed Hill (Nora) of Toronto, David, Joseph and Arthur, Georgetown and Mrs. Hugh Cunningham (Marion) of Norval; 20 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren; and sisters Rachel, Annie, Mary, Cilla and Elenor, all of England. He was predeceased by a daughter Maisie and son Thomas.

Rev. Walter Ridley conducted the funeral service at the Harold C. McClure Funeral Home and interment was in Glen Williams Cemetery. Pallbearers were Harold Wheeler, Clayton Allen, Steve Norrie, George Speich, Nelson Handy and Joe Cavlovic, Milton.

HIGH SCHOOL BRIEFS

Something is going to be done about the tank range behind Georgetown District High School, which according to blueprints is supposed to be a playing field. At a board meeting Monday trustees ruled out discing and rolling it and decided on a scheme to put it into usable condition starting from scratch. Ernest Bodnar, a property committee member, principal Donald Turner, and William Carr, a land surveyor will put their heads together this week to lay out plans and specifications.

Imperial Oil Limited has been given the contract to supply fuel oil to the high school for the heating season. Their bid of 12.32 cents per gallon for 95,000 gallons was lowest of seven.

The house on the Jack Tost property on the east side of the high school, which recently became the school's through expropriation will be used partly as office space when Mr. Tost vacates at the end of the month. Business administrator Ernest Forgrave will occupy part of the house, and his office will become the principal's.

The high school's total enrollment figure climbed to 1147 this week. The increase over the first day registration was due mainly to an unusually large number of drop outs returning to the classroom. Principal Turner told the board Monday some had been out of school for as long as seven years.

The school's burgeoning teaching staff has created a minor problem in the staff room where the number of seats has been overlaken by the number of sitters. A dozen new chairs will take care of the standing room only crowd which this term swelled to 69.

It costs in the neighbourhood of $800 annually for senior officials at the high school's football and basketball games trustees learned Monday during a discussion on the state of the student council's bank account. Student council finances will be at an ebb this year because of increased expenses and a poorer response to the sale of student council cards to students. Cost of referees, for interschool events, and team uniforms comes out of the student council coffers. Last year the board shared the burden by taking on the cost of team transportation. Monday they agreed to give additional assistance when it comes time to prepare a new budget.

When did Niagara come into the picture?

A medical bill. A clothing bill. A car repair bill. They all seemed to come at once. Jack needed money in a hurry.
Answer: A Niagara Loan. Jack talked it over with the manager of the nearest Niagara Office. Besides getting the money, he got a lot of good advice on budgeting. With a Niagara Loan, Jack was able to pay all his bills at one time. And repay the loan on easy terms to suit his budget.
When you need extra money for any good reason, you can expect the same courteous, quick service at any one of 300 Niagara offices.

Government Now to Foot Entire Bill for Detention

The Ontario government's plan to assume the entire costs of penal institutions has halted out Halton and Peel Counties and their regional detention centre planned for a Hornby site.

It was announced at a meeting of Halton Council that the government was taking over the project entirely. Officials said the new minimum and maximum security prison would probably still be built at the Ninth Line Hornby site, but the Province is going to foot the bill.

Halton and Peel are even able to reclaim from the government the money expended to date on their share of the project. This includes the costs of expropriating the farm and committee fees for meetings held to discuss the plan. Originally, the two counties were to share half the cost on an assessment basis, with the Province picking up the other half of the tab. The new jail would replace antiquated jail facilities in Milton and Brampton, both over a century old.

The Province's move to take over all costs of detention centres is a direct result of the Smith report on taxation in Ontario, councillors noted.

School Hires Haley As Security Officer

Roy Haley, who resigned as Chief Constable of Georgetown's Police Department over a month ago is Georgetown District High School's new security officer.

He started the job at the commencement of the school term.

The position was created by the high school board to combat perpetual malicious damage and to establish a system of control over persons entering and leaving the school building after school hours.

Since the system began classroom doors have been locked at 4 p.m. and outside doors at 5 p.m.

The security officer has been given the authority of a teacher in dealing with students.

Tells Ashgrove Institute About Summer Israel Trip

The International meeting of the W.I. was held in the basement of the Church on Tuesday evening, Sept. 19 with about fifty members and their husbands attending and a few visitors.

President Mrs. John Ruddell opened with the hymn 526. Roll call was answered by naming a famous citizen and his or her contribution to his country. Mrs. Hector Bird gave some thoughts on Safety. Delegates were appointed to the area convention in Guelph later in October. Donations of $3.00 each will be sent to the Mental Health and to the Muscular Dystrophy Cause.

Mrs. Frank Wilson was in charge of the program and called on Mrs. Percy Cox for the motto: "Goodwill, friendship, and understanding are essential for good international relationship."

Mrs. Francis Thompson sang the 'Hymn of all Nations' after which the guest of the evening John McGee of Norval entertained with slides of his trip to Israel this past summer. The colored pictures were very beautiful and as they were being shown he told some of the history and problems of the country. They are very modern and have shopping centres and Loblaw's and many things familiar to us. John was representing the 4H Clubs for Canada. He has such a fine record in school and club work that he was picked for this trip. He left on July 5th and enjoyed a few days at Expo before going to New York and boarding the plane for Israel. Mrs. John McNabb thanked John for his interesting pictures and talk and also Mrs. Wilbert Cleave for the use of her projector. The meeting closed with a social hour.

Mrs. Maurice Dixon of Kapuskasing visited last week-end with her mother, Mrs. R. J. Graham and her sister, Mrs. Fred Nurse and family.
