

Hair Raising Contest Won By A Whisker

It was showdown time for the "bush" leaguers at the fair Saturday and Fred Ruddell, R.R. 3 Georgetown emerged the champion by a whisker.

Five beard contestants displayed their facial foliage for judgment.

Contestants rode in the parade on an open truck.

Fred Ruddell won double honours being chosen winner in the Full Beard class and then taking the Grand Championship. Myles Gilson had the Best Trimmed Beard. Other contestants were Muff Hunter, Tom James and David McDonald.

A Centennial Coin Collection was the grand prize. Class winners got cuff link and tie tacs and other entrants received two Centennial dollars each — to "get a shave" according to one of the judges.

Open House To Highlight Girl Guide Local Activities

In the 1966-67 season about 500 girls were registered in the Girl Guide Movement in Georgetown and more can be expected this year with the expansion of housing developments. Like other Youth Groups the Movement has been handicapped by lack of sufficient leaders and meeting places.

In order that the public may be made more aware of the Girl Guide Movement in Georgetown an Open House is being held on Thursday, September 28 at St. Andrew's Church, Sinclair Avenue, Mountainview Road, for anyone interested in learning more about them.

Founded in 1910, by the late Right Honourable Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell, Girl Guiding provides opportunities for girls between the ages of 7 and 18 to have fun and adventure, to prepare themselves to lead happy useful lives; to become capable home-makers and good citizens. The observance of the Promise and Law develops integrity and a desire to be of service to others.

Membership in the Movement is voluntary. It is open to all girls and women who accept the Promise and Law and the fundamental principles laid down by the Founder.

The Movement is non-political and it desires to co-operate with other educational organizations.

Guiding is based on spiritual values. Each member is encouraged to respect the religious beliefs of others and to know and practice the teachings of her own religion.

The Brownie, Guide and Ranger programmes are entities in themselves, yet they lead on to each other in natural progression.

Camping and outdoor activities provide healthy, adventurous recreation and develop initiative, self-reliance and resourcefulness.

International friendship and understanding is encouraged and developed through correspondence and the exchange of visits with Girl Guides and Girl Scouts in other countries.

A Brownie Pack consists of usually 24 girls aged 7-10 and is run by a Brownie leader, called a Brown Owl, and her assistant, Tawny Owl. Tests, games, songs, stories and Pack ceremonies are designed to stimulate the imagination. Teaching is accomplished by means of fun and Pack activities with special emphasis on helping at home.

A Guide Company consists of 36 girls between the ages of 10 and 14 under the leadership of a Blue Guide, called a Captain and her assistant a Lieutenant.

Guides are run on a Patrol system and this method of organization is the backbone of the Guide Company. The Company is divided into groups of six to eight girls of mixed ages called Patrols. There are usually 4 to 5 Patrols in a Company each with its own Guide leader called the Patrol Leader, who is assisted by a Patrol Second.

The Patrol Leader takes an important part in planning Company activities. As a member of the Court of Honour (the executive of the Company) it is the Patrol Leader's duty to express the views of her Patrol and to report to the Patrol the decisions and plans made at Court of Honour.

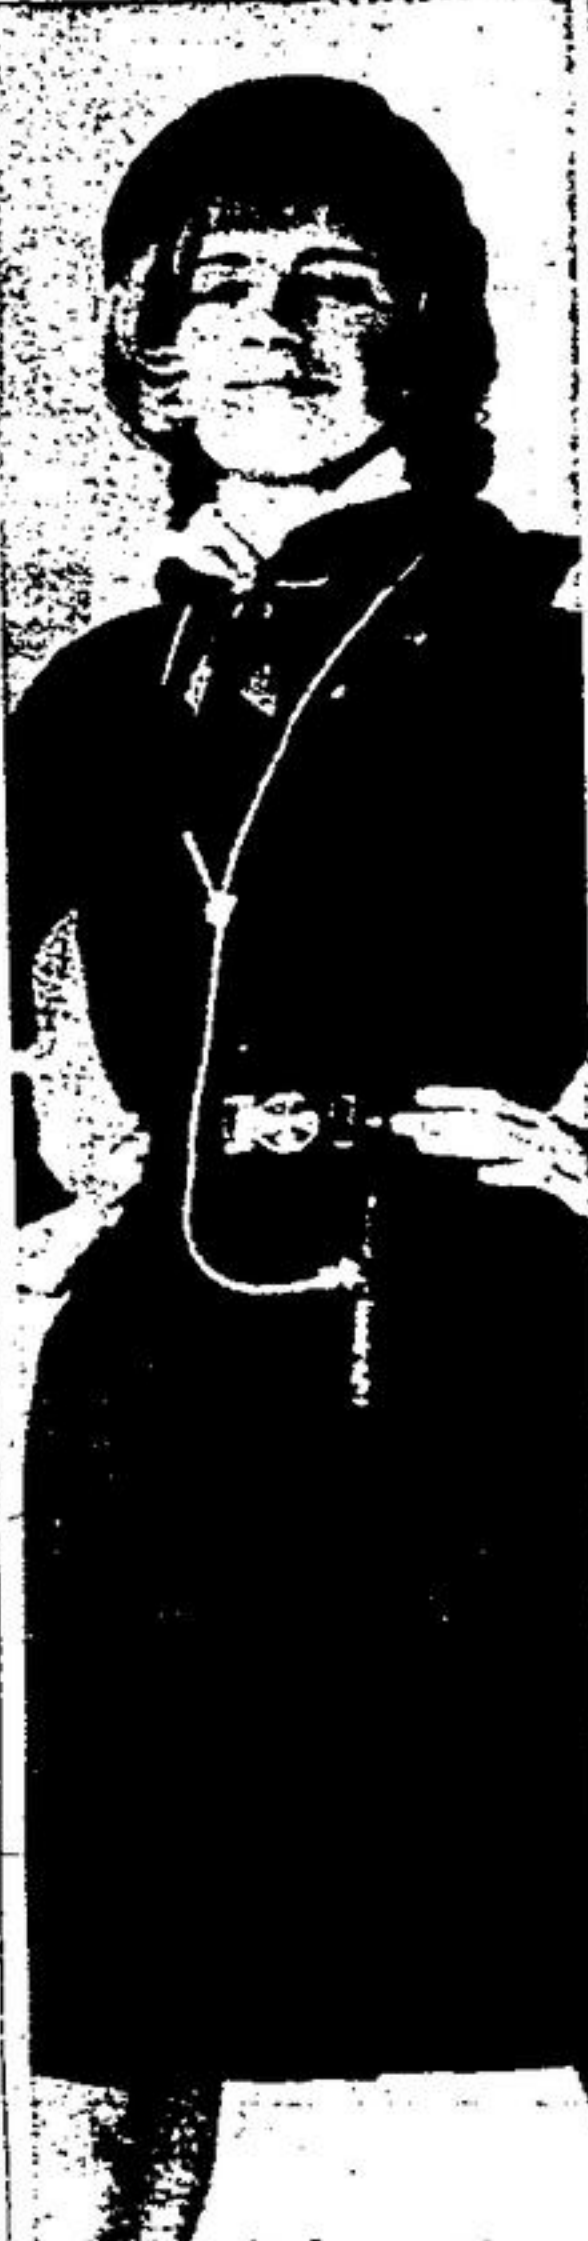

This pattern is intended to stress individual development and intelligent co-operation and to afford some experience in carrying out group activities.

Tests and badges are designed to foster creativeness and an interest in useful crafts and skills and to develop character.

The senior branch, Rangers comprises girls aged between 14 and 18. There are three branches, Air, Land and Sea Rangers. Each Ranger group is under the adult leadership of a Captain and her assistant a Lieutenant.

The Ranger Branch has been called "the nursery of national service". Rangers are urged to serve the community through organizations such as welfare centres, day nurseries or hospitals and to broaden their interests to include citizenship, international friendship, art and literature, first aid and home nursing, woodcraft, homecraft and health. Ranger tests demand a sustained effort and an adult approach.

Several Georgetown Rangers are active Candy Strippers at the Georgetown Hospital and have acted as First Aid Aides at different community functions.

Dear Mr. Editor:

May I on behalf of the board which administers Cedarvale Centennial Community Centre ask the indulgence of the citizens who use the facilities to bear with us while we are in the process of making changes particularly in connection with parking. These things cannot be accomplished overnight and the task presents many problems. However, please be assured that the current situation is not permanent.

Yours very truly,

Glen Mail Delivery Begins October 2nd

The big news this week is the announcement that mail delivery in the village will begin on October 2nd.

All the nice new mail boxes of various kinds are up and all the houses numbered and all set for delivery.

A great many will miss that daily walk to the post office and the chatting with friends along the way, not to mention getting caught up on all the latest bits of news.

And oh, how the postmaster will miss those children rushing in at noon from school.

St. Alban's Church held their Harvest Home Service last Sunday morning, Sept. 17th. The church was beautifully decorated by the young people. The newly installed kneeling-pads were used for the first time at that service.

At the time of writing, Mrs. Kate Smith is in Georgetown Hospital. We hope she will soon be feeling fine again.

Saturday was an ideal fall fair day and the parade was excellent.

We extend congratulations and best wishes to Lynda Williams of Georgetown and Joe Drake who will be married this Saturday in St. John's United Church.

Terra Cotta Women Tour School for Deaf

On September 20th, members of Terra Cotta Women's Institute were taken on a tour of the Ontario School for the Deaf, Milton, by the superintendent.

Members are seeking a leader to accompany Mrs. F. Lyons to go to the training school 'Baking with Yeast'. Members went to a neighbouring restaurant for refreshments.

WHO WOULD WANT TO? It is illegal to hunt bear with a .22 calibre rifle.

They saw many of the classrooms and shops, the gym, auditorium and swimming pool. It was of interest that the students are in residence and the only expense to them is clothing, pocket money and transportation. Mrs. Lee Campbell moved a vote of thanks for the tour.

At a business meeting in the school lounge it was decided to give a donation for related children, a project of the central Ontario area. Mrs. A. O. MacDonald was appointed a delegate to the November convention.

Senior-Citizen Club Planning Colour Tour

CONVICTED OF THEFT—NOW FACES ARSON CHARGE

Two days before he was scheduled to be sentenced for stealing 40 baskets of mushrooms from his employer a Georgetown man appeared in county court Wednesday charged with a more serious offence, arson, and a second theft.

The man was arrested last week and charged with stealing less than $50 from a restaurant and setting fire to a bale of hay belonging to his employer Georgetown Meadowglen Mushrooms Ltd.

He had been convicted Sept. 10 of stealing mushrooms from Meadowglen but the company had said it was willing to give him a second chance and keep him on as an employee.

When the accused appeared for sentence Wednesday on the first offence Magistrate James Black said he would not pass sentence until he received a psychiatric report on him.

The man was sent to the Ontario Hospital for 60 days after which he will return to court for sentencing on the first offence and trial on the other two.

Another Georgetown man also convicted Sept. 10 as an accomplice in the mushroom theft, also appeared for sentence Wednesday.

He was fined $50 plus costs and was ordered to repay $50 to Meadowglen within 60 days.
