THE STARS SAY

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

A good day! Especially favored are business and financial interests, successful negotiations involving long-range ventures. Since the daylight hours will probably be pretty active, make it a point to have some relaxation in the evening. Avoid hectic social affairs.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your outlook for the next year is very promising indeed. Occupational and monetary gains are indicated and, with the exception of a brief period in mid-July, personal relationships will be under beneficent aspects. You are currently in a cycle in which your spirit of enterprise should be at a peak and where, according to the stars, the time has come for pursuing your most ambitious plans—especially those of long-range value. Promised high spots for accomplishment: The period between now and March 31st, next July, September and October.

Well-wishers in job, social and family circles will be of assistance in furthering your interests this year, and there is every indication that before another 12 months have slipped off the calendar, you will find both personal and business affairs in a very sound position. Best periods for romance: The balance of this month, January, May, late June and late July, for travel and enlivening social activities: The period between now and mid-January, next July and August. Do not let a possible change of environment in mid-July cause you any dismay. All signs point to such a change turning out definitely for the better.

A child born on this day will be endowed with the talents required to make a successful business executive, financier or fashion designer.

Coal Beats Cow Manure

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—India's coal mining industry, with more deposits at its disposal than it can conceivably ever use, is meeting strong domestic competition from the country's traditional rural fuel: cow manure.

In the countryside, where most of India's population still lives, women cling to the centuries-old custom of collecting cow manure to make into flat cakes which are left to dry in the sun. After two to three days these cakes are mixed with firewood, and provide an excellent free fuel.

Even in the centre of Delhi slum dwellers still tour the streets collecting cow manure for use as fuel.

"We are doing everything we can to popularize coal, but it is hard work," a spokesman for the ministry of coal, mines and metals said. "People have been using cow dung for so long that they see no reason why they should give up this free product and pay for coal."

India produced 70,000,000 tons of coal in 1966 but home consumption amounted to less than 15 per cent. The remainder was used by industry and the railways. Coal reserves total 120,000,000,000 tons.
