TO NEW HOME

MRS. ROBERT Stanfield, wife of the national PC leader, left Tuesday to begin work on her new home—a three-story grey stucco mansion in Ottawa called Stornoway. Located in Ottawa's fashionable suburb of Rockcliffe, Stornoway, the wartime home of Queen Juliana of The Netherlands, is the official residence of the leader of the opposition.

Teresa Strates Plays Gretel

BY MILES A. SMITH

NEW YORK (AP) — Toronto-born Teresa Strates is a delightful Gretel in the Metropolitan Opera's new production of Humperdinck's Hansel and Gretel.

The diminutive soprano looked and acted like a flouncing young girl as she gave a convincing performance in the fairy tale work recently. Few other singers would fit the role so well.

Mezzo-soprano Rosalind Elias as Hansel was a boyishly able foil for Miss Strates' charm.

Baritone Karl Doench had the role of the witch, which usually is sung by a soprano or mezzo. Made up as an old hag he played the part with the sort of broad, child-appealing humor that you see in a puppet show, and the result was a strengthening of the characterization.

Designer Robert O'Hearn and director Nathaniel Merrill have collaborated to make this production fairly close to a movie-land fantasy, pointing up the theatrical rather than the musical nature of the opera.

The scenes in the woodland are filled with Halloween hobgoblins, many of the costumes are bizarre, the stage effects are tricky, and the acting is exaggerated. For contrast there is one dream scene in which angels swoop down from the wings to stand guard over the lost children.

TO-DAY IN HISTORY

Nov. 8, 1967... A chartered Constellation airliner crashed 10 miles southeast of Richmond, Va., six years ago today—in 1961—killing 77 army recruits and three crew members. Two other crew members survived the crash.

1731—Franklin founded the library of Philadelphia.

1864—Abraham Lincoln was re-elected president of the U.S.

First World War
Fifty years ago today—in 1917—the Austro-German army crossed the Livenza River and outflanked the Italian rearguard; Gen. Armando Diaz replaced Gen. Luigi Cadorna as commander of the Italian armies; and a permanent inter-allied military commission was formed.

Second World War
Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942—the Russian counter-attacks were successful against Nazi forces in the western Caucasus.
