

Improvements Suggestion Brings Hydro Man $99.

Thinking about technical improvements that could be made and then submitting his ideas paid off well for an Ontario Hydro instrument mechanic at Lakeview Generating Station.

Gerry B. Callaghan, 32, of 12 Dufferin Street, Georgetown, who formerly lived in Port Credit, is $99 richer. He submitted his ideas to the Ontario Hydro suggestion plan. He suggested that individual felt rings should be used in the oxygen analyzer for analyzing flue gas to insure efficient boiler operation at this big coal-fired thermal electric power plant.

The idea was tried out and proved to be effective. Gerry was presented with the Hydro suggestion award certificate and a cheque for $99, by John Korzekwa, P. Eng., assistant station superintendent of Lakeview G.S.

"The $99 cheque came at a handy time just before Christmas. My wife, Helen, and our four children will be delighted," said Gerry Callaghan.

Study Programs, Not Promote Civic Groups New Year's Aim

Georgetown District Civic Group will emphasize the study of programs rather than their promotion in 1968.

At a meeting in Cedarvale Community Centre Monday, November 13, the civic group discussed the new policy and assigned responsibility for gathering information on particular topics to individual members and sub-committees.

Various suggestions were made in connection with publicizing the Group and recruiting new members. John Elliott was commissioned to contact service clubs, and Dix Simpson to head the membership sub-committee.

The urgent need for an East end park was discussed. An enquiry had been addressed to the Planning Board about the available public open spaces and plans for their development, but no reply had been received. Scott McLagan was appointed to look into the parks situation, and Jim Warren other Recreation facilities.

The Group felt it should be better informed about the work of Council, and that present councillors probably had an excessive amount of work to do. The appointment of the new town engineer seemed to be a step towards professional management in the Town administration, and the time might be ripe for an appointment of a town manager. Such appointments would cause a sharp increase in salaries, and could be justified only if they saved money in the long run. Steve Saxe was appointed to report on council proceedings, and John Bellamy on the town manager question.

The aims of the Group are to stimulate interest in civic affairs and to study and promote programs of benefit to the district.

Traffic hazards and the lack of traffic signs at certain points in town came under fire, but it appeared that some of these had recently been corrected. Suspicion was voiced that the recent changes in speed limit on Guelph and Maple had more concern with revenue than safety. Scott McLagan was appointed to study the general transportation position.

County Ag. Rep. Explains How Beef Prices Get That Way

by H. J. Stanley

Why does beef cost $1.00 or more per pound, in the store, when the farmer only receives 30c or less? This is a question which often puzzles the consumer.

Last week this question was discussed with members of the Royal Winter Fair Livestock Judging Teams by a Packer and a representative from the Meat Packers Council of Canada. Following is a breakdown of a 1,000 lb. Choice Grade steer sold for 30c a pound, or $300.

The Packer receives at present 15 per cent of the total value of the animal for the by-products. These include the hide, edible fat, liver, tongue, blood, heart, tripe, etc. The average cost of killing and processing the steer is approximately 19 per cent of the cost. Thus, crediting the steer with the value of the by-products and adding on the costs of processing, the value of the carcass is now $312. During the past year, the value of by-products has declined by almost 50 per cent. With normal or high prices for by-products, the Packer can sell the carcass to the retailer at a lower cost than is paid to the farmer for the live animal.

The 148 lb. front yields 103 lb. of edible meat, which now averages 65c a lb. Similarly, when the rear is cut up, the average loss is 34 per cent leaving 90 lb. of edible meat, worth 99c a pound on the average. Some cuts must be sold considerably above this figure, and others below. These values do not include the costs incurred by the retailer in cutting, boning, advertising and selling the beef.

Thus, a 1,000 lb. choice grade steer can be expected to yield some 386 lb. of meat for your table.

Norval Lights "Archaic" Patterson Asks for Survey

Esqueusing Councillor Pat Patterson called for a survey of Norval's street lighting system with cost estimates over twenty years at a township council meeting Monday, Nov. 13th.

"The lighting system is archaic. It consists of 100 watt bulbs and one or two mercury vapour lamps," claimed Cr. Patterson. "I would like to see the hydro assess the system costs."

Clerk-treasurer K. C. Lindsay said hydro has already quoted a figure of $175 for each replacement of an incandescent lamp with a mercury vapour unit.

A suggestion to have the Norval lights serviced by Georgetown Hydro Commission disclosed Georgetown had been approached in the past to provide rural street light service but had turned thumbs down because it would mean paying

With the normal dressing percentage of 57 per cent, the carcass of 570 lb. would be worth 54c a pound. The front quarter weight 52 per cent of the total weight of the side of beef, or 148 pounds, and could be offered to the retailer at 45c a pound. The rear quarter at 137 lb. could be offered at 65c a pound. This would give a combined value of the beef side of 54c a pound.

When the front is received by the retailer, it must be cut up, trimmed of excessive fat and boned, with an average loss of 30 per cent on cut-out. Thus,

Gordon Tate, Betty Youngblut Wed in Knox Church, Auburn

Baskets of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and lighted white candelabra made a pretty setting in Knox United Church, Auburn when Elizabeth (Betty) Mae Youngblut became the bride of Gordon Tate of Georgetown, on Saturday, Nov. 4.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Youngblut, RR 1 Auburn and the groom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Tate of Toronto.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. M.R. Roberts and the organist was Mrs. Gordon Gross, R R 1, Auburn. The soloist was Elliott Lapp.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white velvet featuring an empire waistline with chapel train. The bodice was covered with lace and had long lily point sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white stephanotis.

Mrs. Gary Smith, Stratford, was matron of honour wearing a floor-length dress of empire green velvet featuring an empire waistline and A-line skirt, matching shoes and long over the elbow white gloves. Her matching velvet bow with net formed her headpiece and she carried a bouquet of yellow and bronze mums.

Miss Cathie McLarty of Goderich was her cousin's bridesmaid wearing a floor-length dress of gold velvet featuring an empire waist, A-line skirt, matching gold shoes and gold velvet bow headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow and bronze mums.

Groomsman was James Payne of Brampton, cousin of the groom and the ushers were Barrie Youngblut, R R 1, Caledon East and Douglas Youngblut of Brantford, brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the parlor of Knox United Church which was decorated with yellow and bronze mums and roses with white and yellow streamers.

Assisting the wedding party in receiving the guests was the bride's mother wearing a two-piece teal blue dress with shocking pink accessories. Her corsage of white carnations were tipped with shocking pink. She was assisted by Mrs. Bert Colman of Georgetown, aunt of the groom, wearing a two-piece dress of pink lace with turquoise accessories. Her white carnation corsage was tipped with turquoise.

For a wedding trip to southern Ontario, the bride donned a

On their return they will reside at 97 Raylawn Crescent, Georgetown. Guests were present from Toronto, Georgetown, Brampton, Brantford, Caledon, East, Hamilton, St. Thomas and Stratford.

At the same meeting council:

- Heard their representative on the Credit Valley Conservation Authority Cr. Tom Hill read a letter from Dr. Harry Harley explaining the federal government does not provide grants for dredging projects.
- Heard contents of a letter from Milton Brick disclaiming blame for faulty brickwork on the Esqueusing Township Municipal Building. The company claimed the best quality bricks available had been used because of the firm's location in Esqueusing Township.
