Flu Prevalent, But No Epidemic, M.O.H. Says

Although the Health Unit has not placed the current high rate of flu in the epidemic category the bug is still keeping an unusually large number of students from school and workers from their jobs.

Dr. H. B. Hay, chief medical officer of Health for Halton County does not consider the flu outbreak "an epidemic" but admitted the numbers of those stricken are "running quite a bit higher than this time last year."

"I can not give figures percentage wise because reports are filtering in slowly," he said. "The number of absentees in the schools has not been such Dr. Hay said for schools to 'consult me about the possibility of closing down.'"

Public School trustees learned Wednesday that widespread illness such as is currently affecting pupil and teacher attendance will no longer affect the amount of grant from Queen's Park. Under a new system, provincial grants to schools boards will be based on average enrolment figured monthly. Up until now grant was based on attendance.

Area school inspector O. G. McDowell told trustees that the regional superintendent of schools will ask county school boards sometime this week to select a representative to sit on a steering committee which will assist in bringing about the formation of a single county board of education. The transition of school administration in the county from many boards to a single board will be made before January, 1969.

Mr. McDowell said school inspectors were told in a recent meeting with the deputy minister of education their jobs will terminate with the regional boards system. He said they have been guaranteed employment by the province in some capacity.

A native of Trinidad, Artemas Jettan, was engaged to teach on the Park Public school staff effective Jan. 3rd.

Mrs. Nellie Gardner, a former teacher who has been the public school board's appointed to the Georgetown Library board since 1950 has resigned. The board accepted her resignation with regret and appointed Mrs. Alice Mintern her replacement for a three year term.

Mrs. Irene Curry was re-appointed attendance officer.

"I can sympathize, changing schools is no joke," trustee Harry Shortill commented when Mr. and Mrs. Ed Paris, 77 Maple Ave. West, asked in a letter that their daughter be allowed to remain at Park school though they are moving to R.R. 2, Georgetown. The board granted the request, provided they agree to paying a non-resident's fee.

The matter of ballet being added as an extra curricular activity in the public schools were referred to the principal's association for their opinions.

In a letter to the board, Donna Haynes, 27 McFinnery Cres., listed her qualifications and offered instruction. She pointed out some Metro public schools have been offering ballet for several years.

The total public school enrolment continues to spiral upward. Figures presented Wednesday showed 2,641 pupils at the end of December, 29 more than at the end of November.

The experimental pupil-traffic control lights on Rexway drive opposite Harrison Public School have done the job they were designed for — replacing the school's public safety patrol. Trustees mentioned their approval when George Kennedy public school principal Hazel A. Robertson, vice president and general manager of Lomtar Fine Paper Ltd., said: "The introduction of this new look across Canada and at all levels within the company will better enable us to identify with the Domtar group and, by more accurately describing our company's business, the change of name should strengthen our position within the industry."

Administrative offices of Domtar Fine Papers Ltd. will remain in the Sun Life Building in Montreal.

Howard Smith Paper Mills, founded more than fifty years ago, was acquired by Domtar in 1961. Mills located in Toronto, St. Catharines, Cornwall, and Georgetown, Ontario, Quebec, produce over 800 grades of paper for the graphic arts and paper converting industries.

Marketing and production facilities formerly operated as the Howard Smith Division of Domtar Pulp and Paper Limited have been renamed Domtar Fine Papers Ltd. The change becomes effective January 1. The Howard Smith name will continue to be used as promotional identification for some of the company's grades of fine papers.

The change of name is part of a programme to update the corporate style of all companies in the Domtar group. J. H. Robertson, vice president and general manager of Lomtar Fine Paper Ltd., said: "The introduction of this new look across Canada and at all levels within the company will better enable us to identify with the Domtar group and, by more accurately describing our company's business, the change of name should strengthen our position within the industry."

Wed in Acton, Couple Now Live in Georgetown

A double ring wedding ceremony in Both-El Christian Reformed church at four o'clock Dec. 2nd, joined in marriage Janet Annette Hofstede and Grant Albert Cousins.

The bride, a stenographer at Northern Electric, Brampton, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hofstede, 36 Scene St., Acton. The groom, a supervisor at Northern Electric, is the son of Mrs. D. Cousins and the late A. Cousins, 54 Elliott St., Brampton.

Rev. P. Brouwer conducted the ceremony and Mrs. J. Krul played the organ. The church was decorated with bouquets of white gladioli, white chrysanthemums and red carnations.

The solemn, Henry Van Stralen sang "The Lord is My Shepherd."

The bride chose a sleeveless gown of nylon organza with rose point-lace bodice worn under a coat which fell into a chapel train. The coat had lily point sleeves and Empire waistline.

She carried a cascade of red roses and stephanotis with white net and lace. She wore a gold pendant which had belonged to her grandmother 60 years ago.

Flower girl was Miss Irene Hofstede, sister of the bride, who wore a similar turquoise dress, white gloves and silver shoes, and carried a white basket of yellow carnations and white pom-pom mums.

Kent Cousins, a nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

Groomsman was Ron Cousins, brother of the groom, and the ushers were A. Cousins, brother of the groom, and H. Hofstede, brother of the bride. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

At the evening reception in the church, many guests were welcomed from Acton, Alliston, Barrie, Brampton, Georgetown, Lucknow, Fergus, Michigan, Napanee, Kingston and Toronto.

The mother of the bride received wearing a lime green A-line dress of crepe, black accessories, white feather hat with black net and a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress with black accessories, pink hat and corsage of pink carnations.

The couple left on a honeymoon trip to Miami, Florida, the bride wearing a two piece knitted turquoise suit and yellow rose corsage. They are living at 97 Raylawn Cres. in Georgetown.

Several gatherings honored the bride before the wedding. On Nov. 18, a cup and saucer shower was held for relatives at the groom's mother's home.

On November 23 neighbours held a Tupperware shower at the home of Mrs. F. Pink of Acton.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. D. Van Stralen, Mrs. S. Vilettra and Mrs. A. Leferink at the Van Stralen home on November 27th.

The bride and groom were presented with gifts from 160 employees at Northern Electric.

Who thinks up new wrinkles for getting rid of old ones, in slacks and sheets and fabrics of all kinds?

Nothing is perfect. This fact has helped Dominion Textile become a leader in the Canadian textile industry. Because it means there must be ways to improve almost every fabric. Dominion Textile is constantly searching for these ways.

New and better techniques, new and better ways of doing things, new and better fabrics. From Tex-Made, the fabric people.

And finding quite a few of them. Slacks that keep the press in and the creases out. Sheets you never have to iron.
