Georgetown Scouts Looking Forward to Kelso Jamboree

On August 17, 3,500 residents including some from Georgetown will move into a huge 1,000 tent town at the Kelso Conservation Area near Milton, Ontario (32 miles west of Toronto).

Planning has been underway for two years. Services provided include medical, sanitation, post office, telephone, shops, a tent supermarket from which residents will procure daily needs. Electrical power will be distributed via a half mile specially installed line. Thirty-five thousand gallons of water will flow daily through a three-quarter mile water line to quench the thirst of working and playing Scouts who will be enjoying an experience in brotherhood.

For one week Scouts and leaders from across Ontario from each province, the United States and some Caribbean countries, will have an opportunity to participate in Scouting skills, field sports, hobbies, tours, demonstrations, water sports and many other boy-centred activities.

A highlight of the Jamboree will be 'Youth and His Ambitions' featuring vocations of the future. 'Youth and His Dreams' will depict some thrilling aspects of education. Another pavilion will feature 'Youth and His Leisure.' The Brotherhood of Man centre will allow the Scout to explore his faith and provide an opportunity for him to mix with some of Canada's interesting ethnic citizens. 'Youth and His Music' will be a real swinging corner.

The Jamboree will be open to visitors from 2:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. daily.
