Two Georgetown district Scouts will be Yukon bound in August. Bob Pelletier of 4th Georgetown Venturer Company, and John Nurse of 1st Ashgrove Scout Troop will represent the district at the Northern Jamboree near Whitehorse.

They'll assemble with the Ontario contingent before travelling by train to Edmonton where they'll board a plane for the hop to the top of the country.

Bob Pelletier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Pelletier, 6 Norton Crescent is 17 and in grade 12 at Georgetown District High School. A veteran of 10 years of Scouting, his interests lie in hunting, fishing, golfing and competitive sports. His leaders at 4th Georgetown are George Ventry and John Schwinghamer.

ers are Roy Beadle and Wes Anthony.

An active 4-H member John also likes to hunt and travel. He also has a younger sister and a younger brother who is also a member of 1st Ashgrove troop.

The district was originally to have been represented by one Scout, but the proficiency of the two was so high selectors arranged for both to carry the Georgetown district colours to the far north.

I often think that it must seem strange to citizens of those countries which are still struggling to obtain free voting in a general election, that Canadians must be urged to use the vote that they have enjoyed for so many years. For more than half a century — since 1917 when women were granted the vote in federal elections — all adult Canadians have enjoyed this freedom to vote. The secret ballot was introduced in Canada in New Brunswick in 1855 and voting by secret ballot was adopted in federal elections in 1874. Before this, qualified voters (men over 21) called out their choice at the polls. First vote for women in Canada were allowed in 1884. In that year widows and spinsters in Ontario were given the ballot in municipal elections. The privilege of voting has a long history in Canada. Perhaps that is why the duty that goes with this privilege is sometimes overlooked. Thousands, indeed most of us who will be voting in our federal election next week, know nothing of the struggle to obtain the vote — a struggle which is still going on in many countries. JUNE 20th we have the chance to vote for the government we feel will best lead Canada

FREEDOM TO VOTE, IT'S BOTH A PRIVILEGE & A DUTY

What help can you get that Will work overtime without extra pay? Will take care of a thousand errands and never complain? Is always ready to be of service? Will never speak unless spoken to? Can speed across town or across the continent in seconds? Your telephone, of course. It's always there, always ready to help you accomplish more. For business and for pleasure it is always your willing servant.

Ever doodle while talking on the phone? Be careful those little scribbles can really give you away. Psychologists say if you draw squares and checkerboards, you're logical and emotionally stable; animals and birds, you're affectionate and understanding. Boats mean that you are energetic and love freedom, while drawing arrows points out that your goals are high. Circles show that you're a daydreamer; flowers and trees reveal that you're lonely; sketching facial features shows that you appreciate beauty. Which one are you?

DRIVE CAREFULLY — SCHOOLS WILL BE OUT SOON

... SO WILL THE YOUNGSTERS!
