

SUMMERTIME SOLDIERS

Officer cadet Larry Stief, 20, at left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stief, 44 Main St. N., Georgetown, an infantry officer trainee scans the field searching for a weak link in the enemy's forward line. Working toward receiving his commission in the rank of lieutenant, he is on an infantry exercise at Canadian Forces Base, Borden, Ontario, forming an important part of his officer training at the Base. Now at the middle portion of his officer training course at Borden, he still has another even more difficult phase of training lasting several months to complete before being considered for receiving the Queen's commission.

Below, facing an unknown enemy ahead, Lorne Scotts go into a tactical huddle prior to the offensive during an exercise in which the Royal Regiment acts as the enemy. Lt. R. E. Goddard, centre, of Cooksville, platoon commander, checks maps of the area with, from left, Sgt. Steve Ewing, Georgetown; Sgt. Fred Hawkins, Bramalea; Private Marshall Hansen, Georgetown, and Private Dennis Wardell, Georgetown.

Use Phoney $20 As Bait In Trick

BRAMPTON—Elderly Brampton residents are warned today by Brampton police of a new racket operating in town aimed at relieving them of their pension cheque money.

Seven telephone calls have already been reported to police, all made to senior citizens from persons purporting to be bank inspectors.

The new-twist racket is playing on recent news stories that counterfeit $20 bills have been found in this area.

The caller asks the senior citizen if he or she has yet cashed the government pension cheque, said Detective Sergeant James Harding this morning.

If the answer is yes, he said, the caller asks if the cash contains any $20 bills and, if so, asks their serial numbers.

The caller then advises the pensioner that a bank official will call to check whether the bills are counterfeit.

"So far as we know, no one has lost any money yet," said Detective Sergeant Harding.

"His calls yesterday were to set up people so he can call later. These people could well be approached again by the caller to pick up the notes."

A second approach made by the swindler is to say there had been a bank robbery in Montreal and banks here were trying to locate missing bills.

"Police feel that news stories of previous attempts by bogus bank inspectors to defraud the elderly are helping this time."

"That publicity is really paying off now," said Detective Sergeant Harding. "Most of those who were approached were suspicious and others became annoyed after mentioning the calls to friends."

"People are reminded," said Detective Sergeant Harding, "to report immediately any calls of this nature to the police department. In this way the problem will be eliminated before anyone gets caught."

Insects New To Ontario Brought In By The Wind

By H.G. NORRY
Agricultural Representative

Two insects that are relatively new to this area are of concern to farmers. One of these is the alfalfa weevil, the other is the cereal leaf beetle. These two insects have in common the fact that they are widely spread in many of the States of the U.S.A. and they are being carried to Ontario farms by wind and by their flight.

The alfalfa weevil was found in 1967 in a few counties close to the American border. These counties included Welland, Haldimand and Norfolk.

Their presence is more widespread this year and damage has been noted in Peel, York and Ontario counties. So far, damage has been slight and chemical control has been expensive. Early cutting of alfalfa, which gives the sun and the birds a better chance to kill the larvae, seems to be the best answer.

The cereal leaf beetle has been found mainly in Essex county. One beetle was found in 1965. By 1967 the beetles were widely distributed over an area of 70 square miles in Essex county. The larvae of this beetle look like slugs and the damage that they do is something similar. The adults have a bluish black head and wing covers and a reddish orange thorax. The Department of Agriculture are interested in knowing if this beetle spreads to new locations. If you see it, please report it.

Hepburn-King Wedding in Knox Presbyterian Church

Standards of white gladioli and pink snapdragons decorated Knox Presbyterian Church on June 29 for the marriage of Shirley Evelyn King, daughter of Mrs. K.W. (Jim) King, 32 Normandy Blvd. and the late Mr. King, and William James Hepburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Hepburn, 17 Union St.

The ceremony which took place at four o'clock was conducted by Rev. Norman Young, Mrs. Edgar Gowland was organist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her mother in the double ring ceremony, wore an A-line gown of white peau de soie with lace bodice, full lace train and three-quarter length lace bell-shaped sleeves. She wore rhinestone earrings, gift of the groom, and a gold locket worn by her mother at her wedding. She wore a four tiered bouffant elbow length veil and wedding ring lace headpiece, and carried a flowing cascade of deep pink roses with white carnations, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Richard Braisby was matron of honour. Sisters of the bride and groom, Miss Kathryn King and Mrs. Michael Kostuk were bridesmaids. They wore shocking pink A-line gown of peau de soie with scalloped bell-shaped sleeves, bodice sleeves and floor-length trains were of chauntilly lace. They wore pearl pendant necklaces, gifts of the bride and groom, and flowers made of the dress material adorned their upswart hairstyles. They carried bouquets of white shasta daisies with ivy.

Richard Braisby was groomsmen and Michael Kostuk and Harvey King, Brampton, the bride's uncle, were ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony at North Halton Golf & Country Club where her mother was wearing a lilac brocade dress with matching coat and hat, silver accessories and a deep mauve orchid corsage. The groom's mother also received. She wore a blue dress with matching jacket, white hat and accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses with white pansies.

The bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walters and the groom's grandmother, Mrs. W. J. McDonald were among the guests, and Mr. Walters gave the toast to the bride. Other guests attended from Toronto, Brampton, Acton, Milton, Woodbridge and Georgetown.

Mr. and Mrs. Hepburn left on a honeymoon motor trip along the Blue Water highway and Lake Huron. The bride wore a pink linen dress with matching three quarter checked coat, white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. They left from Blue Mountain Farm, RR 1, where their gifts were displayed for the guests.

They are living at 56 Queen Street. The groom is employed with Plax of Canada and the bride in the office of Georgetown District high school.

The bride was entertained at several showers prior to her marriage. On May 1st Mrs. W. J. Collier assisted by her daughter Susan, entertained at a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. W.

J. McDonald and Mrs. Michael Kostuk, grandmother and sister of the groom had a miscellaneous family shower on June 5. On June 17th, a kitchen shower was given by Mrs. Richard Braisby, matron of honour, assisted by her mother, Mrs. E. Baxter.

A surprise barbecue was given at Wolf Park, Terra Cotta, June 22nd by the Radicals Club and they were presented with a gift.

The office staff of Georgetown District high school made a presentation to the bride of a bridge set followed by a presentation from the teaching staff. Co-workers at Plax of Canada presented the groom with a wallet containing money.

Turn Lane, Lights in Highway Corner Plan

The intersection of Highway 7 and Peel County Road No. 1 is to be completely reconstructed this summer, Highways Minister George E. Gomme has announced.

The project will be completely financed by the Department, but the work will be carried out by Peel County.

Among the alterations announced is a separate right-turn lane for eastbound traffic on Highway 7, allowing it to turn south onto the Peel County road which goes through Huttonville to Highway 401 and Streetsville.

Westbound traffic turning left will be channelled into a storage lane, while a separate lane will be provided for through traffic.

Further alterations will include the installation of traffic lights and partial illumination after construction has been completed.

Don't Give Your Special Pet Idea He's Living a Dog's Life

BRAMPTON — Is your pet irritable and grouchy? It could be the hot weather.

Dr. Robert Williams, a Brampton veterinarian, warned that the hot weather will make even the most gentle of dogs irritable. Brushing and petting your dog will annoy him and it is best to keep the dog away from children.

"The main point to remember," said Dr. Williams, "is that the dog should have easy access to shade and that there should be good ventilation about him. If he is tied outside be certain that it is in a location with plenty of shade that does not shift from morning to afternoon. And always have a dish of cool water beside him."

The worst possible thing you could do is to take your dog for a ride in the hot weather. Never leave your dog in the car. Temperatures in a car can rise to 130 degrees and the dog will suffer heat stroke.

Cats suffer too during the hot weather. Avoid unnecessary petting. When the heat is on, cats generally head for the cool darkness of the basement and they don't like to be disturbed.

Birds seem to be able to take the hot weather better than dogs. Temperatures of 100 degrees don't bother them, but they do need good ventilation or they will pass out.

Even larger animals aren't immune to hot weather. Dr. Gerald Stirk, Brampton veterinarian, explained that not as many horses were affected by the heat now as years ago when they were out working in the fields.

"Now most horses are out in the fields lying in the shade. If a horse does pass out it is a serious business. Get him into the shade at once, and apply ice packs to his head and sprinkle him with water," cautioned the veterinarian, "and get a vet out to him at once."

Dr. Stirk reported that more cattle had been affected by the heat this year than in the past few. This is in part due to stabilizing the cows at night and turning them out to pasture in the day with little shade. The heat causes the cow to go delirious and throw her head from side to side. If a cow collapses, a veterinarian should be called.

MPP Is Host To Annual Snow Family Gathering
