30c Hourly Raise in Town Works Contract

A good deal for employees and for the corporation, was council's consensus as they approved a two year contract with Local 73, Canadian Union of Public Employees on Tuesday.

The contract, which Reeve Hunter said had been accepted by the town works staff earlier that day, provides a 30c an hour increase retroactive to April 1st, with a further 18c increase next April.

Extra pay of 15c an hour is provided for heavy equipment and greater operators.

And next April, the town has agreed to pay two-thirds of welfare premiums for employees.

The contract, expected to be signed this week, runs from April 1st, 1968 to March 31st, 1970.

Sunshine Graduates Get Ring and Cufflinks

One of the first students of Sunshine School for the Mentally Retarded to have gone completely through the complete special training graduated in June as one of two students leaving the school.

Carl Bickers of Milton was presented with a signet ring as a graduation present.

The other person leaving Sunshine, Bill Gawley of Georgetown, was presented with a set of cuff links at the same ceremony. He begins work in the H.O.P.E. workshop at Hornby this September.

Principal Mrs. R. P. Jeffares reports enrolment is up slightly but the program will remain largely the same as last year.

Staff is incumbent, including Mrs. D. Hancock in the beginners, Mrs. T. Dolbel in the primary group, Mrs. T. Mitchell teaching intermediates and Mrs. Jeffares instructing the seniors.

The school will be absorbed by the massive Halton County Board of Education in January, but this will affect mainly the administrative branch of it, with staff and curriculum left intact until changes are necessary.

Portable Classrooms Mushroom As Enrolments Hit New Highs

The Georgetown and Esquimaux schools, swamped with 6,813 pupils Tuesday and at press time are suffering only mild indigestion.

The record enrolments were general as the Georgetown public schools accepted 2,909; high school 1,310; Holy Cross 685; and the Esquimaux township schools 1,914.

The total is an increase of 760 over last September's figure.

The township's seven public schools have an enrolment of 1,694, up about 60 from last year. The heaviest registration was at Pineview, north of Hornby, where 352 turned up. Glen Williams has 307, Speyside 294, Limehouse 244, Stewartstown 364, Norval 83, and Milton Heights 50.

The other Esquimaux schools are the Georgetown District Christian School on the 7th line where the enrolment has jumped from 161 to 194, and Sunshine School for Retarded Children on the 7th line south of town where the 28 registrations represent no change.

In Georgetown, George Kennedy Public School in the extreme east end rocketed from 602 to 806, all Grade 6ers or under; Harrison Public School, also a junior school dropped from 624 to 607; Centennial senior school went from 258 to 320, all in grades 7 and 8; Park public school has 383, compared to 305 this time last year; Chapel Street, which dropped last term because of boundary changes, is also at a new high, 356.

Only in Glen Williams, where some pupils are going to class in the community hall until an addition there is ready, has there been need to go to facilities outside the school property.

Many other local schools are accommodating the throng by putting the overflow into portable classrooms.

Plan Instruction School For Officers of Legion

by Ralph Hawer

President Henry Hale is anticipating a good turn out of members on Saturday, when members of 120 pay a return visit to Branch 31 Mount Dennis, those wishing to make the trip should have their names on the list at the branch.

Another reminder to members of the Ladies Auxiliary, General Meeting on Thursday, September 12, this is a week earlier than usual, the reason being several members of the executive will be away to Ottawa for the Provincial Convention on the third Thursday of the month, which is the usual date of the general meeting.

Guests may attend the dance which will follow the Ladies' Birthday Supper on Friday, September 13, tickets will be available at the door.

SHUFFLE ON

We note that after last week's publication, there was a change made at the branch, shuffle board will continue through the winter, it will take place on Thursday evenings, industrial darts will take over the Wednesday night spot.

District Command is planning an officers school of instruction for members of the executive, and to those members who are interested in the welfare of the branch, any member may attend the school.

The last such session was held at Waterdown in 1964, it was a one day duration, we understand the fall school is also to be one day.

Instructions will cover all aspects of Branch activities from the opening ceremony to the closing of a general meeting, dealing with each part of the meeting in order of business, from introduction of guest, reading of minutes, on to reports from standing committees, general business, finally the motion of adjournment.

Committee chairmen will receive instructions pertaining to the committee they will work on, elected officers will also gain much knowledge.

With the CNE now a thing of the past, thoughts should begin to dwell on fall activities. November the 11th comes to mind, poppy day 1968.

END TO WARS

This Poppy Day will be unique, for it will be the 50th anniversary of the signing of the Versailles Treaty, which was to end all wars.

We feel it is perhaps time to start planning to hold an anniversary day or week, in the week of Nov. 11.

The branch membership may never have another opportunity to show its appreciation to those men and women to whom we owe our very existence, this occasion will never happen again and the combination of a zone effort might be more feasible than a single branch effort.

However, we feel it would be much more satisfactory if the branch could handle this rare occasion on its own and honour these elder statesmen of the legion, their ranks are indeed very thin, but these comrades of ours made the legion a reality.

ROUGH TIME

On membership it seems that Branch 120 is not alone, throughout provincial command membership has not come up to expectations, and it would appear from comments made by command that it is reasonable to believe that branches are going to have a rough time counting any where near to the target command had set, and believed to be obtainable.

It will be those few hard working individuals at branch level, who will have to go out and bring in unpaid members and solicit as many new and reinstated members as possible.

Of the forty imperial members and friends who departed this town on Saturday to travel to Orillia, forty returned safe and sound early next morning, they sang their way back, little else could be expected of them after the Royal treatment extended to them by the host branch.

The visitors arrived at Orillia in time for lunch which was Smorgasbord, Hawaiian style, and free tickets for refreshments.

PLANE TRIPS

After lunch there was darts, cards, etc., or for the more adventurous, plane trips, we understand.

Incorporate Lamb Street Plant in S & S Building

"For Sale" sign on what is commonly known as the Bakelite plant of Smith & Stone, on Lamb Street, a tiny street off King Street, prompted some questions from residents.

Nothing spectacular happened to the Thermoset Moulding Division of Smith & Stone, (this is the proper name), it merely moved into the main plant, taking all the employees there, too. In fact, the move took place some time ago, but due to the location of the plant would not be easily noticed.

Originally Cork Knitting Mills stood on this site, but it burned down before the second world war. At the beginning of the war the plant was rebuilt by Victor Diggins to house his Industrial Sales and Engineering.

They turned out 25 millimetre shells to help the war effort.

Shortly after the war, Smith & Stone took over the plant, which now stands vacant awaiting a new tenant.

Improve "Death Corner" At Base Line, Trafalgar

Armstrong Bros. Construction Company of Brampton has started work on the "death corner" intersection at Hornby. The corner has been the scene of many major highway crashes, and one coroner's inquest into a fatality at the intersection urged that it be rebuilt.

The intersection is at the corner of Trafalgar Road and the Base Line. The work is part of a program by Halton county to rebuild the north-south Trafalgar Road (Seventh Line) strip and develop it as a major traffic route.

Recently plans were announced to rebuild that section of Trafalgar Road which runs north from Queen Elizabeth Way in Oakville to Upper Middle Road. This job will cost nearly $500,000, while the Hornby contract is for $260,000. Earlier the county rebuilt a section of Trafalgar Road at Drummond and improved an intersection there which had been the scene of several fatal accidents.

GYPPED OF $300

The phoney bank inspector racket hit Milton this week where a woman lost $300 to a confidence man who claimed to be checking for counterfeit bills.

Keep Terminal, Use Main Street Too, Coach Proposal

Council on Tuesday decided to ask Gray Coach Lines to consider a compromise which would return buses to a Main Street route, while keeping the terminal at its James Street location.

With Mayor Gibbons dissenting, they will suggest that, after buses pull into the terminal, they turn around and proceed down the old Main Street route.

"A bus going down Main St. is no more problem than a tractor trailer or a cement mixer," said Cr. Wheldon Emmerston who with Reeve Hunter proposed the new idea.

"They'll never go for this nonsense," said Mayor Gibbons. "It's working out very well now except for a few objections from Charles St. residents. If we keep fooling around the buses will by-pass Georgetown entirely and no one wants that."

The bus route has been an issue since last spring when, following establishment of a new route, council had petitions from residents objecting to a bus route through a residential area.

Although Gray Coach agreed to return to the old route, a stumbling block has been refusal of the town to provide what they consider adequate leading space on the street. Council passed the buck to the Parking Authority, but has not had a recommendation from that group as yet.

Carcasses on Dump Called Health Hazard

Four hundred dead turkeys, chickens and a deer, were left lying on the top of the dump, claimed Deputy Reeve Tom Hill. He branded it a health hazard.

"Why can't the owners themselves bury them," demanded deputy reeve Hill, "or at least give the township notice when they are coming up so they can be covered immediately."

Deformed Frogs Arouse Interest

Two unusual frogs were found in North Halton County this week and are now at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto for study.

One of the frogs had six legs, and the other had misshapen toes and feet. They were taken by the Oakville Humane Society to Dr. Peck at the Oakville Animal Clinic, who said he was extremely interested in the mutations as it is unusual for two to be found together like this.

Dr. Peck said that it is not known whether the frogs come from the same pond, however. If they did, he and Royal Ontario Museum researchers will be extremely interested to see if the mutations were caused by any outside factors such as radiation.

More confusion regarding the condition no part of the land would be used for a dump.

At present part of it is being used by the Cemetery Board.

Building Inspector Tom McLean reported permits valued at $329,990 were issued during August.

All the buildings were residential.

STOLEN TRUCK ENDS IN FLAMES

GEORGETOWN FIREMAN JIM VALANTINE looks over the gutted interior of a 1968 Chev. pickup truck which burned in a secluded lane off Mountainview Road south Saturday morning. The truck was stolen from Murray Motors' lot earlier the same morning, driven to the secluded spot and apparently set afire.

17 August Calls For Ambulancemen

The ambulance was called seventeen times during the month of August for twelve emergency runs and five normal runs.

SAFETY TIPS FROM CVAS

This sign should be posted near all school and play grounds - "Please keep off the grass - Children should be seen and not hurt." School's open, please drive carefully.

Three more appointments are to be made next Monday.

The ratepayers association was instrumental in persuading council to form the new board following a fatality where a youngster drowned in the water filled excavation of a house in Georgetown's east end.

3 Appointees to Safety Committee

First step in establishing a town safety committee was taken Tuesday by council, with appointment of three members of what is to be a 6 member board.

Council accepted the recommendation of Halton Hills Ratepayers association and named C. Blight, 250 Delrex Blvd. and F. Tyrell, 180 Mountainview Rd. N. as representatives of Ward 3, and added Fred Hue, 57 Ann Street to represent Ward 1.

He urged all Georgetown party members and supporters to get out and work for party candidates.

The New Democratic Party Georgetown area will field candidates in the coming Georgetown elections this year.

Federal Assistant Secretary Bill Campsey said at a special committee meeting held this Sunday "All across Canada there is a growing demand for the introduction of the party system into municipal politics and once again we in Georgetown must lead the way."

Only by every citizen getting involved can we avoid the injustices which will accompany urban renewal, expropriation, escalating of rents, which comes with urban growth."

He urged all Georgetown party members and supporters to get out and work for party candidates.
