

Parents Came from Sweden To Attend Wedding of Son

MR. AND MRS. HENRY GRANANDER — Adams Photography

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Granander flew from their home in Uppsala, Sweden on July 11th to meet their daughter-in-law to be and to attend the marriage of their only son, Henry Claes Goran Granander to Kathleen Mary Aspdon, which took place on July 27th, in St. John's United Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Richard Aspdon, formerly of 16 Mary Street, who are now living in Collingwood. She is employed in the office of ABC Ready Mix Brampton and her husband is an employee of Chubb, Mosler and Taylor, Brampton.

The church was decorated with tall standards of white gladioli and pink pompons for the four o'clock ceremony. Rev. Robert Servinus officiated and Kenneth R. Harrison was organist. Tom Darcie sang "Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

It was a double ring ceremony and Mr. Aspdon gave his daughter in marriage. Her floor length gown of white petersilk and chantilly lace was in empire line, with scoop neckline, high back with bow at the waist and train. The bodice was lace covered and there were lace roses applied on sleeves and skirt. She wore a four-tier shoulder length veil and a princess crown of petersilk, pearls and rhinestones, and a single strand of pearls and matching earrings, the groom's gift. She carried a cascade of red roses with a white orchid corsage set in the middle, accented by a traditional silver horseshoe with fern around the outside. Her sister Margaret was maid of honour; Mrs. Pat Smith, Erin Mrs. Helen Shaw, Brampton and Miss Gail Gilmore, Don Mills, were bridesmaids and Miss Margie Butler was junior bridesmaid.

The maid of honour was in pale pink and other attendants in pale green, their gowns being of empire line, silk organza with white lace bodices and short sleeves. Their bouquets were in shades of pink and white with a bow at the waist and floor length trains. The maid of honour carried a cascade of pink sweetheart roses, white poms and fern, and other attendants had cascade bouquets of pink carnations, white poms and fern. All the girls wore a bow and veiling to match their gowns, and pearl teardrop necklaces and matching earrings, gifts from the bride and groom.

Bruce Bedford, Cookville, was groomsmen; and ushers were Larry Edwards, Brampton, Bruce Gareau, Toronto, Steven Morgan, Toronto, who is the bride's cousin, and Brian Butler, Georgetown. Male members of the wedding party wore black tuxedos.

Receiving at North Halton Golf & Country Club afterwards the bride's mother wore a sheath of seablue petersilk and lace, sleeveless lace coat and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother also received, wearing a suit of dark blue satin accented by gold shoes and accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Among wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. Morgan and Mr. C. V. Nunn, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. W. Woolridge, Windsor, Dr. and Mrs. L. Kluse, Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. R. Tuttle and daughter Wendy, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. A.S. Fleming, Port Credit the is assistant to the provincial executive for the Boy Scouts of Canada and Miss Gwyn Herbert, registrar for the provincial Boy Scouts office in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Granander spent their honeymoon at Paradise Stream Motel in the Pennsylvania Pocono Mountains, ending with a few days in Collingwood to visit her parents there. For her honeymoon trip, the bride chose a linen sheath of turquoise with wedding ring collar, and lace trim on sleeves and hemline, a sleeveless linen coat and white orchid from her bridal bouquet. She wore a necklace made of tiny pieces of steel, each piece hand polished and set to look like many stones making up one big flower. It is a Granander family heirloom and has been in the family for over a hundred years, and it is hoped that some day it will be passed on to the wife of the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Granander, Jr.

The newlyweds are making their home at 36 Market Street in Brampton.

—With the return of school children for the fall term, and Labour Day week-end over, this indicates the arrival of the autumn season.

Two Sisters Attendants for Marriage of Faye Hennessey

Standards of white chrysanthemums and gladioli was the setting at St. Bartholomew's United Church, Brampton, for the marriage of Faye Elizabeth Hennessey, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hennessey, Elizabeth St., Georgetown, to Robert Van Dyk, son of Mrs. and the late Mr. Hoite VanDyk, Hillcrest Avenue, Brampton.

Rev. F. G. Baisdon officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length empire gown of satin featuring illypoint sleeves and bodice of chantilly lace. The train was also of satin and edged with chantilly lace. Her headpiece was a pearl tiara from which fell a four tiered shoulder length veil of scalloped nylon tulle and adorned with tiny pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep pink roses and stephanotis.

The maid of honour was Miss Sue Hennessey, sister of the bride; the bridesmaid was Miss Diane Hennessey, youngest sister of the bride and the flower girl was Judy Hull, niece of the bride.

The maid of honour and the bridesmaid wore identical floor length gowns of white satin. They wore tiny yellow poms with white satin ribbon in their bouffant hairdos, and they carried cascade bouquets of yellow poms.

The flower girl wore a full length gown of white satin and chantilly lace with a lilac underskirt. Her headpiece was a puff of white satin ribbon and tulle, and she carried a basket of yellow poms.

The best man was Ron Baisdon of Brampton and the ushers Guy Hennessey, brother of the bride and Ken Swan of Georgetown. The ring bearer was the bride's youngest brother, Mark.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother chose a two piece pink crepe dress with matching lace jacket and accessories. She wore a corsage of pink and white carnations.

The groom's mother wore a crepe dress of blue and mint green design with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

For a honeymoon trip north, the bride chose a navy linen dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

EYE WITNESS ACCOUNT Georgetown Scout Describes Storm's Effect on Kelso Camp

by John Toat
3rd Georgetown Scout Troop

John Toat, 6 Guelph Street, Georgetown was one of the Scouts at the Ontario Jamboree at Kelso when the storm turned it upside down.

You have no doubt heard something of the effects of the storm on Thursday at Kelso where the first Ontario Jamboree was held. I would like to give you an eye witness account of just what happened.

It all started at 5:30 p.m. when a storm approached the camp. We thought it would just be rain but we were soon proven wrong. By 6 p.m. there was a steady fall of rain, and in some places the camp was already flooded making things worse because of the severe lightning. We'd just finished supper when it started to hail and with that a strong wind caught the right side of the marquee and forced it to the ground.

Most of us were caught without a coat. We all crouched close to the ground to protect ourselves from the lightning. We knew it was hitting the ground because earlier our Assistant Scouters received a shock from the marquee pole. "Run to any tent still standing" we were ordered, and we did just that.

When the last tent went down someone yelled "run straight to the canteen and take shelter." It was a mad dash of a few feet to the canteen and we were nervous for two reasons; 1st, we were up to our ankles in water if lightning hit, and secondly, live wires were down and hard to see. When we reached the canteen we found this tremendous tent had fallen and there was an ambulance at the scene. I was afraid that the people in the tent could have been injured or even killed.

We ran straight to the staff headquarters and there took shelter. The wind was so strong that at each pole there were several Scouts holding hold it steady. We were told what to do if the tent was hit by lightning or blew down. I really felt sorry for some people because they were scared stiff. I don't use this as an expression because some fellows couldn't talk or move because of fright.

The Leaders tried everything to get us to sing but all it took was a troop from Quebec singing "Aloette." When I went outside to see if I could help I saw one thing that really upset me and that was a grown man of about 45 years of age standing crying. Perhaps he was one of the men who spent two years planning this just to see it wiped out in less than an hour. The Lorne Scots, St. John Ambulance and E.M.O. Rescue Unit were called in and everyone was evacuated to the Milton arena and from there to one of the Milton schools. We had something to eat at the Legion and some of us were lucky to spend the night in homes. Those who were not so lucky were issued blankets and slept at schools, churches, etc. The next morning we met at the arena to go back to camp to get out gear and board another truck, but to come back home.

We came home because health officials had to close down the camp. Our gear was soaked and the camp was in ruins. I think I can speak for all the boys and leaders when I say I'm just glad to be back safely.

THE DISTRICT AT A GLANCE

ACTON — Shock and dismay followed the surprise reading at council of a letter of resignation from long-time clerk-administrator Jack McGeachie. He becomes clerk of the town of Milton, Monday, September 30. His resignation becomes effective Friday, September 27.
