Hockey Interest High Registration Double

Interest in Georgetown Minor Hockey Support Group's annual hockey school has hit a new high if the first of three registration days is a reliable yardstick.

Saturday morning 130 youngsters between the ages of 7 and 16 inclusive put their names on the dotted line — about twice as many as on a normal registration date.

"They were lined up before the doors opened," Support Group chairman Del Beaumont told The Herald. "It looks like this will be our best year ever." The school was organized four years ago, and this upcoming term which runs September 30 to October 19 is the first three week session.

"We'll be able to handle about 240 boys, with the younger ones learning skating, passing and other basics, while the older fellows receive instruction in aspects of the game that make the difference between an average player and a good one," Beaumont said.

While members of the teaching staff have not been named it is known one of them will be NHL staff official Bryan Lewis.

Cards, Indians, Minor Ball Champs

St. Louis Cardinals and Cleveland Indians captured Georgetown Minor Baseball League's Junior and senior crowns respectively Saturday by going unbeaten through a tournament-style winner-take-all playdown. Games started in the Georgetown Park at 9 in the morning and finished at 5 in the afternoon.

Beavers Beaten by Brantford
Georgetown ruggers Beavers were outplayed in the second half of a game here Sunday against Brantford and so surrendered 18-3 to last year's league winners.

Beavers were down 5-0 at the half, but with the advantage of the wind were unable to contain the powerful Brantford squad, which, like the Beavers, has an almost all Canadian content. Les Judge kicked the Beavers' three points from a penalty late in the second half. Barry Smith played a strong game for Beavers making several good defensive plays, and Bob Bull was also a bright spot for the losers at his wing position.

took part in the tourneys and were fed hot dogs and pop during a lunch break at noon by some of the player's moms. Cost of the lunch was absorbed by registration fees. Also leading a hand were members of the Georgetown Bantam All-Star baseball team who served as ump's.

Bill Anderson is president of the league, Jim Harris is vice-president and Ben Macdonald is secretary-treasurer.
