Issue Eleven Point Guide To Incoming School Board

A sub-committee of the interim school organization committee has issued an 11 point report as a guide line for the new county board of education to follow when it comes into being January 1st. The new board will replace ten public and high school boards in the county including two in Georgetown and one in Esqueping.

To prepare its guide lines the ESOC sub-committee sent a lengthy questionnaire to each of the seven communities in Halton.

This committee emphasizes the importance of communication and suggests that this problem be investigated early and methods employed in the first months of operation which will ensure a steady and current flow of information," the report says.

List Priorities

Next the committee considered program priorities and laid down eleven of them. They are:

—the autonomy of the principal and his staff should be recognized. In the past initiative and resourcefulness have created many innovative programs and instructive methods.

—significant educational growth can be made only if the staff and the community are receptive to growth. It is the responsibility of the board of education to develop a climate which allows changes for progress.

—a climate for experimentation should be developed at an early stage.

—computerized assistance for timetabling in non-grade high schools, will be required.

—decisions should be made early regarding who should be taught oral French and how to offer to all grade seven and eight students.

—a long range plan to provide suitable physical education buildings should be developed early.

—A guidance should become a more integral part of the primary, junior, and intermediate programs.

—an investigation of current driver education programs should be made so that policies may be developed to provide the course to more students in Halton County.

—adult night schools programs should be expanded to include more interest and recreational courses.

Teacher Ratio

The report also emphasizes the need for policies regarding a unified pupil-teacher ratio, uniform students progress methods, and a standard kindergarten admission age.

To support current programs and those planned, certain instructional and capital budget commitments are necessary," the report says.

LET'S PLAY BRIDGE

BY BILL COATS

This week's hand comes from a duplicate game at the Georgetown Bridge Club. There were several different results but very few North-South pairs bid this hand up to game level.

North dealt and neither side was vulnerable.

Opening lead 7 of diamonds. It is possible to reach contracts in spades, hearts or no trump. All can produce enough tricks for game but it's not nearly so easy at a bridge table where you can see only two hands.

The opening diamond lead was run to South's nine. Declarer should have been very careful with his entries but he was not. South cashed his singleton queen of spades and two high hearts.

Then a club was led and the finesse of the jack lost to East's queen. East took his two good hearts and then put dummy on lead with a club.

Declarer took two good spades in dummy and led another round East won but had to lead a club to South's good king. Declarer had also held on to his fifth heart, discarding diamonds, and that was the ninth trick for the offense.

Nothing unusual or did you miss the play as well. Would you trade one trick for two? When East took his two good hearts, declarer had to find two discards in dummy — one was a diamond and the other had to be a spade.

After dummy is put on lead with the club ace, East must at all cost not win a trick. When declarer led dummy's high spade, East must play the jack. Sure this sets up dummy's ten but in exchange West get two diamond tricks. If declarer wins the spades in dummy he would have to lead diamonds from dummy as well. Declarer would lose two hearts, a club and two diamonds and go down to defeat.

Acton Bridge Club Monday's winners: 1st pair, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coats; 2nd pair, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Brown; 3rd, Cam Sinclair and Ivan Harris; 4th pair, Mrs. Bev Pattullo and Duke Wilson.

BRIDGE CLUB

There were twelve tables of duplicate bridge on Tuesday, October 1st, in the Legion Auditorium. North-South winners, Mrs. Viola Naylor, R. Raymond; J. Maurer, Fred Allen; Harry Frost, Art Norris; Uel: Cam Sinclair, S. Heller, George Ellen and C. Barbour.

East-West winners, Mrs. Anne Pritchard, Mrs. Jen Thompson; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dickson; Leo Kistenacker, D. Van Horne; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lawrence.

FORD L.Y.D. HARDTOP

Did you mistake it for one of Canada's most expensive cars? Lots of people are doing that. And with good reason. The 1960 Ford hugs the road with as wide a track as a Cadillac. The 1960 Ford has more front head room and legroom than an Imperial. The 1960 Ford L.Y.D. has a ride designed to be quieter than the L.Y.D. that was quieter than a Rolls-Royce. The 1960 Ford smooths your ride with a longer wheelbase than a Chevrolet. Yet, even with this longer wheelbase, the 1960 Ford is easy to handle, easy to park — it turns in an even smaller circle than last year's Ford. This is a new luxury-size Ford at a very popular Ford price. Big. Strong. Quiet. A great road car.
