Realtors Donate $1,000 For Education Program

Area realtors were warned last week that "unless people actively engaged in real estate become interested in educating the public in how to buy and sell properly, others, much less suitably equipped will walk in and assume the role."

Speaking to reattors at Georgetown Golf and Country Club, James Richardson, education administrator of the Ontario Real Estato Board, ected on behalf of that body in accenting a $1,000 cheque donation from the local realfors to further an education program of the parent orianization.
