McRuer, the bill will also reflect the recommendations of the Ontario Law Reform Commission and its report on the basis for compensation for expropriation. This legislation will be designed to ensure equity and justice for all whose lands may be expropriated or affected by land acquisition programs necessary in the public interest.

Further legislation will be brought forward to further ensure that every person in Ontario is free and equal in dignity and rights. Members will be asked to approve the strengthening of the Ontario Human Rights Code.

In addition, the far-reaching and important legislation relating to business corporations, which was introduced during the First Session of the Twenty-eighth Legislature, will be brought before the House for consideration.

The availability of reasonably priced homes will continue to be vigorously pursued by the government with further expansion of the highly successful Home Ownership Made Easy program. As further encouragement to individual home ownership and to bring home ownership within the reach of an ever larger segment of our people, the legislature will be asked to pass legislation which will facilitate the construction of substantial numbers of condominium dwellings.

A new Health Protection Act will be introduced along with many other changes in legislation including a strengthening of the vigorous programs designed to prevent and reduce water pollution and policies concerning the agricultural community of Ontario, to improve both the production of food and recompense to the farmer, will be pursued with continued intensity.

One item I am sure that will be of interest to the constituents of Halton East is the recent announcement by the Minister of Education that his Department is to sponsor a workshop to consider the general use of school buildings in the community. I know there is a feeling of many of my constituents, as it is myself, that greater use could be made of school buildings, for recreational and community programs within the communities.

The correctional Services Minister, the Honourable Allan Grossman recently announced a priorities program for the replacement of some of the county jails throughout the Province. Mr. Grossman said the Halton and Peel area is included within the top five priority areas for early consideration and construction.

Robbed Georgetown Home, Gets Two Years In Jail

A 34 year old Guelph man will spend the next two years in Kingston penitentiary for robbing homes in Georgetown and Hamilton.

He pleaded guilty to both charges of break and entry and was sentenced to two years confinement in Kingston penitentiary. Judge J. R. Black in county court this week.

The court was told he broke into the home of Robert Clay, 35 Mountainview Road, Georgetown, June 25 and took $130 from an upstairs bedroom, stopping long enough to have something to eat. He returned to the same house later that day, had a shave and took a set of clothes.

He was arrested and charged October 22 after he broke into the home of Mrs. Marjorie Inch in Hamilton, completely ransacked the premises and took a watch and a bottle of rye.

In 1967 more than 294,000 people were in training under this program.

THE DEPARTMENT of Manpower and Immigration also pays the provinces to help in the building of adult training centres, community colleges, technological institutes, trade schools and vocational high schools.

SOME WORKERS do not need re-training even though economic and technological change may have eliminated their jobs. Many are left with a useful and valuable skill for which there is no local requirement. This particular skill, however, may at the same time be in high demand in some other area. The mobility program, which provides both re-location grants to those who the Department has already arranged jobs for elsewhere, and exploratory grants to others to look for employment where the prospects for employment are brighter. Last year some 5600 people took relocation grants and another 4400 received grants to search out the new job opportunities.

THE EFFECTIVENESS of the Manpower operations should not be measured merely by the number of placements made. This is only part of the program. After all a man can be placed in a job only when a job exists. One of the prime functions of Manpower is to see that workers receive proper counselling, that vacancies become filled as rapidly and as effectively as possible, that persons who cannot fill existing vacancies receive rehabilitation or re-training which will eventually enable them to obtain employment and that those who need, and who wish to move to new opportunities have the funds to do so.
