

Many Benefit from Good Work of March of Dimes

12 Overlea Blvd. Toronto 17, Ontario

Dear Sir:

A 27 year old girl from Keswick, who had never worked before due to arthritis, is happily operating a bookkeeping machine; a man with no kidneys in Ottawa is micro-filming hospital records; a young girl in Port Arthur who is a controlled epileptic is sorting spruce seeds for the government; a paraplegic whose first job was found for him by the Foundation at the age of 35, is working at the adult education centre in St. Thomas.

These are some of the success stories which can be attributed to the March of Dimes the annual campaign of the Rehabilitation Foundation for the Disabled. Our campaign itself has been a success story each year — thanks to you people of the news media — and I am once again asking for your support next month so that our work can continue and grow in effectiveness.

Throughout the month of January we will be looking for a total of $875,000 in this province.

Seven Get Hospital Treatment After Crash

A two car collision on Highway 7 west of the 7th Line of Esquesing, sent seven persons to Georgetown & District Memorial Hospital early Sunday December 22.

Phillip Cecil Morris, 10, of Ince. In 29 localities we are members of the United Appeal, but we will be canvassing in some 430 others. Our campaign will close with a one-night blitz of residences around the end of January — the exact date will be given to you by a member of our local committee. We will be sending you publicity material and would be most grateful, once again, for your vital support.

Yours sincerely,
George M. Henderson,
Provincial Campaign Chairman

Mono Mills, driver of one car, suffered a cut lip. Edward Pellegriani, 20, of RR 3, Georgetown the other driver received a bump on the head and a sore left knee.

They, and five passengers, were released after treatment. Damage to the cars totalled $1,000.

SUGAR AND SPICE

ANOTHER 12 MONTHS BEGINS

And the same to you. Lang may your lum reek. And if you start the first footin' it through the town on Hogmanay, you'll probably find yourself last-footin' it in the door at 6 a.m., your car in the garage with the lights left on, your wife already in the house with her lights blazing, and yourself burning with a clear pure 10-watt illumination.

However that's your headache Buster. I expect to have my own.

Right now I'm going to give a serious analysis of the coming year. As I see it as we old soothsayers say, everything will be fine in '69. Usually my prophecies are right on the nose but I make the odd slip. So, just in case you are invited to burn this after you've read it. Known as destroying the evidence.

Speaking of burn I predict that this year students will not be threatening to burn the universities. The universities will start burning students. It would solve a lot of problems, like overcrowding and soaring costs.

The idea is simple. A mob of students starts a demonstration invades the university buildings and turns them into a pig pen.

At this point, the president of the university, instead of covering under his desk and promising no lectures, no exams and instant degrees merely calls out loud and clear, burn them!

From all sorts of broom closets will rush squads of square students who want to learn rather than burn. They will deuse the activists with gasoline and toss each of them a match, lighted. This will be known as OPGAS. Several oil companies and a host of taxpayers are interested in contributing.

Some other forecasts. Jean-Jacques Rousseau or whatever they call our prime minister will come up with a vibrant new name for his government's policies. It will be called the Bust Society. And will be more financial than physical.

You and I will become one year older, less wise and more crotchety. We'll have at least one more wrinkle, hang-up, chin, stomach, or whatever we run to.

Canada will regain its eminent position in world affairs and will be listened to in international conferences with awe and admiration by Guatemala, Ceylon and Madagascar.

Hordes of God-fearing Canadians will get stoned every Saturday night, even though the price of booze will rise.

Parents who have spoiled their kids rotten will hold up their hands in horror and weep copiously over the activities of their rotten kids.

Australia will be towed by the combined fleets of the western world to a place of safety between Hawaii and California. But only after they have promised to throw overboard all their black aborigines.

Mini-skirts will go down. There's no place else to go. They'll probably drop as far as the upper thigh. Taxes will go up. There's nowhere else to go. They'll go up enough to infuriate the citizenry, but not quite enough to start a revolution.

The Russians will beat Canada in hockey (You can bet on this one). Husbands and wives will seriously consider strangling each other with their bare hands. They won't do it, but you can also bet on that one.

Golfers will continue to hook and slice. Curlers will go on missing that crucial shot. Anglers will continue to lie in their teeth, hands wide apart. Deer hunters will explain, for an hour and a half why they missed that huge buck at point-blank range.

And we'll all go on playing that crazy, fascinating game known as life. But don't be disturbed, chaps. It's a lot more interesting than being dead.

So hang on for another twelve months, and give it everything you've got, if you have anything left.

NOVEMBER — Avian 2-180 certified as airworthy ending nine years of development.

MARCH — Woodrex Building with five new stores is unveiled extending downtown business section.

MAY — Sore feet are the order of the day as 3200 parade through town on Oxfam Walk.
