LET'S PLAY BRIDGE

BY BILL COATS

Just because one side is doing all the bidding, there is no reason for the opponents to sit back and take it easy.

The object of bidding at contract bridge is to exchange information. Fortunately for the defenders, this means that the other pair must also give away information. All you have to do is take advantage of it.

Let's take the following hand from the weekly duplicate game at the Acton Bridge Club.

North dealt with East West vulnerable.

NORTH	SOUTH
S-K 10 6	H-A Q 8
H-10 4	D-10 4
C-Q J 9 2	C-K 8 4

WEST EAST

S-A J 8 7 5	S-4
H-7 6 5	H 10 9 2
D-8	D-Q 9 7 6 5 2
C-A 7 6 5	C-K 8 4

SOUTH

S-Q 9 3 2
H-K J 4 3
D-A K J 3
C-10

The bidding:

NORTH	EAST	SOUTH	WEST
Pass	Pass	T S	Pass
2 C	Pass	2 M	Pass
2 S	Pass	3 D	Pass
4 H	All Pass

Opening lead eight of diamonds or ace of spades.

North should have bid three no trump over South's bid of three diamonds. North knows that the club suit is well stopped while South does not.

North - South were using the DRURY two club convention. Since hands in third and fourth bidding position often opens a point or two light problems can arise if partner has passed with a near opener.

North's two club asked South if he had a good opening bid or has he shaded the usual requirements. If the opening bid was slight, South would have rebid two diamonds. As it was South had a good opening bid and showed it by bidding two hearts.

What should West lead? There is not much doubt what to lead if he was tuned into the bidding.

South should have at least four spades when he opened the suit. North supported spades showing at least three cards in that suit. The minimum number of spades in the North - South hands is seven. Combined with five spades in his own hand, West can account for 12. Hence East had at the most, one spade.

West should lead the ace of Spades and continue to give his partner a ruff. He should lead his lowest spade for the ruff to side suit for a re-entry.

If East obeys and returns a club, then West can lead another
