

Holidays Busy Days in the Glen

What a beautiful sight we've all enjoyed this Christmas from the many hills surrounding our village. Everyone has outdone themselves with lighting. And as usual it is difficult to choose the most beautiful but we feel the big pine on the Frank lawn maybe you'd know it better.

On Christmas Eve a large congregation attended midnight carol service by candlelight in St. Alban's Church. Rev. R. Ruggie was in charge assisted by laymen from Norval St. Paul's and Glen United. And so Christmas day was ushered in by the singing of all the old familiar carols in St. Alban's.

The weatherman certainly cooperated and provided lots of snow for the many who received skis for Christmas as well as the numerous snowmobile enthusiasts around the village.

Joy Haines has returned to McMaster University after enjoying the holidays at home here.

The Apple Products went back into production Monday after a two week holiday. They enjoyed a party before leaving with lots of entertainment and lovely lunch.

Two honoured guests at the party were Mrs. Fred Lindner of Norval and Mrs. Lucy Wagstaffe, Confederation Street, and each were presented with a dozen roses.

We send best wishes to Christopher Haines who was five years old on Christmas day. His parents Mr. and Mrs. John Haines celebrated with a family party.

At the Sunday School session of St. Alban's the Sunday before Christmas each pupil was presented with a book and candy by the superintendent Herb Preston, Jr.

The United Church Women enjoyed a Christmas dinner at the Driftwood, Norval and then returned to the Fellowship room of the church for games and a social evening which concluded with Christmas cake and ginger ale. Gifts were exchanged.
