

Fourth Place Best Bet For Junior Hockey Raiders

With three games left in their regular schedule Georgetown's Junior C Raiders can hope for a fourth place finish if the right teams co-operate, but more likely it will be a fifth or sixth place finish for the young aggregation.

Georgetown juniors won the OHA Junior C provincial title last season, and have given a good account of themselves this campaign with almost a completely rookie team.

Currently knifed with Richmond Hill in a fifth place tie, Raiders have one home game to play; that against Ajax on Sunday, plus two away tiffs with Richmond Hill and Streetsville.

Sunday, Georgetown fell five goals behind Richmond Hill in the opening period and never recovered losing 7-4.

Dwayne Hay scored twice in the second period and Frank King and Brian Loucks notched the other Georgetown goals in the third. Jack Kemshead and Brad Johnson picked up assists.

Watson and Dunkley each scored twice, Morris, Chapman and Harrington once apiece for Richmond Hill.

Georgetown scored three straight goals in the third period to break-up a tight game in Ajax Thursday and take a 4-3 victory home from the lair of the fourth place holders.

The game was 31 minutes and 17 seconds old before Brad Johnson spoiled the double shutout and put the visitors in to a short-lived lead. Ajax's Ken Clark tied it less than a minute later and the clubs entered the third period still deadlocked.

Dwayne Hay, Al Stuttard and Frank King boosted Georgetown into a 4-1 lead before the period was half over and the advantage was too big for Ajax to overcome. Bill Morrison popped in their second goal with five minutes left and their third with less than three to go.

Georgetown outshot Ajax 38 to 27.

A scrap late in the second period sent two Ajax players, McGrishin and Laing, and Raiders' Brian Loucks to the penalty bench with more than 20 minutes in sentences among them.

Georgetown Rolls to Midget Tourny Title

Georgetown Midgets put together four victories to become poor hosts and capture the Georgetown Midget Hockey Tournament in the Memorial Arena, last weekend.

The tournament, the third annual sponsored by the Georgetown Minor Hockey Support Group, ran Thursday and Friday evening and all day Saturday.

It featured a dozen teams from Streetsville, Thornhill, Milton, Newmarket, Hespeler, Chingacousy, Ajax, Toronto (Young Nationals), Guelph, Burlington, Detroit and Georgetown.

The locals sewed up the championship in handy fashion downing the Young Nationals 6-1 in the Saturday night final, after bouncing Newmarket by the same score in the semi final four hours earlier.

In their first of three Saturday games, Georgetown eliminated Hespeler with a 4-1 win.

The champs started their march to the title Friday night by trimming Ajax 6-2 after the official opening ceremonies.

Juri Kudrasovs the Tri-County scoring champion, Paul Fendley and Marty Fowler were the heroes of the final each scoring twice.

In the semi, Fendley notched two, which was equalled by Hennessey, and Fowler and John McNally netted singletons.

The Young Nationals got the showdown game by disposing of Detroit 6-5, Saturday and Guelph 4-2, Friday.

Guelph went on from there to cop the Consolation Round championship. Rebounding off their loss to the Young Nationals they whipped Burlington 7-2 Saturday afternoon, and doubled the score on Chingacousy 4-2.

The tournament was opened officially by Mayor Wheldon Emmerson who also presented the championship trophy to the winners. Support Group president Del Beaumont made the presentation of the Consolation Round Trophy.

The tournament was arranged and operated by a committee of the Support Group under chairman Earl Neil.

Vandals Smash Church Windows

Police are investigating an act of vandalism at Sacre Coeur Roman Catholic Church.

Four sections of the church's stained glass windows were broken sometime between 8:30 p.m. Tuesday night and 7:00 a.m. Wednesday morning according to the priest, Father A. Simard, who discovered the damage when he entered the church in the morning.

The windows were installed in the church many years ago by the Holy Cross congregation. A separate French-Canadian Roman Catholic parish was established recently when Holy Cross moved to its new building on Maple Ave. E.

The damage will have to be paid for by the congregation, Father Simard told The Herald.

While the church is insured, there is a $250 deductible clause.

Snow Favours Urban Pockets Surrounded by Farming Area

Halton MPP James Snow was the guest speaker at the Norval Junior Farmer banquet at Stewarttown on Friday evening, February 7. Mr. Snow, a Hornby area farmer, with interest in the construction industry, spoke on recent government reports which will greatly affect the agricultural industry in Ontario.

Speaking on the farm income report he stated that he favoured one strong farm organization, and also a food supply agency, which would be the end result of the amalgamation of all farm marketing boards, but he felt that several of these changes would definitely have to go beyond provincial boundaries.

Mr. Snow then moved on to the report of the Select Committee on Farm Taxation. He was the chairman of the farm committee of this commission. He stated that taxation on agricultural land near urban centres is a problem, but the assessors are doing their job properly, and also that speculation on farm land was not good for the agricultural industry. Furthermore, he did not see how land a distance away from these centres could be used for purposes other than agriculture for many years.

Mr. Snow tied the report on taxation in with the Halton-Peel regional government proposal. He said that it was advantageous to Esqueving and advocates regional planning and police and fire protection on a regional basis. Mr. Snow felt that one solid urban unit between Toronto and Hamilton would cause many problems and was quite unacceptable. Instead he favoured the theory of urban cells of a predetermined size separated by agricultural green belts. Also, he favoured the retention of the Town of Burlington in Halton County and the annexation of East Flamboro and Waterdown into Halton, as these municipalities are members of the Halton Region Conservation Authority, and are in the Halton watershed.

Mr. Snow concluded his talk by urging co-operation between Federal and Provincial governments on agricultural policies.

Players Await Verdict Drama Festival Entry

Age doesn't dull a Noel Coward play not if it boasts a cast who can deliver his witty lines with the right zest.

Audiences at the Georgetown Little Theatre's presentation of "Private Lives" showed their appreciation with hearty laughter as they followed the domestic problems of a divorced couple who meet on their honeymoon night each with a new mate, and decide to try life together again.

Veteran performers Ron Hill and Vera Macdonald were perfect in their parts, with able support lent by Eric Ming and Mary Goebel as the deserted mates. Coward was generous with his lines, and the four parts were all stellar roles. Sue Graham, as a French maid completed the cast.

Betty Fisher's direction was crisp, and the play jelled beautifully, a notable feat when one realized that it had only three weeks' rehearsal. An earlier choice "Come Back, Little Sheba" was dropped due to casting difficulties.

The play is Georgetown's entry in the Central Ontario Drama Festival and adjudicator Maurice Evans attended Wednesday night to look it over. The Little Theatre now anxiously awaits the verdict.

EXPROPRIATE PROPERTIES FOR DAM SITES

Four expropriation notices were filed this week under the authority of Ontario's recently revised expropriation act.

Three of the properties are required by the Authority for the Scotch Block Dam project, near the Third Line north of 10 Sideroad in Esqueving. The fourth property is a 19 acre parcel owned by W. J. Mahon and constitutes part of the land the Authority wants for the proposed Hilton Falls dam and reservoir north of Five Sideroad, at Nassagaweya's Fifth Line.

The expropriation notices for the Scotch Block area cover 19 acres owned by R. V. Griffiths in Lot 12 Con. 4; 25 owned by Gordon S. Hume in Lot 12 Con. 3; and 23 acres owned by C. and R. McClenahan in Lots 11 and 12, Con. 3. These three are the only Scotch Block land acquisitions still unsettled—the Authority successfully negotiated purchases and agreements on several neighbouring properties.
