

TOWN HOUSES FOR NORVAL — This artist's sketch shows an example of the kind of town housing that will add some 96 dwelling units to the Village of Norval in a project of Club Riviera operator Emil Zuber, to be spread out over the next five years. The new residences will be in the form of town houses and apartments on a wooded slope adjoining the Riviera property. The sketch shows a block of 14 town houses in the first phase of the development which Mr. Zuber hopes to build this summer.

Candystripers Play Important Role As Hospital Volunteers

From a faltering beginning five years ago the Candystripers, a teenage group of volunteer hospital workers, have grown to a membership of fifty two and the services offered have grown accordingly.

Main driving force behind the movement is Mrs. Blanche Goudekting, convener and trainer of the Candystripers. The name comes from their red and white striped pinafores worn over a white blouse.

The idea occurred to Mrs. Goudekting while she herself was a patient in hospital and realized how much time the nurses devoted to doing the little things for patients, which did not necessarily require nursing ability.

Since she was already a member of the Georgetown Hospital Women's Auxiliary, she broached the subject to them and got their hearty endorsement.

The Candystripers are not just a cute name group, devoted to filling the time of teenage girls. They actually work and work hard relieving the nurses of many chores. The girls, from fifteen to twenty-one are regularly scheduled, and work from 4:30 till 6:30 schooldays, and from nine till one on Saturdays.

Their duties are varied. They make beds, provided the patient is mobile, feed patients, change babies, comb hair, play with babies, run messages, for both patients and nurses, make phone calls if asked, bring water, bring books, escort patients to the X-ray and physiotherapy departments, put bandages and doctors suits in the sterilizer, and help out kitchen staff, by picking up menus. They count how many want boiled eggs, mashed potatoes, etc. to speed the work of the kitchen staff.

They switch around to cover all types of patients, but probably the babies are the most popular assignment.

Apart from their duties, they meet once a month, and have a speaker or film. Many of the doctors have spoken on various subjects, and the radiologist has explained his work. Mrs. Daisy Harris has shown them how to arrange the patients' flowers, and make corsages from them if so desired.

They also have toured other hospitals and will go to the Hospital for Crippled Children, March 17. As a break from work Mrs. Goudekting holds the occasional party or garden party for her young proteges.

As a result of this involvement with patients, many former candystripers are now nurses or radiologists, while many of the present Candystripers plan to follow in their footsteps. An interest in crippled and retarded children has been awakened through their exposure to sick children.

Some of the ex-Candystripers now in nursing are Betty York, Janet Duncan, Sharon Collier, Joyce Hergert, and Margaret Gilchrist who is studying radiology.

After fifty hours of volunteer service the girls receive a cap, after 100 hours a band on the cap, and after 200 hours a pin. After that they are awarded a certificate signed by the hospital administrator, and Mrs. Goudekting.

There are three volunteer Aids, these are adults who come in during the day, Mrs.

Pat Burroughs, Mrs. Joanne Mercer and Mrs. Beverley Whatmough.

The names of present Candystripers are as follows:

Hunter on Committee To Meet with McKeough

A ninety minute hassle developed at County council Tuesday afternoon, over the choice of members to represent Halton county on the Halton-Peel steering committee to discuss regional government with Minister of Municipal Affairs Darcy McKeough.

The Minister originally suggested a three man committee, but early this month, a seven man committee made up of all the reeves was proposed.

Deputy Reeve Wm. Gillies at Tuesday's meeting then proposed a four man committee made up of Warden George Currie, Reeve W. Hoey, Reeve Alan Day and Reeve Gordon Gallagher. He termed it an equal mixture of rural and urban from the four corners of the county.

This suggestion met with strong opposition from all quarters.

At this point a letter was read from the Minister proposing the two county committee be made up of the mayors of Burlington, Oakville, Mississauga three members of Halton county council and four members of Peel county council.

Despite the three-man committee suggested by the minister a motion was made requesting the Warden to name a four man committee, plus the warden. The mover, Reeve Hunter contended the warden was an ex-officio member of any committee. This motion was lost on the grounds the council should choose the members.

The confusion became thicker when Deputy Reeve Gillies then put his amendment that the appointees be Reeves Hoey, Gallagher, Day and the warden. He urged council to reject the Minister's proposal and appoint their own committee.

After lengthy discussion, this motion naming the four reeves also went down to defeat.

In desperation, suggestions of putting the names in a hat, and drawing them were tossed out. Finally they did ballot on the members. Each councillor listed his three choices, still leaving the warden on as an ex-officio member, and the clerk counted the ballots.

Out of all this Reeve G. Gallagher of Burlington, Reeve Alan Day of Oakville, and Reeve W. Hunter of Georgetown with the warden, emerged the official members of the committee.

"In all the years I've been on council I've never seen a hassle like this," remarked Warden George Currie.

When the new deputy reeve of Burlington, replacing the late Mrs. Evelyn Burke, deputy reeve J. Reeve expressed fear the Minister would not recognize the warden as the fourth member of the committee when he asked for a three man committee, Warden Currie retorted, "Then I'll vote Grit next time."

Personnel No More Than Before, Says Chairman

Positions filled by the Halton County Board of Education in the past two months, but these have been no greater or numerous than the problems and difficulties which would be experienced during a transition period of any organization of similar complexity and nature," the chairman concluded.

The chairman pointed out that advertisements for various positions had drawn applicants not only from across the province but also from those holding similar positions with former boards in the county.

Appointments so far made to the administrative and supervisory staff include the director and his assistant, four superintendents, 13 assistant superintendents, five co-ordinators and four assistant co-ordinators.

Mr. Armitage reviewed that enrolment for Halton county schools in September, 1969 will be approximately 48,000 and 2,300 teachers will be required. Population increases are expected to reflect an additional 3,000 students annually.

The 1969 central budget will exceed $30,000,000 and capital budgets will reflect the need for 60 to 70 elementary classrooms each year and 1,500 pupil places in secondary schools.

Turning to the matter of salaries, the subject of some controversy in the area, the chairman said projections indicate the administrative, supervisory, co-ordinating and consulting staff will be five per cent of the total staff and 5 percent of the total salary budget will be required for their salaries.

"Obviously the Board of Education and its administrative staff have experienced some

STATION SHRINKS IN SIZE

A recent tender notice in The Herald for the express building and canopy joining it to the CNR building gave rise to speculation, changes were planned at the station. "It's not so," says CNR station agent John Elliott.

The express building has not been used for over a year and was simply falling into disrepair. "It's simply a matter of getting rid of it rather than paying taxes on it, or spending the money to keep it in repair" said the station agent.

Now express moves by truck from here, to Brampton where it is loaded on the train. The express is now handled at the freight shed, leaving the express building useless.
