

HAY FIRED INFERNO - Georgetown firefighters pour water on smouldering hay dring their second trip to a stubborn blaze which levelled a large barn on the farm of P. McBride on the Sixth Line of Esquesing just north of the Check Line. Flames licking from the top of the barn attracted the firemen to the scene while they were enroute to another call nearby. The barn was packed to the rafters with baled hay.

Rev. Douglas Snell and Si Robert Williams spoke to the committee on the new St. Leonard's House being built at Bramalea This is a hostel designed to house 21 guests who are former prison inmates. The first few weeks following their release is a most critical period. Without the assistance of someone showing real concern they often return to old ways and haunts. The result is 76% return to prison. The St. Leonard's House project is partially under-written by government grants but it still needs the support of fganizations and citizens in this area.

Mrs. L. May reported that the Women's Institute will have a social event towards the end of May for senior citizens. A fall program will be planned i there is sufficient interest.
