

Wrigglesworth-McIntyre Wedding Georgetown, Esqueusing Heads At Municipal Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wrigglesworth cut their wedding cake following marriage in St. John's United Church.

A bouquet of shasta daisies and snapdragons was on the communion table flanked by candelabra decorated with daisies and gardenia leaves, in St. John's United Church for the marriage of Christina Jean McIntyre and Robert Frederick Herbert Wrigglesworth.

The seven o'clock ceremony on July 11, was performed by Rev. Robert Scrivens. Rev. Thomas Forgrave, step-brother of the groom, came from Mayerthorpe, Alberta to assist with scripture readings and a prayer.

Kenneth R. Harrison was organist. Tom Trouten, Burlington, sang The Lord's Prayer, Wedding Hymn and Wedding Prayer. It was a double ring ceremony and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

Her wedding gown of white chiffon had a scooped neckline and full, sheer white sleeves gathered at the wrist. She wore a long mantilla veil of chantilly lace and carried a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy. This was fastened to a white bible, a gift from William Kinrade when she received her gold cord in guiding. Her mother had hand headed her headpiece which held the veil, falling into a three foot train.

The maid of honour was Susan MacDonald and bridesmaids were Cathy Mackenzie, Hamilton and Margie Bonner, London. The three were roommates when they attended the University of Western Ontario. Their gowns were a pale yellow print crepe, falling full-skirted from an empire waist. A bright green ribbon was worn around the bodice and tied in the back with streamers in the floor. Andrea White, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore pale yellow nylon sheer, full length, with the same green ribbon. Attendants carried bouquets of shasta daisies and baby's breath and wore single drop pearl necklaces, gifts of the bride.

The groom's brother Douglas Wrigglesworth, Toronto, was best man and ushers were the bride's brother Steven McIntyre and the groom's step-brother, Peter Forgrave, Wawa. Ring bearers were Michael and David White, twin cousins of the bride.

At a garden reception at Terra Cotta Inn, the bride's mother wore a pale blue alpaca silk dress, matching lace coat, silver accessories and a white gardenia corsage. The groom's mother wore a pale pink silk worsted two-piece dress and jacket, a tulle hat of soft shades of pink and a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Guests from out of town were from London, Woodstock, Montreal, Fenelon Falls, Keewick, Chippewa, Toronto, Port Credit, St. Catharines, Port Arthur and Mayerthorpe, Alberta.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Montreal, then two weeks at Fenelon Falls, the bride wore a dress and coat of off-white wool gabardine, brown and beige accessories and a white gardenia corsage.

The groom, son of Mrs. Ernest Forgrave and the late Howard Wrigglesworth, is employed at Northern Electric. His bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James MacDonald McIntyre, 95 Rexway Drive, will attend Teachers' College in September. They are living at 171 Church Street East in Brampton.

Gain One, Lose Another In County Council Ranks

Warden George Currie welcomed Gordon Agnew, the newly-appointed deputy reeve of Nassagaweya to Halton County Council, Tuesday afternoon.

The former deputy reeve Mrs. Ann McArthur became reeve of Nassagaweya, upon the recent death of William Hoy. Reeve McArthur will assume the duties of the former reeve, including chairmanship of the Board of Health.

Both were sworn into their new office by Clerk Administrator Garfield Brown.

While a new face appeared at council, one will disappear before the next meeting. Deputy reeve William A. Reeve of Burlington announced he was retiring from all public offices for reasons of health.

Deputy reeve Reeve took office January of this year, filling the unexpired term of Mrs. Evelyn Burke, who died while in office.

Dr. I. A. Hunter of Milton was appointed Acting Medical Officer of Health, at Halton County council meeting Tuesday afternoon. He will act only till a permanent MOH can be found.

Dr. Hunter will be paid $15 an hour, and will work a maximum of 15 hours a week.

The Board of Health has spent considerable time and effort trying to fill the post which becomes vacant September 1st, upon the retirement of Dr. I. M. Stuart.

Choosing, Cooking Meat New Project For 4-H Girls

"Meat in the Menu" is the 4-H Homemaking Club project in Halton County this fall. Members will learn to choose, use and cook meat for family meals. A series of eight meetings will make the best use of meat and the money spent for it, the various cuts of meat, and how to buy, store and prepare them. The members will also learn the value of meat in the diet, and how to score their daily meals.

The Training School for local leaders will be conducted in Milton on September 10th and 11th by County Home Economist Doreen Hamill. New clubs are always welcomed by the Home Economics Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, 411 Homemaking clubs are open to all girls between the ages of 12 and 26. Additional information may be obtained from the Home Economist, Ontario Dept. of Agriculture and Food, 181 Main St. Milton.

Every municipality in Halton was represented at the recent Niagara Falls convention of the Ontario Municipal Association.

A host of resolutions on municipal topics were debated and approved during the three day sessions including two presented by Nassagaweya Township and spoken to by Reeve A. MacArthur.

Warden G. Currie the oldest county warden present and the only one to hold the position twice, was recognized on the convention floor.

Among the 1,200 delegates and wives present were Reeve A. Ledwith and Deputy Reeve R. Harris with clerk J. McGeachie from Milton; Reeve A. MacArthur and Deputy Reeve G. Agnew from Nassagaweya; Reeve G. Currie and Deputy Reeve T. Hill from Esqueving; Mayor L. Duby, Reeve P. G. Oakes and Deputy Reeve T. Tyler from Acton; Mayor W. Emmerson, Reeve W. Hunter and Deputy Reeve A. Speight from Georgetown; Reeve A. Day and Deputy Reeve W. Gillies from Oakville and Mayor Harrington and Deputy Reeve B. Reeve from Burlington.

The resolutions presented to the convention numbered 137 and covered administration, assessment, and taxation, education, elections, employment, employer relations, finance, health and welfare, highways, housing, law enforcement, planning and land use controls, regional government, safety and water and air pollution.

Among the speakers was Minister of Municipal Affairs Darcy McKeough on the subjects of regional government and the provincial take-over of assessment by the province.

Dr. Carl S. Winters, Oak Park, Illinois, addressed the association's annual dinner in the Sheraton Ballroom and received a standing ovation when he completed his address urging members to work to retain the qualities of Canada which he termed a "wonderful country".

A Nassagaweya resolution asking the minister of Municipal Affairs, when determining future representation in regional government, to take other factors than population into account. The resolution proposed consideration of future potential, population, assessment and present areas as criteria instead of representation by population only.

A resolution proposed by Burlington was carried calling on the province to store unfit motor vehicles for the required 90 days and be responsible for disposing of them. The resolution pointed out the problem of disposing of mechanically unfit vehicles should not be the problem of the municipalities.

Among other resolutions was one calling for legislation to permit control of rain-making equipment and one calling for the provincial secretary to supply marriage registers to those authorized to perform marriages.

A second resolution presented by the Township of Nassagaweya called for a special levy on stone and gravel extraction for the rehabilitation of defaced areas. The resolution pointed out the township has four major producers of crushed stone and gravel, each with a million ton capacity per year. "Thereby defacing large acreages of property around and on the Niagara escarpment." There is no provincial regulation to

Discuss Conservation Visits As School Children Project

Halton Region Conservation Authority has held a preliminary meeting with the county education board to discuss visiting controversial Crawford Lake as a conservation education area.

There are no definite plans yet, said the authority's resources manager, David Murray, but one possibility is to open the area to school children who would come there for the day under supervision to learn about conservation.

The authority and the education board plan another meeting early in September to further discuss the educational potential of the Crawford Lake conservation area.

Crawford Lake and the surrounding 425 acres, located northwest of here near Campbellville in north Halton, has been closed by the authority to the general public, a move that has brought considerable condemnation.

"Unheard Of" One of the critics, Milton Councillor Colin Smilie, said it was "unheard of" that a park purchased with public funds is automatically closed to the public. He demanded the authority state its specific intentions for the area but got the same answer as newspaper reporters earlier in the week.

Murray said the authority is financially strapped and cannot afford to develop the area at this time but is conducting studies to determine its ultimate use. Murray promised this use would be in the best interests of the public.

"The education centre is just one of the possible uses we are considering," Murray said.

Lake and conservation park was bought by the authority last January for $25,000 after nine years of negotiations.

Public Funds The park was bought with public funds since the authority gets its money from municipal and provincial grants, which in turn come from taxes. Each of the seven municipalities in Halton County helps support the conservation authority.

The Crawford Lake area is provide for the rehabilitation of worked out pits and quarries it was explained.

In the field of education approval was given a resolution calling for legislation requiring school boards to submit budgets to county councils for approval.

The convention also approved a resolution calling for legislation that would impose liability on parents for wilful damage by children to public property. A limit of $100 for damage was specified.

swimming and picnicking, the area is closed. People can still use the nature trails, however.

Murray denied a report in the hunting and fishing section of a Hamilton newspaper; that fish in the lake would be poisoned because they are stunted.

No Attraction The fish are stunted, he agreed, and since they do not grow beyond a few inches, are no attraction to anglers. But the authority has never discussed getting rid of them by poisoning them, Murray said. It is one of the problems they are working on.
