

Halton Liberal Survey Nixes Legalized Pot

A majority of Liberal party electors in the Halton and Halton East ridings are opposed to the legalizing and controlling the sale and use of marijuana according to the results of a questionnaire prepared by Halton Liberal MP Rud Whiting.

Of 82 per cent who expressed an opinion, 40 per cent said they disagreed completely with the suggestion that marijuana should be legalized and controlled on a basis similar to alcohol.

Twenty two per cent said they favoured the idea. In partial agreement were 16 per cent with four per cent in partial disagreement. Eighteen per cent had no opinion.

Whiting released the results of the questionnaire at the Liberal's fund raising dance at Oakville.

Elsewhere in the questionnaire, 48 per cent of Whiting's constituents said they completely agreed that Canada must do something about the conditions of its Indian people even if it means raising everyone's taxes.

Thirty-six per cent opposed the suggestion that the government should establish wage controls as a means of checking inflation. In favour of this were 22 per cent.

In favour of the government establishing price controls to check inflation were 32 per cent.

other forms of welfare payments. Thirty per cent said "yes" and 16 per cent opposed the idea. On the question of whether Canada should spend less on defense, 34 per cent were in favour with 12 per cent disagreeing. Thirty four per cent said Canada should not spend less on foreign aid while 10 per cent agreeing it should.

YOUNGER EVERY YEAR

Sure, brides and grooms seem to be getting younger every year — but three years of age?

That's how old Jimmy Orwin and Leah McArdle are. They were "married" in a backyard ceremony behind the bride's home at 48 Duncan Drive recently. Playmates made up the "wedding party."

There were flowers from a neighbourhood garden, a ring, and even a wedding cake, baked by a babysitter, which was topped with the traditional bride and groom figurines.

It all came about when their playmates decided Jimmy and Leah's courtship had lasted long enough. From there the idea snowballed and when parents realized the extent of the youngsters' preparations they too became involved and added authentic touches.

But mainly the whole affair was planned and conducted by the small types. Roddy Fraser, 5, was the minister, complete with reversed shirt collar, and the bridesmaids were Susan Orwin, Sally Murphy, Kim Michaels and Irene Watt whose ages range from 5 to 8.

The arrangements by the children even included the printing of invitations — in crayon of course.

Each member of the wedding party was dressed the part for the 11 a.m. ceremony, which concluded with the groom, giving the bride the traditional kiss. And following that, all assembled at the reception under the lawn umbrella for a reception with hot dogs and wedding cake.

Of course there was a honeymoon, also in the backyard, where the happy couple played ring-around-the-rosey.

KID HOCKEY

JR. A — AMERICAN — NHL — SENIOR
by Bud James

5:30 a.m. Start Doesn't Deter Hockey Hopefuls

With the 5.30 starting time in the Saturday Morning Hockey every team was on time Saturday and teams were only missing 1 or 2 players mostly due to power failure.

With the addition of 2 teams in each league the coaches could get their lines straightened out and give each player more ice time. The new teams looked good and will give the other teams some competition after a few games and practices.

There has been a number of players losing their equipment and it is advisable that they put their names on their equipment. One player from Peterboro lost a pair of new skates. Players who played on 4 town PeeWee team get in touch with your commissioner for crests.
