The Old Year in Pictures — MARCH

Top left — Georgetown Juvenile hockey club goes west for an exhibition series on the coast made possible through fund raising projects and donations. Top left — Local youth get their drop-in centre at Branch 120. Middle left — Canadian National Railways' Georgetown station joins the reducing kick and sheds its express office. Middle right — Congregations of Ashgrove and Hornby United Churches are united under one roof as Hillcrest church opens on the 7th Line of Esquimaux. Bottom left — Adults too, have their drop-in centre. St. Andrew's Church women create a place for the town's new homemakers to meet and greet their neighbours. Bottom right — Memorial Arena again embraces 900 young hockey players at the annual Kinsmen Bantam Hockey Tournament. Here Dean Taylor checks in a visiting team.

Happy New Year

Old Forge Could Become Museum for Peel County

The old Forge in Terra Cotta former home of sculptress Rebecca Sisler may become a museum or an educational site.

Peel County Council last week referred the fate of the forge to the county roads committee, due to meet in January 1970.

Chingacousy reeve elect Bob Williams proposed that the forge be turned over to the Peel County Historical Society for use as a museum, to be operated by the residents.

ENCROACHES

"In view of the fact that more than 300 people signed a petition asking that the forge be preserved," said Williams, "I think we should turn it into a historical site instead of tearing it down. Tendrils have already been called for its destruction."

Peel County purchased the forge and the surrounding land from Rebecca Sisler recently at a cost of $35,000. The building now encroaches on the county road allowance by about five feet.

A Christmas family reunion was celebrated at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett, 7 Campbell Gate with their son Delbert and his wife and daughters Cheryl, Janice and Elizabeth of Windsor and daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawson, Tecumseh and son Bill and his wife of Georgetown, all present.
