

What I couldn't figure was how I was on the left side of the path looking at Beth, when I should have been on the right

The next thought was "You

DO see stars when you get clobbered!" and I lay and watched the white sparkles spin

in front of my eyes. Then because Beth was hollering to ask if I was all right, I started a

"Am I alright? Yes, I'M

alright. Am I broken? No, I'M not broken. Am I bleeding? No,

I'M not bleeding. Am I sore?

Ohhhhh!" Round about then, I

to lie in the snow any longer, coat, when I hit the ground. All could say was-thank heavens

for that duffle coat and the snow. If it weren't for them, I'd

Was my pride hurt? Not in the least. The last time I came off a horse was 14 years ago, and I was about due for another spill.

future is now black and blue and green around the edges.

And that's why my rosy

Every now and then I buy sour cream for a recipe and find that I have either quite a bit or just a small blob left over. Here

SOUR CREAM SCONES

Mrs. Jack Smith couldn't

come home for a golden wedding anniversary celebration

last Wednesday-she's a patient

in St. John's Convalescent

So the party went to her and

There were about 25 friends and relatives waiting in the hospital's conference room when

Mr. Smith and daughter Barbara

"just happened" to take her for a stroll in her wheel chair.

Hospital officials had happily

room for the party that

A decorated table was set up Mary Benton.

FOR MEN, BOYS, GIRLS AND CHILDREN

ALSO INFANTS & CHIEDREN'S

HINTON'S

STIUS WOKE

Hospital, Willowdale.

followed.

it was a complete surprise.

Sift 2 cups all purpose flour, 2 tsp.

are two recipes I use it up in.

be an awful mess.

back together and got up.

conversation with myself.

side looking at Mack.

By Wendy Thomson

Well, if the first few days of the new year are any indication of the rest of it, life isn't going to be as rosy as it looked early New Year's Day.

I had been looking forward to four days of holidays with Gord, sitting in front of the fire, listening to records, playing cribbage, aybe taking a short ride, or perhaps even TALKING!

As luck would have it though, a flu type bug caught up with Gord and he spent his holidays huddled under the electric blanket turned so high, I thought he'd was flat on my stomach in the either melt away or go up in a snow, one big angular puddle of puff of smoke. Steady streams of tea, chicken broth, and sympathy were poured into him, and it must have all gone to his knees for when he rolled out of bed, they had pretty well turned to mush,

By Sunday, I was getting a little restless, as being a perpetual ministering angel isn't quite my line, and I applied for the afternoon off. We had been invited to Mack and Jenny Barr's to go for a jount on their horses. Gord, I think, was delighted at the prospect of being alone in a quiet, childless house for a few hours and rallied enough to feebly wave goodbye to us.

I had been offered the occasional use of Misty, Barr's new grulla while my own mare was "in her delicate condition", and I was all keen to try her out. She was extremely well-mannered in the stable, and we got along quite well on trial trots up and down the drive. I hadn't ridden any horse but my own for over a year, and having become so in tune to her rhythm, I was a little rugged with Misty's, but we got along.

While Jenny was digging her mounting block out of the snow, Mack on his grulla Nina, Beth on their new pony Jingles, and I trotted down the lane behind the barn to the back field, turned around to come back, and then the fun began! Nina, full of New Year's spirit and such, took off at a gallop, but Misty, instead of doing the same (which I wouldn't have minded) decided to do the bucking bronco bit, put her head down and tail down, and started sunfishing up the lane with great loaps and bounds.

By the third jar, I realized she wasn't going to stop it, by the fifth I decided to just hang on and never mind proper form; by the seventh, I knew that I was being jarred loose and was working desperately to get my feet out of the stirrups, but the last one was caught.

By the ninth, I left. It happened unbelievably fast. One second I was in the saddle trying to kick loose; the next, I

Free Press briefs

LOCAL POLICE have a New Year's wish for everyone- make every week of 1970 a Safe Driving Week.

NEW DUSTING of snow every day or so keeps it sparkling, while the driving isn't too bad.

WHAT THIS COUNTRY needs is someone who knows what this country needs.

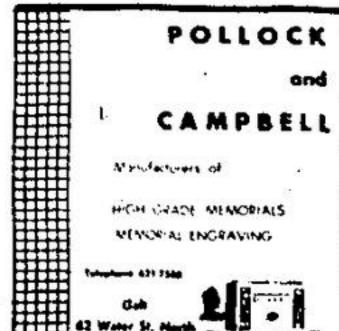

SNOW PLOWS were up and down the streets of town but no cars had to be removed this

WOULD YOU believe the average Canadian walks 250,000 miles in a lifetime? Sit down and have a little rest!

THE HIGH SCHOOL'S winter carnival should be interesting for everybody, especially the torchlight parade. Mary Ann Freuler writes about it in her column this week.

GRADE EIGHT students are spending a half day at the high school, to see the routines there. They are sitting in on regular classes.

IT'S ALWAYS a wrench to see a big tree cut down, even if there seems to be a good reason. Many householders are mourning them following the tree cutting crews' program the past week.

Mrs. R. M. MacDonald town resident 90 years

Acton's oldest lifetime resident, Mrs. R. M. (Henrietta) MacDonald, celebrated her 90th birthday surrounded by all her family and many friends. Chipper and charming, she received best wishes from over 100 when a reception was held Sunday afternoon in Knox

With her were her son, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. MacDonald Sr., of Detroit; two daughters, Mrs. W. T. A. Bell (Helen) of Toronto and Mrs. Norman Small (Doris) of Niagara Falls with Mr. Small. five grandchildren and three great grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Murray MacDonald, Murray and Sarah; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth MacDonald and daughter Heather Anne, all of Detroit; Mrs. Garvin Tankersley of Myersville, Maryland, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Holmes of St. Catharines and Mr. Jim Small of Waterloo College. One granddaughter's husband was the only one missing in the happy family group.

Mrs. MacDonald still lives in her attractive home at 26 Willow St., looking forward to many visits and meetings as well as regular routine of housekeeping.

decided my ears were too cold Guests were received in the and bit by bit I pieced myself Dr. A. C. Stewart hall of the church decorated with flowers for the occasion. Her Then Mack came back with fellow-members of the Ladies' the explanation of my position and my soreness. He had looked Aid served lunch with special birthday cake. She received gifts back in time to see me go off, head first right under the horse. and many cards as well as and out the other side. It must flowers and a mauve orchid have been just as she gathered corsage to match her dress.

Mrs. MacDonald is the last of herself for another jump, because it seemed to me that the family of four sisters and just before I hit the ground, I two brothers, children of Mr. went through a giant egg-beater. and Mrs. S. Laird of Acton. She And that's how I looked when attended Acton public school the bruises started coming out. and then Acton high school.

I have about 15 separate. At an early age she was patches of them, all shapes and engaged on the post office staff sizes, from heat to foot. There when the post office was located were four that puzzled me for a in a small building where the while, about the size of quarters Bank of Nova Scotia is now. spaced evenly down my front. While with the post office she Then I realized they were from learned the art of telegraphy, the buckle catches on my duffle but the telegraph office was later moved to the Grand Trunk * baking powder, 1/8 tsp. baking soda, I tsp. salt, 1 Tosp. sugar. Cut in 1/2 cup shortening. Stir in 1/2 cup raisins, Beat I egg till thick and light. Add 1/4 cup sour cream. Add to flour mixture. Pat into oblong 6" x 8". Cut in squares, then disgonally,

Sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 450 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes. SOUR CREAM COOKIES Cream & cup butter, and 11/2 cups brown sugar. Mix in 2 eggs. Blend in I tsp. vanilla and I cup sour cream, Sift 21/2 cups flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. nutmeg. 34 tsp. cinnamon, 15 tsp. baking powder, I tsp. baking soda, and combine with creamed mixture. Add 1 cup chopped walnuts and 115 cups currants or raisins. Chill until firm. Drop from tsp. about 2 inches apart, and bake at 400 degrees for 8 to 10 minutes of until golden brown.

with anniversary cake. There were cards, flowers and gifts.

The Acton group had brought down the traditional gold tea set

the gift of the town, which had been brought to their Knox Ave.

home that morning by Mayor

Mrs. Smith wore a corsage and

Les Duby and clerk Joe Hurst.

Mr. Smith a boutonniere. A table centrepiece was later placed in the chapel of the hospital where it would be cooler, and it was still lovely on Sunday. Visitors came from

Acton, Guelph, Clarkson and of honor of 50 years before,

Miss Madeleine Gibbons and the widow of the groomsman, Mrs.

COMPLETE STOCK

co-operated in providing the Toronto, and included the maid

Anniversary celebration

in convalescent hospital

Railroad station. She served as clerk on the post office staff under the late Postmaster James Matthews for 10 years until her marriage on May 7, 1905. She became the first librarian when a small room in the town hall was set up for the purpose.

She is a charter member of the Duke of Devonshire chapter of the LO.D.E. and still serves on the executive after well over 50 years. Two other charter members, Miss M. Z. Bennett and Mrs. G. A. Dills were among the visitors at the reception.

During the first World War she was regent of the chapter. During the second World War she, with the other members of the chapter, did a great deal of war work.

She was vice president of the Red Cross Society when the late Amos Mason was president. She was in charge of the workroom in the old post office, when half a dozen sewing machines were

volunteer effort

The annual January campaign of the Ability Fund, new name for the March of Dimes, is more than ever a volunteer effort on behalf of disabled adults, according to the organization's new campaign chairman, J. 3. McGill. .

"Naturally, we have staff people to carry on the day-to-day business of the Rehabilitation Foundation for the Disabled, which is the corporate title for the Ability Fund," said Mr. McGill, "but the campaign is primarily a volunteer show. And there are more volunteers becoming involved than ever before."

The Ability Fund is campaigning for a total of $875,000 throughout Ontario. It hopes to raise this amount in two ways: in about 485 communities including Acton by a campaign of 'Marching Mothers" and through United Appeals.

Acton's goal is set at $700. Captains are being lined up now by chairman Mrs. S. Cripps,

Seeks water

Ontario Water Resources Commission has awarded a contract to G. Hart and Sons of Fencion Falls. The job includes clearing out and test drilling in the Glen Williams area of Esquesing and investigating water availability, Halton East MP Jim Snow announced yesterday.

A cable was received from their other daughter Mary, Mr.

and Mrs. C. J. Lewcock, in London, England. They have one grandson, John Lesley, 11,

Mrs. Smith is in hospital

following corrective surgery and isn't sure how many weeks it will be before she's home again.

Mr. Smith was a railroad man,

worked in the Wool Combing

and at one time had his own butcher shop in town. Except for 14 years in Orillia, they have lived all their married life in Acton, Mr. Smith retired from butchering at the I.G.A. store

in London.

two years ago.

NOW ZJ OFF

5¢ TO $1 STORE

kept busy sewing for the soldiers. Many ladies would work at the cutting tables and an enormous amount of articles was turned out under her leadership.

Retaining her keen interest in the town and its people and lively enthusiasm, she particularly enjoys rooting for her favorite Maple Leafs when she watches television. She has a wonderful/gift of memory and recalls happenings of the town for most of her 90 years.

She is the last surviving member of the committee which arranged the erection of the War Memorial after World War 1.

After her marriage she became a member of Knox church and also its W.M.S. and Ladies' Aid. During the course of her 64-year membership she was honored with an honorary life membership in the Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada and she was an officer of the Guelph Presbytery executive W.M.S. for many years. She served as treasurer of the W.M.S.

for 25 years. Her husband, who died in 1941, was an employee of Beardmore and Co., later customs officer and insurance agent. He was also one-time fire chief of the brigade, secretary of Acton school board and secretary of Walker Lodge. After his death, Mrs. MacDonald ably carried on his insurance business for 12 years. At this time she everyone in town.

SEATED BY HER 90th birthday cake, Mrs. R. M. and son - Laird MacDonald of Detroit, five MacDonald was joined on the special occasion by grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.her two daughters, Mrs. Norman Small of Niagara (Staff Photo) personally knew almost Falls and Mrs. W. T. A. Bell of Toronto (above)

Briefs on religion to February hearing

Briefs on religious education in Halton schools will be chairman of the committee. considered during February by reported on current studies of the Halton Board of Education's the Mackay Report on the Committee on Religious subject and plans to hear briefs Education, board members in February and prepare learned Thursday.

Trustee L. D. Palmer, conclusions in March.

Two briefs have already been received by the committee and it was understood others were in preparation, Mr. Palmer noted. Briefs have been invited from teachers, student councils and

interested citizens. 100000 NOW ON!

the sale of the year you've been waiting for

SAVINGS 1/2 off

Glidden ) Alkyd Semi-Gloss Enamel High Gloss Enamel

AVAILABLE IN LIGHT PASTELS CHOICE OF APPROXIMATELY 100 COLORS

ALL AVAILABLE IN GALLONS ONLY

$11.80 VALUE

27 MILL STREET

GEORGETOWN

For the finest in wall coverings

877-4193