STRIKES At Youth Bowling Council

By Margot Matheson

In the "Well Wishes and Birthday Department", celebrating the happy occasion is Bartram Wayne Poite on February 27.

With the Bantams' bowling the Wrens managed to come up with a one game and total win against the Sparrows. Wrens lost their second game by only 8 pins. Orioles just had to be copy cats and did the very same to the Cardinals. Cardinals lost the first game by 8 pins, Blue Jays wiped out the Robins being clear ahead all the way.

In the second shift, Pigeons went right to town and took both games from the Doves. Canaries played follow the leader and also took both games from the Crows. Parakeets wound up the morning's bowling by also taking two games from the Swallows.

The "Top Formers" were Susan Thompson 145-182 (327), Steve Blanchard 145-143 (288), Valerie Blomman 131-152 (283), Danny Thompson 134-141 (275), Bonnie Turkosz 152-121 (273), Terry Bateman 129-134 (263), Ricky Van Fleet 111-147 (258), Bert Post 123-134 (257), Maria Pataky 126-131 (257), Melanie Birdie 139-162 (255).

Bowling best over their averages to win the "Cokes, Pepsis and Seven Ups" were Judy Sheppard, Debbie Turkosz, Eddie St. Pierre, Steve Blanchard, Chris Laundry, Faith Middleton.

Natural Gas keeps things cooking right along, seven days a week.

Take it from the Colonel.

Colonel Sanders serves up tasty fried chicken and appetizing salads at over 50 different locations in South Western Ontario. That's around five million pounds of chicken every year.

And natural gas plays a very important role in helping him please the palates of thousands of hungry customers.

Natural gas helps him as the heat energy source for his custom-built cooking pots. (Oils used in his famous frying process must be maintained at a precise temperature and the Colonel finds natural gas heat completely dependable.)

He likes the ease of control and instant responsiveness of natural gas, too. With the thousands of customers he serves in a day, his cookery must run efficiently.

The Colonel doesn't limit his use of natural gas to cooking, either.

It heats all his water for normal use.

And natural gas provides his outlets with clean, modern, fresh-air heat. No mean task in the middle of winter when his doors are forever opening and closing.

Isn't it about time you got cooking with natural gas? Or heating your water with it? Or heating your office or factory or store or home with it?

You don't need 50 different retail locations to make natural gas make sense for you.

One quick chat with your gas company representative or heating contractor will tell you how economical it is to install and maintain. Just ask the Colonel. He'll tell you he's never had it so finger lickin' good.
