

CLIMAX OF FRIDAY night's arena performance was the crowning of Miss Acton Fair, Anita Thibodeau, by last year's Queen Kathy Smith. Standing behind the

new queen are runners up Rosemary Bird and Dolores Jordan. M. C. Stewart McCullough presents the H. H. Hinton trophy.—(Staff Photo)

JOYCE CARPENTER'S ACTON School of Dance took first prize in Saturday's parade in the business and commerce section for their imaginative float depicting life on a south Sea Island. The float was replete with palm trees, hut and over 6,000 flowers made painstakingly over the last few weeks.—(Staff Photo)

ALL EYES WERE on dancer Peggy Jackson when she limboed for a crowd estimated at over 2,000 in the community centre. Finale of the act was a dance under a rod of fire.—(Staff Photos)

FAIR DAYS

M. P. RudWhiting was present Saturday and talked to constituents Bill Buchanan and daughter on the fair grounds.—(Staff Photo)

COLOR PARTY of the Royalaires was one of the big attractions of Saturday's parade.—(Staff Photo)

OPEN THE BOX and up pops a monster! Magician Jack Bateman and emcee Zena Cheevers were favorites with the crowd at the Fall Fair's Friday night variety show.—(Staff Photo)

NOVELTY PRIZE FLOAT was the Canadian Tire entry with a bevy of flapper era charmers, fur coated chaperones and loads of 23 Skidoo. The honky-tonk piano made it jump.—(Staff Photo)

HERR OCTOBERFEST Julius Rauchfuss of Kitchener entertained Friday night crowds at the variety concert with visions of his city's big beer festival.—(Staff Photo)

THIS BEAUTIFULLY decorated horse and buggy, with gentleman and lady riding, was a colorful entry in the Fall Fair parade.—(Staff Photo)

THE GOLDEN AGE Club float took first prize in the service club competition during Saturday's Fair parade.—(Staff Photo)

ANTICS OF Benny Silverton on the violin convulsed Friday audience at the community centre.—(Staff Photo)