OUR READERS WRITE:

Easy to be heartless

Dear Sir:

I would like to ask Mrs. R. Atkinson, what is wrong with songs from "Hair"? One of the songs was this one:

How Can People Be So Heartless

How can people be so heartless?
 How can people be so cool?
 Easy to be hard,
 Easy to be cold,
 How can people have no feelings?
 How can they ignore their friends?
 Easy to be proud,
 Easy to say No.
 Especially people who care about strangers,
 Who care about Evil and Social injustice.
 Do you only care about the bleeding crowd?
 How about a needing friend?
 I need a friend.

Yours truly,
 John Mowat

Picks bone with CBC

Dear Sir:

I have a bone to pick with CBC radio. Although I do enjoy their discussions, I think sometimes they make remarks they can't back up. They seem to think no one has read history but themselves, while as a matter of fact, Canadians are quite conversant with the story of our Commonwealth. (Thanks, and a pat on the back to our teachers).

For instance, after CBC had read a mediocre play disappointingly rendered, on Oliver Cromwell, they up and said Charles I was a bad king. That statement is neither true nor fair.

Because he was a Scottish king and a Stuart, he was downgraded by those English people with narrow religious views. Why do they always pick on the Scottish kings? Why not take a stab at one of European descent for a change? George the third, for instance - the one who lost the United States (half a continent) from the British Empire!

The Stuart kings could speak English. Could they all? How about George I?

I like to think of my forefathers the Stuart Scots, as great leaders, thus -

James I - promoter of the first translation of the entire Bible into English.

Charles I - discovery and exploration of our Arctic lands and waters owned by England to this day.

James II - first proponent of freedom of worship for all religions.

Three noble projects by three noble kings - Stuarts.

There now, CBC, you had your say by radio, and I've had mine by newspaper.

Mr. Editor, I appreciate your publishing my letters.

Sincerely yours,
 Millicent Milroy,
 Rockwood, Ont.

P.S. - Did any of your readers hear a minister from Stouffville, Ont. give CBC a lambasting about an objectionable play? At last our ministers are speaking out? M.A.M.

Disillusioned?

I am sure at some time or another you have had the opportunity to feel the intangible force that exists between donor and recipient.

Strange and simple as it may be, a feeling momentarily exists, -tab it happens. Recently a mangy molar necessitated a visit to a recently arrived professional man. This is how it was, he took away my number, I was a real person, he cared. I assumed here is a young fellow with faith, thousands of dollars in equipment to be paid, a first venture into practice and his primary thought was the honest art of dentistry, the dollar was secondary.

Yes, it was September 1970, a time when professional art seems to struggle against egos and glittering gold; a young man had the audacity to use an X-Ray machine, give me a half hour out of his life and stray from present standards - setting his own fees. He impressed me as an honest man, I hope he remains as such.

Pohd.
