Slave auction

Make your bid get your kid!

About 30 students and teachers brought a total of $54 from bidders at Friday afternoon's Acton District High school slave auction.

Students and teachers who put themselves up for auction performed tasks for their masters on "Grubbles and Red and White" day yesterday (Monday). Funds raised are to be used to help defray expenses of staging today's Christmas assembly.

Highest bid
Biology teacher Wally Rowley and his pet hamster "Hamaish" went for the highest price $8.

Other teachers up for auction included Sue Burns, Kathy Ott, Ken Ellis and John Cristello.

Well known Rockwood auctioneer Max Storey volunteered his services to handle the bidding. Minimum bid allowed was $1.

Commercial teacher Boris Shean along with students Jackie Lee, Chris Brunelle, Bev Brunelle, Nancy Lee, Sherry Johnston, Diane Fisher, Barb Browne and Sharon Froehlich organized the event.
