Children skate on icy township roads

Esquesing Council promised Peter Bowman Monday night they would contact roads superintendent C. E. "Bud" Snow about the possibility of leaving a box of sand by the roadside on the Sixth Line hill, just north of the Highway 7 Intersection.

Bowman complained he had trouble getting up the hill and his 15 year old son was stuck in Acton the night of the ice storm, Thursday, Feb. 4. He said the road was not sanded from Thursday until late Friday night. Bowman said he called the township offices at noon hour and again at 5 o'clock Friday. The road was finally sanded shortly after 10 in the evening, he said.

Mechanical failure

Reeve Tom Hill told Bowman there had been a mechanical failure on the hopper of one of the sanding trucks that particular

'Couldn't extra men be hired to flag. help out with sanding?" Bowman

Hill explained the township just can't go out and pick up a truck and extra men, since they would have to carry insurance and compensation.

Praises crew

Councillor Len Coxe, who made the suggestion of a hillside box of sand, said he thinks the township works crew has done its best to get people home during stormy weather conditions this winter. The crew has 135 miles of road to look after.

John Dixon, who resides on the Sixth Line between Five and 10 Sideroads, told council his portion of the road was not sanded Friday morning.

"I went and got the kids and we skated on the Sixth Line that day," he told council.

Order new flag

A brand new flag will be flying outside Esquesing township offices soon, as a result of a letter to council from Mrs. Joyce Lock,

R. R. 3 Georgetown. In her letter, Mrs. Lock sald she was overcome to see a torn flag flying when she was passing the offices. Canada's flag should be treated with respect and lowered at sundown, the letter continued.

Esquesing may need park for mobile homes—Hill

Esquesing Council is going to have to consider designating a place in the township for the ocation of mobile homes soon, since more and more people are using them.

An enquiry from Mervin Barber, a resident of 25 Sideroad near the First Line, prompted discussion of the matter among councillors at Monday night's meeting.

Asks position

Mr. Barber asked about council's position on allowing mobile homes into the township and also about the possibility of opening a snowmobile sales and service business on his property. He presently operates a recreational camp in the summertime and rents snowmobiles in the winter.

Council granted Mr. Barber permission to allow mobile homes, used by construction workers, to set up on his property for the summer only but ordered a mobile homes park operated by Mr. John Wood at "The Breezes" near Acton vacated in 1969.

council. Reeve Hill hinted Monday Esquesing is keeping a close eye on Chinguacousy township to see what they do about mobile homes.

Mr. Barber told council he would like to have about 10 or 15 mobile homes on his property. Neighbors along 25 Sideroad have no objection, he said.

Entering the discussion, Sixth Line resident Peter Bowman said he heard there are trallers set up at a park near Limehouse. Reeve Hill instructed clerk-treasurer Delmar French to investigate the matter immediately.

Scrapyard?

Mr. Barber expressed the opinion the township should not be able to collect taxes for land that is frozen by the by-law and hinted if he doesn't receive council's approval for either the mobile home park or the snowmobile sales and service business, he might sell his property for a scrap-yard.

Halton County Board of Education budget projections show transportation costs will be up by $87,500 to bus the 10,300 students who require rides to and from school this year. The projected transportation budget is now set at $1,000,830.

The increases are due partially to increased wages and increased contracts with transportation firms. Debt charges are expected to increase by two and a half per cent to a total of $3,743,838.

The proposal allows for an increase of $7,200 to cover transportation costs for field trips and team transportation. Of the budgeted $37,100, $22,500 is allowed for field trips and $14,600 for team transportation. Request grant

Halton Region Conservation

Authority has requested a grant of $21,000 from the Board to carry out field trips and excursions involving nature study. Last year the board granted $7,000. Their request has yet to be considered.

Budget considerations which got underway during January continue through February. The board will hold a regular meeting tomorrow evening (Thursday) and deal with the budget Feb. 25.

are carefully explained by a trustee but no decision is made. Additions or cuts can be made at the conclusion of the budget discussions.

plans to present a show again next year, possibly putting it on in three different locations in Area 1.

The Music Festival will be held in April as usual.

County seminar is proposed

Providing the plan receives a favorable reception from the municipal councils in Halton, the county council will stage a seminar that would allow all councillors from the seven areas to trade ideas and learn from one

While members of county council agreed the idea had merit, the proposal put forth by Burlington Reeve Jim Swanborough sparked considerable discussion, at Tuesday's council meeting. The tentative date suggested was April 1. The Warden was to appoint a committee and bring back a report about what should be discussed, when and where and if council members should receive pay for attending.

Opinion of paper could earn $300

Your opinions of The Acton Free Press, whether they be good or bad, may win you $300 in a competition announced by the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

The prize is offered to any render of any CWNA weekly who best describes in his or her own words just what this paper means to them. The written expression of frank opinion should be at least 250 words but not exceed 700.

encourage renders to think about what their weekly paper means to them, their families, their lives and their communities, and to set these thoughts down straightforward language. Pollshed literary expression is not what the judges are looking for. They are most interested in simple, clear expositions that indicate an awareness by the reader of the role of the newspaper in the community.

The award is not open to staff members or regular contributors of The Free Press.

Judges will not look for excessively high praise for the local paper; they will study the judgment and understanding by readers of the function of the weekly.

Entries should first be submitted to The Free Press. Those of sufficiently high standard will be published in the paper, after which the entry will be submitted to the CWNA. Entries must be received by The Free Press by Friday, March 12.

It is expected the winner will be announced some time in May.
