One of the unfortunate products of duplicate bridge is that it leads players to suppress good minor sult contracts.

What's the good of playing an 11 trick club contract for 400 points when you can play a safer nine trick no trump contract and make an overtrick for 430 points? Would you believe that no pair played the following at clubs which is the Ideal contract.

Nassagaweya) group which deputation that although a facgathers re-usable waste in tory in Guelph had paid $50 for a Nassagaweya Township won a reprieve at Monday's meeting of had collected, the private trucker the township council. Councillors who delivered it was forced to promised to engage a private bring back some of the paper trucker and grant him a subsidy of approximately $25 per month, on a three month trial basis, to cart SPIN's waste material away for resale at city depots.

SPIN chairman Mrs. June Andrews of Campbellville led a delegation of about 10 SPIN members to Monday's meeting, to urge council not to cut off promised assistance to the group. Council had earlier promised to help SPIN truck away its waste collections but at the Dec. 15 meeting councillors decided it would cost the township too much to truck the stuff away.

Private trucker

Both councillors and SPIN members emphasized that township trucks should not be used and a private trucker should be engaged. The township had used roads department vehicles for the December collections. A member of SPIN told council the group wanted council to take decided it would pay the cost of management responsibility. "So if a private between the trucker's home and trucker after few months decides he can no longer collect the waste, he will have someone to pass the problem on to. Council could then hire another man". Pay overtime One of the members of the SPIN deputation was puzzled about the reported cost of using township trucks to pick up the waste at SPIN's three depots. It was explained that picking up the garbage on the collection day-Saturday-required the payment of overtime, Reeve Mrs. Anne MacArthur also pointed out that winter road conditions might make the availability of township rescue the project when, after listening to the views of SPIN and council members, mentioned she had found a private trucker who would collect the garbage at SPIN's depots and store it in his barn until he was able to truck it away. She remarked it would cost the man about $100 a month to dispose of the waste, "I'm sure if SPIN were to properly package and label the waste, at least $75 could be recovered." The reeve asked members of council if they were prepared to subsidize the remaining $25 a month to help the private trucker meet his expenses.
