

A new world of education revealed at open house

by Corie Maxwell
A trip through the world of education made travelling pleasant at last Wednesday's Open House at Acton High School.

The evening's activities began in the gymnasium with some younger students from M.Z. Bennett School, singing and skipping around the auditorium. Shelley Roy, who teaches these children under the assistance program at the high school, led them in a few bars of "Jesus Loves the Little Children" followed by "The Candy Man", "I Wanna Live" and finally "Be Kind to Your Web-Footed Friends."

Following this presentation by the Student Assistance Program, Mrs. Skoropad and the girls taking home economics presented a fashion show which featured everything from formals to bikinis. Accompanying this fashion parade were slides and music of different spots around the world where students had travelled.

French revue
The "Revue en Francais" featured a typical French cafe as a setting. Anita Thibodeau, Nancy Abram and Diane Frank accompanied by Noreen Noble on the piano sang "La Vie en Rose", immediately after the cafe's occupants had finished the last chorus of "Mon Pays". But what is a French cafe without the "Can-Can"? The bar girls, Heather Cormack, Cathy Ashley and Corie Maxwell realized that the "Can-Can" could not be passed up, so they proceeded with their own version of this typical French dance.

A French play presented by Robert Ellerby, Brian Samson, Angela Pries and Anne Cavlovic was next on the agenda. Last but not least, was a round of "Aloette", and the gymnasium program came to an end.

German treats
The next stop for most visitors was "The Tyroler Inn"—a German cafe. Here people enjoyed home-made German cakes with punch, accompanied by music and slides.

Room display
In the industrial arts room, wood, electrical, welding and lathe techniques were featured.

There was a 15 minute French lesson in room 24 and the different ethnic cultures of Canada were shown in one of the history rooms. There were displays from the world of business, mathematics projects were shown and the artists in the school had interesting work in the art room. The science section had Science Fair exhibits, plant growth experiments and biology experiments for viewing.

Visitors had discussions with the high school's guidance personnel and our nurse, Mrs. Ginter. In room 22 one could test their reading skills and see a film, "Early Recognition of Learning Disabilities".

Galped bread
Macrame, weaving, spinning, crocheting, rug and quilt making were on display in the home economics room together with some delicious homemade bread, which was gone in a gulp.

Rooms 12 and 13 featured geographical exhibits and a film from the United Kingdom trip, taken by Bob Smith. The new Resource Centre proved to be a real attraction to the public.

Not only was this Open House enjoyed by the visitors, but those people who participated and helped in the different activities enjoyed doing them.

QUILTING in the home economics display at high school open house were grade 11 students Susan Somerville and Trevolyn Patrick. Crafts and fresh bread were the home ec highlights.

SPIRITED CAN Can is danced by three of the participants in the French play at open house. Kicking up their shapely limbs are Heather Cormack, Cathy Ashley and Corie Maxwell.

TWO OF the appealing models in the high school fashion show last Wednesday are Ann Toth and Lee Ward. Clothing made in home ec classes was shown while slides flashed on the screen. (Photos by K. Dills) we're first.

You're looking at the cockpit of a Celica ST. The hot little hardtop from Toyota. The Celica is a car you'll want to drive just for the pure pleasure of it all. And the Celica has it all. Luxurious interior. Full instrumentation. Powerful 2 litre O.I.L.C. engine. In fact once you've seen it you'd expect it to have a long list of costly options. Instead it has a long list of standard equipment including radial tires and an AM/FM radio.

It looks like one of those high performance cars. But it doesn't cost like one. Surprising as it may seem, the Celica ST costs less than $3400. And that's for everything. So it isn't surprising you couldn't guess what it is. Now that you know, drive a Celica ST and really be surprised.
