Helping crippled children hobby

By Doris Fines

The hepatitis problem in this area has been brought under control. Some of the cases have just been mild ones. Those in contact with the disease have received the proper medication, and no new cases have been reported.

Bobo's hobby

Last week Bob Armstrong who lives at Havsumfun Park, R.R. 4, Fergus, presented Kenny McKirick with a walker. This device is three sided and Kenny stands in the open side and walks it ahead of him while holding the sides.

Mr. Armstrong, called Bobo by everyone who knows him, makes a hobby of helping crippled children. He raises money for this by operating a train made from a converted bathtub, with a motor, which pulls little carts of all colors.

He charges ten cents a ride, and this money, plus donations found in his wishing well, and those given to him from clubs and individuals, he uses to buy wheel chairs and walkers.

In the winter he uses snowmobile power for his train. Bobo enjoys helping the crippled children, and Kenny is learning to use his walker.

Visiting through the week with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Howes were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fawcett of Bracebridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Arnott of Barrie.

went up on the week-end to bring them home.

Services resumed again on Sunday morning in Knox Presbyterian Church, with Rev. Donald Herbison back from a month's vacation.

Sympathy extended

By Mrs. Ron McLem
In the absence on holidays of the regular organist, Mrs. J. Kitching, Mrs. W. Early presided at the organ. Sandra Early was soloist, singing "Amazing Grace".

Mr. Finley spoke about the book of Jonah, the Old Testament parable. Jonah was commanded to go to Ninevah, instead he took ship for Spain. The pagan belief was that if you were away from your own territory, your god couldn't bother you. When a storm came up, the sailors decided Jonah was the cause. The sailors used their pagan religion

In the way they knew, Jonah was thrown into the sea and swallowed by a large fish. When Jonah was disgorged on shore, he obeyed God's command to go to Ninevah, hating every step of the way. His sermon gave the people forty days to repent, or they would be destroyed. To his amazement, all the people of Ninevah repented.

The flowers were in memory of the late Norman Marshall, Jr. of Eden Mills. Sympathy is extended to his family in his untimely passing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Blyth are on a trip to Winnipeg and other western points.
